North Central Lines Ordered to Service Outagamie Airport

Viet Nam's Generals on War Footing

Tougher Policy Pledged Toward Hostile Nations

BY EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, (AP) — South Viet Nam's generals formed a 10-member committee today to give the country a "war government."

Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, defense minister in the government of Premier Phan Huy

Thieu

Quat, who resigned Friday, was named chairman of the ruling military committee.

Thieu in effect becomes chief of state, although civilian Phan Khac Suu remains for the time being as caretaker chief of state along with Quat.

The military leaders announced their move over Viet Nam radio and said Thieu and his committee would set up a new government and organizations "along with a war cabinet."

Next Regime

Thieu had said earlier in a radio broadcast that the country's next regime must be a "war government."

He declared:

"This situation cannot drag on indefinitely, otherwise the sacrifices of the military on the front lines would be in vain.

Thieu said eight months of civilian rule had hampered prosecution of the war against the Communists. He called for a sweeping austerity policy to help the war effort.

South Viet Nam will toughen its policies toward hostile nations, Thieu said, and will seek to improve relations with its allies.

New Committee

The new military committee will be responsible for establishing entirely new institutions of

Mrs. Sharon Sites, 34-year-old divorcee, bids farewell to crowds that came down to see her off as she gets ready to cast off on a 2,300 mile trip to Hawaii — all by herself. Sailing to Hawaii

Petite Blonde and Tiny Sloop Out on Big Ocean

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A tiny sloop with a petite blonde as its only crew is somehwere off the Southern California coast, its destination Hawaii — at least 30 days sailing and 2,300 miles away.

Sharon Sites' 25-footer, the Sea Sharp, has no radio. She set sail from a small craft harbor here Saturday and hasn't been reported since small craft escortign her turned back off Catalina Island.

Mrs. Sites, 34, vows she will be the first woman to sail alone to the islands. She'll have to make it by sail alone. Her sloop has an auxiliary engine, but she took no fuel

The sea was choppy and the sky was overcast when she departed.

"Perfect weather for sailing," Mrs. Sites declared as she stowed her only companion — a 4-inch Thailand turtle — below decks.

Mrs. Sites has a year's yachting experience. Her sailing instructor tried in van to talk her out of the trip, which the Coast Guard warned her was "extremely hazardous."

But Mrs. Sites, a divorcee who quit her job as a dental secretary and invested her $9,000 savings in the boat and the trip, would not be dissuaded.

She had aboard enough food for 65 days and water for 90. She expected to reach Hawaii in 30 to 40 days.

Strike by Union Seamen Is Still Possible

Many Liners Are Rescheduling Their Times for Sailing

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal mediators continue efforts today to avert a possible maritime strike Tuesday midnight.

Some shipping lines have been taking precautions against the threatened tieup.

The liner United States, flagship of the United States Lines, has been rescheduled to sail at 11 o'clock tonight instead of noon Tuesday.

Talks between the AFL-CIO Marine Engineers Beneficial Association and the American Merchant Marine Institute, which represents 12 shipping lines, ended Sunday night without agreement on a new contract.

Federal mediator Robert H. Moore said the talks had "not gone well" and that no further talks were scheduled

He said "we're always hopeful" when a newsmen asked about the possibility of a strike.

MEBA President Jese Calhoon said, "We're not optimistic, but we're ready to negotiate up to the deadline."

Calhoon's union, composed of licensed engineer officers, has threatened to strike at midnight Tuesday when its contract with the institute expires.

A strike would affect immediately 187 ships operated by the 12 institute lines. It could spread to ships operated by companies that are not represented by the institute but which traditionally follow the pattern set by its agreements.

MEBA and another AFL-CIO union of officers — the International Organization of Masters, Mates andPilots — have held out against 60-day contract extensions agreed to by four other maritime unions. Each of the officers unions represents about 10,000 men.

Negotiations between the masters' union and the American Maritime Association, which represents a number of shipping lines, resume today.

100 Bodies Are Found By Rangers

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vietnamese rangers combing a rubber plantation just north of the shattered town of Dong Xoai found the bodies of about 100 government troops today, the remains of the 7th Airborne Battalion, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

Dong Xoai was reported quiet but braced for more trouble from the Viet Cong.

As the rangers moved through the French-owned Michelin rubber plantation a few miles north of Dong Xoai they found an assortment of grim relics left behind by the Viet Cong, among them the wreckage of a U.S. Army helicopter and a U.S. Army man's identification tag.

U. S. Troops

U.S. authorities announced "at the request of the Vietnamese government elements of the 173rd U.S. Airborne Brigade have moved to Phuoc Vinh to protect the airfield and aircraft there."

Phuoc Vinh is the main airfield for the Dong Xoai area. The U.S. paratroopers had been expected to move from there into the Dong Xoai conflict but

Mariner 4 Seeks Better Fix on Mars

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The United States' Mars-bound Mariner 4 spacecraft, its electronic eyes primed for the closest look yet at the red planet, prepared today to seek a better fix on its guiding star, Canopus.

At 8:50 a.m. (PDT) today an electronic memory box aboard the 575-pound spacecraft was to issue commands meant to give an improved fix on the star which is guiding Mariner 4 on its 325-million mile journey.

The vehicle was launched last Nov. 28 from Cape Kennedy, Fla., on a mission designed to supply the best pictures yet of Mars.

"All major systems are working fine so far," a spokesman for the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said. "If all goes well, there may be no more scheduled events until the television camera is turned on July 14."

Plans call for Mariner 4 to take up to 21 pictures of Mars from a distance of 6,000 miles.

Discrimination Series Starts In Today's P-C

The federal government's most ambitious effort to end job discrimination goes into effect July 2.

Just what the complex and far-reaching "equal employment opportunity section of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 means will be explained in a four-part series starting today in The Post-Crescent.

The series by Associated Press writers Neil Gilbride and Raymond Crowley will explain the prohibition against discrimination by workers, employers, employment agencies and labor unions on the basis of "race, color, religion, sex or national origin."

The first story appears today on page A-11.

First Major Legal Victory For County as CAB Denies Petition to Suspend Flights

Outagamie County has won its first major victory in its long-drawn legal fight with the Civil Aeronautics Board and North Central Airlines over commercial air service for the Fox Cities.

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) today denied a petition by North Central for permission to temporarily suspend service to Appleton.

The board told the airline that when Outagamie County closes its old airport in the Town of Grand Chute, the airline must provide service at the new county airport west of Appleton in the Town of Greenville.

County Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer of Kimberly said this morning that the CAB's decision means North Central planes will have to begin serving the new airport Thursday morning.

"We told North Central," Fulcer said, "that we would give them 48 hours to make the transfer after we get a final decision. We got that decision today and since our original plans were to close the airport at 6 p.m. tonight, that means we will give North Central until 6 p.m. Wednesday to make the move."

Today's announcement by the CAB is the final chapter to this phase of a series of legal maneuvers dating back to January.

O. D. Ozment, the CAB's chief legal counsel, told The Post-Crescent the board decision means that "because of the ruling by the court (the 7th District U.S. Court of Appeals in Chicago) there's no point in arguing about it anymore. The board took its position and the

Neenah Man Dies Of Crash Injuries

Dennis Pitsch Hurt in Calumet Mishap; 13 Dead on State Roads

The death Sunday of a Neenah man of injuries suffered in a Calumet County crash May 23 and a rash of multiple fatal accidents brought the state's weekend highway toll to 13 and the toll for the year to 374 compared with 426 a year ago.

Dennis Pitsch, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Pitsch, died at 1:25 p.m. at St. Elizabeth Hospital where he had been a patient and in critical condition since the accident in which he suffered severe brain injuries.

Pitsch was thrown from the car he was driving when it sideswiped with one driven by Bruce Schoen, route 1, Menasha, at the intersection of State 114 and 55 a mile west of Sherwood.

After the impact, the Pitsch car shot off the road, struck a utility pole while the vehicle was standing on end, flipped over into a ditch, knocked down a fence and landed in a field, state police said.

Brain Injury

Death was caused by complications to the brain injury, Calumet County Coroner Leroy Hughes said. An autopsy was performed and the investigation is continuing, Hughes said.

An employe of the John Strange Carton Co., Pitsch is survived by the widow, a son, his parents, two brothers, six sisters.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church with burial in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Kessler Funeral Home after 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Fiery Crash

Elsewhere in the state a fiery crash in Pierce County took four lives and accidents in Kewaunee and Chippewa counties resulted in two deaths each

A head-on collision of two cars on Highway 29 three miles west of Kewaunee Sunday night resulted in the death of Nancy Johnson, 16, of Green Bay and John LaCrosse, 18, of rural Casco. They were tossed out of a car driven by Kenneth Kline of rural Manitowoc in a collision with an auto driven by Glen Gasche of rural Luxemburg.

President Is Back at Desk

Much Activity While Johnson At Texas Ranch

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson was back at his desk today after a weekend of relaxation at his Texas ranch.

There were no appointments on his calendar but during the day he was expected to look in on the White House Festival of Arts.

During the weekend, the President:

— Nominated Texas banker-attorney Edward A. Clark, a longtime personal and political friend, as ambassador to Australia. The post has been vacant since Willim C. Battle of Charlottesville, Va., resigned in late 1964.

Clark, 58, once was Texas secretary of state and has been active in politics since 1928.

He helped in the 1948 court battle stemming from Johnson's 87- vote senate victory over former Gov. Coke Stevenson. He also went to court in 1960 to guarantee Johnson's right to run for the Senate and the vice presidency at the same time.

— Signed a bill authorizing military appropriations of $15.4 billion.

The measure includes $5.8 billion for aircraft, $1.4 billion for missiles, $1.7 for naval vessels and $6.4 billion for research, development, tests and evaluation.

— Appointed 12 public members to the Consumer Advisory Council and picked Dr. Richard H. Holton, former assistant secretary of commerce and now a University of California professor, as chairman — Released an Internal Revenue Service report which showed "a complete reversal of the traditional trend of mathe-

Power Shovel Cuts Pipe

Gas Line Explodes; Workman Burned

A power shovel operator was hospitalized and two workmen narrowly escaped injury when flames leaped from a pit they were working in at Bennett and Elsie streets about 10 a.m. today. Authorities said the flames were fed by escaping natural gas from a severed natural gas pipe under the intersection

Injured was shovel operator John Cooper, 71, of New London. He was admitted to Appleton Memorial Hospital for treatment of burns to his arms

Authorities said the bucket of the shovel apparently slammed into an eight foot deep pit and apparently severed the natural gas pipe. Escaping gas shot into the sky, ignited and burned for almost 30 minutes before the gas was shut down.

Cooper and two other men, Donald Stueck, 43, and Creade Stueck, 29, both of Shawano, are employes of the Central Contracting firm of Oshkosh. The Stuecks were working on the 30 inch storm sewer pipe at the bottom of the pit only 20 feet from where the explosion occurred. Both men scrambled out of the pit without injuries.

'Struck Water'

Creade Stueck said he thought the shovel operator has "struck water" from the sound made by the escaping gas. He turned to see the flames shoot up, and climbed out of the pit with his brother.

The explosion, which one witness said "shook the ground" was one block north on Bennett Street where a similar explosion occurred one month ago in which two Appleton firemen were injured.

Flames today shot 25 feet into the sky, damaging power lines and burning two telephone poles and a street light. Lawns and shrubs were singed and burned, and homes in the area were evacuated by police.

The explosion occurred only a few feet from the Washington School playground where about 12 children were playing on the swings and in the sand boxes.

Children Watch

Two youths, Jeffery Simon, 11, 817 W. Lorain St., and John Herzfeldt, 10, 1224 W. Elsie St., were standing at the intersection, they said, watching the workmen, when the gas "suddenly came up." The youths ran from the intersection and were about 15 feet away when the gas ignited and flames shot skyward.

Witnesses said Cooper, who was in the shovel cab, jumped from his position when the flames ignited, but then return-

Trip to Moon Only Start, Von Braun Tells Graduates

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dr. Wernher von Braun said today that manned flight to the moon, planned for this decade, will be only a step in deeper probes into space.

"It will only be the beginning, the first hesitant step away from the near-earth environment," said Von Braun, director of the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala.

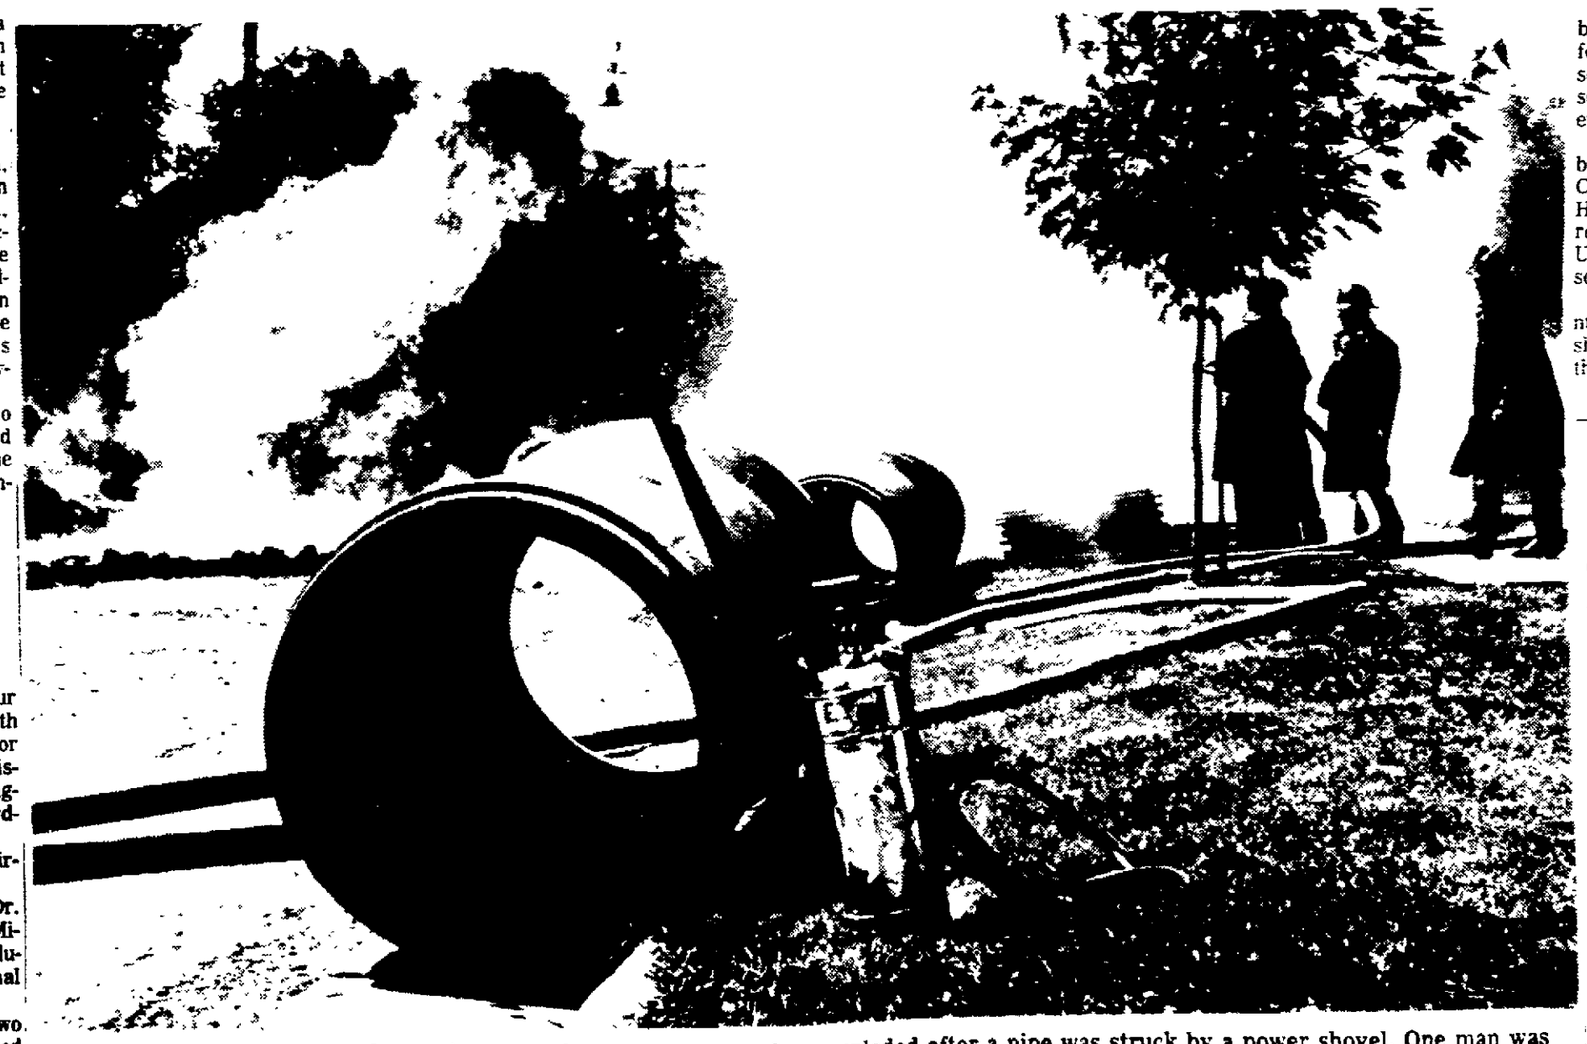

Cuban Exiles Go on Hunger Strike in Jail

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Four Cuban exiles charged with trying to export munitions for use against Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro went on a hunger strike Sunday night, according to a Florida Cuban group.

There was no official confirmation.

Among the prisoners was Dr. Orlando Bosch, head of the Miami-based anti-Castro Revolutinnary Recovery Insurrectional Movement.

The four Cubans and two Americans were arrested Thursday night near Orlando. Federal agents said they had 18 bombs.

Flames Shoot Skyward fed by seeping natural gas at Bennett and Elsie streets in Appleton today. Firemen use water to contain the flames and prevent them from spreading to houses nearby. The gas exploded after a pipe was struck by a power shovel. One man was hospitalized and two workmen in a pit laying storm sewer pipe 20 feet from the flames escaped without injury. Three Honorary Degrees were conferred during Lawrence University's 116th commencement exercises Sunday afternoon in the Memorial Chapel. W. Irving Osborne Jr., president of Pullman, Inc., left, received a Doctor of Laws degree; S.Bradley Burson, physicist with the Argonne National Laboratory, a Doctor of Science degree, and the Rev. J. Ellsworth Kalas of the First Methodist Church, Madison, a Doctor of Divinity degree.

Honorary Degrees Given at Lawrence

Honorary Doctorates in Science, Laws, Divinity Presented Sunday

Academic hoods lined in Lawrence University's official colors, blue and white, were slipped over the heads of three distinguished guests in the traditional honorary degree ceremonies at commencement Sunday.

Honored were S. Bradley Burson, a nuclear physicist from the Argonne National Laboratory, Lamont, Ill., who received the doctor of science degree; J. Ellsworth Kalas, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Madison, the doctor of divinity; and W. Irving Osborne, president of Pullman, Inc., Chicago, Ill., the doctor of laws.

Burson was introduced by Dr. W. Paul Gilbert, who holds the Philetus Sawyer chair in physics at Lawrence. President Curtis W. Tarr's citation read:

'Eminent Contributor'

"As a physicist on the staff of Argonne National Laboratory, you have been an eminent contributor to the field of nuclear spectroscopy. Today, we also wish to recognize your unique contribution to the students of Lawrence and her sister colleges in the conduct of the ACM Argonne Program. Under this program, some of our best students of the sciences have been privileged to work under your direction, taking part in the research program of one of our leading scientific institutions. Throughout the history of science, many of the most successful scientists have started their careers by serving an apprenticeship under inspiring master scientists. Similarly, you have inspired the Lawrence students who have worked with you. For your eminence as a physicist, for your willingness to cooperate in the Argonne Program, for your effectiveness in guiding the students who have worked with you, we honor you on this occasion."

Rev. Kalas was presented for the honorary doctor of divinity degree by Bishop Ralph T. Alton, Madison, a trustee of Lawrence University. President Tarr's citation was:

President's Citation

"As pastor and teacher, you represent a calling which our time finds it hard to apprehend in its wholeness. You are called to be a scholar and a man of action, able to move multitudes and to comfort a sorrowing individual; sensitive to the breath of the Spirit and a good administrator. Indeed, you must be 'all things to all men,' and still be a leader of integrity.

"You have already demonstrated many signs of being able to fulfill in yourself these many old expectations. By refusing to separate the appeal to the 'head' and the appeal to the 'heart,' you have sought to bring to bear the discipline of intellect upon the motive force of conscience aroused and made sensitive. You have ever worked for a religious faith which expresses itself in concrete personal and social concern, yet you have proved a thoughtful advocate of a faith which transcends any simple pragmatic test. You have shown through genuine curiosity, diligent inquiry and disciplined proclamation the union of spiritual, intellectual, moral and aesthetic dimensions demanded of one who follows the high calling of proclaimer of the divine Word."

Osborne was presented by Lawrence Trustee Ernst Manler for the following presidential citation:

'Age Of Specialization'

"In this age of specialization and tremendous enterprise, we are inclined to measure our efforts through statistical devices, applied to rather arbitrary classifications. We often refer, for example, to the 'worlds' of education and science and industry as if they were separate activities with a certain amount of interdependence but with quite different goals and motivations.

"These several activities continuously are searching for a better expression of individual capacities and understanding. In this light, modern industry is the meeting ground for the separate worlds of education and science, and, above all, it is a very genuine venture in self-renewal and sensitive response to a changing society.

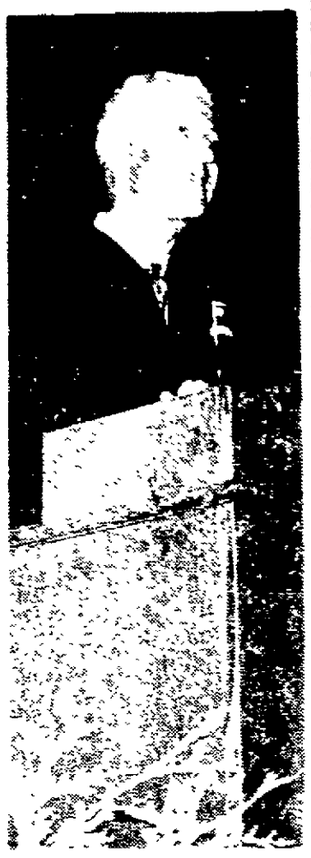

"You have developed a remarkable understanding of this broad perspective. For many years you were a leader within the pulp and paper industry, and for several years you were a trustee and Chairman of the Board of our sister institution, The Institute of Paper Chemistry. Now, you are the head of a corporation with international commitments."

Knowles Says Education Key To 'Social-Economic Growth'

Points to Value of Public, Private Schools in Educational Picture

The Honorable Warren P. Knowles, governor of Wisconsin, delivered the commencement address at Lawrence University's 116th ceremony on Sunday. It was the first commencement in more than sixty years, however, in which the institution was known as a university, a name it resumed last July upon merging with Milwaukee-Downer College.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles, speaking Sunday at Lawrence University's 116th commencement exercises, expressed "great concern" over the "lag by government in interpreting the will of the people" of the state. He cited higher education — public and private — as an area where citizens have clearly expressed their will, and he called for legislators to heed such sentiment in "an opportunity to move our state forward in a significant direction."

Baccalaureate Sermon

The governor's address was presented in the afternoon to an audience of 1250 in Memorial Chapel, and to 500 closed-circuit television viewers in Harper Hall and Stansbury Theatre.

The Rev. J. Ellsworth Kalas, minister of the First Methodist Church, Madison, gave a morning baccalaureate sermon before a similar audience.

Knowles pointed to the value of both public and private colleges in the state's total education picture. He called education "the cornerstone of our social-economic growth," and said "it must never become the subject of partisan political concern."

Although citizens have spoken clearly in the interests of such things as higher education, government frequently has failed to respond. "This lag by government in interpreting the will of the people is of great concern to me," Knowles said.

"The current dispute over budget and taxes in the legislature is symptomatic of our problem. The legislators who while away their time in fruitless debate over meaningless items are misinterpreting the will of the people. This will and mood has been plainly evidenced by the people on a bipartisan basis. The hair-splitting arguments about kinds of taxes and degrees of effect are no longer of interest or concern.

"The people understand — far better than some legislators — that there is a price tag on every single item, whether it be governmental or private. They know, without hearing it week in and week out, that they will bear the burden of that price. And they have indicated, at every opportunity, a willingness to bear those costs when the result is in the interest of good government and sound progress."

'Great Private College'

In the case of education, Knowles observed the willingness of parents and friends of Lawrentians not only to support public education, but to also take advantage of "the great opportunities afforded by this great private college." This willingness has been for many years a dominant characteristic of Wisconsin people, he added.

Knowles charged the graduates that today, as they stand on the verge of another opportunity to move forward, they resolve to demonstrate to the world the worth of an educated body such as theirs.

Kalas, a former Green Bay minister, quoted the ancient warning of Deuteronomy 17:16: "The King shall not multiply horses for himself."

'Generation Of Kings'

He saw our times as "a generation of kings" in which it is man's task to live with the tremendous horsepower he has unleashed. In likening modern man to the ancient king, he asked: "What shall we do with so many horses as exist in this mighty land?"

The answer is to learn and in learning, to obtain humility. The very act of enrollment in such an institution of liberal arts study is "a great act of humility."

There is also the answer of love and mercy, which tells where power ultimately resides, that by careful contemplation of the length of the pendulum of time, man may learn to keep his skills and powers in proper perspective.

Kalas urged that the graduates have "more than transitory goals within their reach, but not yet within their grasp." He suggested that those with power become obliged to use it for others, for "I tell you that even God would not be worth much if he had not given His Son and showered upon man other acts of love and mercy."

Lawrence University's Commencement Marks Significant Number of 'Firsts'

Largest Graduating Class Get Diplomas Marked 'University'

By MARGUERITE SCHUMANN
Of Lawrence University

Lawrence University's 116th commencement — a number without any anniversary distinction — marked up a significant number of firsts.

It was the largest class in the history of the institution thus far, with 275 baccalaureate degrees, and 22 advanced degrees from he Institute of Paper Chemistry.

It was the first graduation in more than 60 years in which the diplomas were marked university instead of college.

It was the first senior class to take comprehensive examinations in their major fields as a requirement for graduation.

Organ Re-dedicated

It was the first commencement in the new air-conditioned surroundings of remodeled Memorial Chapel, and the building's new equipment was put to high festival use. The carillon was played before and after the baccalaureate and commencement services, and in the morning the new organ was rededicated to the memory of Dr. Samuel Plantz, president of Lawrence College from 1894 to 1924. More than 40 years after his death, Dr. Plantz's benign shadow fell once more across the campus, as the flowers from the service were carried to his grave in Riverside Cemetery, and his favorite passage of Scripture was read by his presidential successor.

Technology appeared at commencement in dramatic form. With the large graduating class, Memorial Chapel was unable to accommodate the full complement of relatives and friends, and so closed circuit television brought the ceremony to the Music-Drama Center across the road.

Saturday was alumni day, and they came from all quarters of the United States — one even from Valhalla (New York state, not nether world — to thump each other's backs joyfully under the campus trees. There were more than 650 at the alumni luncheon, and 125 at the first reunion of the Milwaukee-Downer Alumnae Association held on the Lawrence campus.

Class of 1940

The class of 1940, more than a hundred strong if you count wives and descendants, made a triumphal entrance at the luncheon behind a be-sashed band led by Lt. Col. Richard Fink, Fort Monroe, Va., who chose an old Lawrence band cape as his mufti for the day. They marched with a banner proclaiming "back alive in '65."

Among the reuners were two from the 50 year class who have received honorary degrees from their alma mater, and two who have received decorations from foreign governments.

Everett Bauman, '33, who traveled 10,000 miles from Manila to receive an Alumni Distinguished Service Award, has been given the Order of Francisco de Miranda by the Venezuelan government; while Caroline Peckham Iglehart, '15, who became an honorary citizen of Nagasaki and received the Fourth Order of the Sacred Crown, highest award given by the Emperor of Japan to a woman.

Her husband, the Rev. Charles Iglehart, long-time missionary to Japan, was full of tales of keeping fit "in a world where nobody walks anymore." Several years ago, at age 78, he was invited to accompany some college youths on a 350-mile hike from Kyoto to Tokyo, along the histroic Tokkaido road. To get in shape, he essayed a 24-hour walk, stopping only to drink a little milk or eat a raw egg, and covered 70 miles in the allotted day. It took them eleven days to cover the Koyoto-Tokyo course. "Of course, anyone can walk 30 miles in a day, but to keep that up day after day takes some doing," the lively minister remarked.

Fame of '65 Class

The class of 1965 has several claims to fame beyond that of sheer numbers.

First, it is the most cosmopolitan class ever to graduate from Lawrence. It comes from 25 states, including Hawaii, and eight foreign countries — Australia, Canada, Colombia, England, France, Japan, Nigeria and Southern Rhodesia. Proud parents flew in from Hawaii, Canada, Colombia, England and Japan for the graduation.

Foreign students on American campuses are no longer a rarity, but the program to educate leaders for developing African nations are still new. James Ajone of Kano, Nigeria, received his degree under the African Scholarship Program of American Universities, while Naboth Mbawa, Umtali, Southern Rhodesia, was supported by the Methodist Board of Missions and the local Methodist church. When a dental school to which Mbawa has been accepted for next year required him to demonstrate his manual dexterity, an Appleton dentist opened his laboratory so the youth could carve a few sample wax teeth.

Foreign Study

Fifteen of the class, with less exotic home addresses, have enriched their undergraduate careers with foreign study, either the classic junior year abroad, or special summer courses. Two went to India and learned to speak Hindi and Telegu, seven went to France, two to England, and one each traveled to Peru, Germany, Austria and Norway. The allure of foreign study, in fact, prevented three of the class from getting their diplomas in absentia, for their grades didn't arrive from Spain and Costa Rica in time to be considered.

While the role of the wandering scholar has been a pleasant one for most participants, there were others in the class whose lives in Europe were quite different, caught up in the chaos of World War II. A mature woman in the class, who earlier graduated from the University of Vienna, spent years in a concentration camp, a younger classmate as a baby became a displaced person.

Second, the class of 1965 is distinguished both for its propensity for protest and for its idealism. It is the class that popularized the beard, the poncho and the guitar at Lawrence. Its members included a summer worker in a Mississippi Freedom School, many collectors of protest signatures on civil rights petitions, as well as doughty critics of official university policies, both major and minor. Eleven of the class will train for the Peace Corps; three will go to Turkey, others to Colombia, Sierra Leone, India, Tunisia, Thailand, Ecuador, the Dominican Republic and the Ivory Coast.

Unusual Experiences

Third, the swift pace of the twentieth century generally and a Lawrence University in transition specifically have occasioned some unusual experiences in living during this period of alleged isolation in academe. Four of the class—the famous College Bowl team—logged about 8,000 travel miles during their senior year to appear on television before seven million viewers each week. The student president took a fall weekend away from the campus to meet the President of the United States at a White House party. Others of the class have learned to fly airplanes, to run computers, and to speak Russian. One came to college after a career as a child actor in Hollywood; another wore the crown of Miss Appleton.

Lawrence University in transition was dramatically demonstrated by the thirty women in the class who had begun their college careers at Milwaukee-Downer, but who completed them in what must have seemed a strange sort of exile at Downer College of Lawrence University. To accommodate the curriculum of these coeds, Lawrence re-activated the bachelor of science degree which had last been given in 1952, and three new fields of study appeared among the graduates—elementary education, home economics and occupational therapy.

Fellowships

Fourth, the class of 1965 holds the new championship in winning fellowships for graduate study. More than 45 have already been notified of awards, among them two Fulbrights, six Woodrow Wilsons, three National Defense Education Act, one National Science Foundation, one Social Science Foundation, and one Mellon award.

History is the largest single major field in the class with 34, followed by English 33, psychology 23, music 21 and government 16.

Commencement, always a time for high sentiment, was particularly so for four in the class with long Lawrence lineages. Both parents and one set of grandparents of Michael O'Neil, Wauwatosa, are Lawrentians, as are the parents of Donald Schalk, Clarkson, Ontario, John Thomas, Clintonville, and John Bertram, Menasha. This time each June will have special significance for three Lawrence couples, who were wed in pre or post-commencement ceremonies in Appleton, while another pair celebrated their first anniversary on commencement day.

Unique Wedding

One pair of seniors who were wed in the Memorial Presbyterian Church early Saturday afternoon had the unique experience of arbitrating the hour of their marriage with Mayor Clarence Mitchell. His Honor thought it wise not to run a reviewing stand on the same corner at the same time.

Graduation honors at Lawrence can be earned either by the traditional process of cumulative grade point, called "honors in course", or by the writing and orally defending an independent honors thesis called "departmental honors." A total of 52 students were cited for honors in course, while 32 won honors for departmental projects.

The standing ovation for summa cum laude graduates went to six students — Nicholas Vogel, Fargo, N.D., whose grade point was highest in the class, and consequently was named for the Lewis prize, and these for departmental honors — Corry Azzi, Westchester, Ill.; Charles Bennison Jr., Kalamazoo, Mich.; Byron Nordstrom, Minneapolis, Minn.; Richard Rapport, Ft. Flint, Mich.; and Carolyn Stickney, Rochester, Minn.

Magna Cum Laude

The magna cum laude honor was won by seven seniors in course and 10 in departmental honors. Magna cum laude for their grade point were: Carol Bellinghausen, 225 N. Seventeen students received cum laude for departmental work, while among the 44 earning the honor for overall grade average were David Foxgrover, Kaukauna, Elliott Bush, Oshkosh, Mrs. Clyde Rusk, 119 S. Meade St.; Janice Reinke, Seymour; and Mrs. Gertrude Brown, 609 N. Lawe St.

Three students were chosen to membership in Phi Beta Kappa at a special election on Friday, joining 13 of their classmates who achieved the honor earlier in the year. They were Penelope Davis, Rockford, Ill., Byron Nordstrom, Minneapolis, Minn., and Maryann Pepin, Menasha.

Commissioning

Commissioned second lieutenants in the United States Air Force Reserve were Robert Leadbitter, Andover, Mass., who was named a Distinguished Military Graduate, G. Jeffrey Cook, Schenectady, N. Y.; Donald Gurney, Glenn Ellyn, Ill.; James Lynum, Minneapolis, Minn.; Timothy Noble, New Canaan, Conn.; and Steven Wickland, Lantana, Fla. John Harwood, Webster Groves, Mo., received a Marine Reserve Commission. The commissioning ceremony was the last official act of Lt. Col. Carroll M. Newstrom, who has been professor of aerospace studies for the past five years. He has been reassigned to the Pentagon, and will be succeeded by Major Leigh Gisvold, who has been on the Lawrence staff for two years.

During the commencement ceremony, the Uhrig award for excellent teaching was made to Dr. Merton M. Sealts, professor of English and internationally known Melville scholar, who will join the University of Wisconsin faculty in the fall. The class of 1965 also made public announcement of the commissioning of a piece of sculpture to be done by Lawrence artist Collan Kneale, for the lobby of Youngchild Hall of Science. The class has also established an endowed scholarship fund.

Waupaca County Reapportionment Study Continues

WAUPACA — The Waupaca County reapportionment committee, formed to reduce the size of the board of supervisors, will continue its work tonight.

Members previously worked out a preliminary plan which would reduce the number of supervisors to 31, the maximum allowed for the county. At the present time there are 52 supervisors.

Reapportionment work must be completed and adopted by November.

Hilbert Couple Hurt in Crash

CHILTON — Mr. and Mrs. George Redig, route 1, Hilbert suffered facial cuts and bruises when the car Redig was driving left County Trunk Y four miles northeast of here at 11:45 a.m. Saturday.

According to Calumet County police, the south bound car ran off the right side of the road and rammed a field entrance culvert.

The Redigs were treated at Calumet Memorial Hospital. The car was demolished.

Milwaukee Women Arrested Today in Bus Demonstration

MILWAUKEE (AP) —Two Milwaukee women were arrested today when they sat down in front of a school bus at the Twenty-First Street School.

The two were among 39 pickets who marched at the school as part of a continuing protest by the Milwaukee United School Integration Committee. The group opposes the Milwaukee school board's policy of keeping children from Negro area schools in separate classes when they are temporarily transported to schools in white neighborhoods.

The two, who had to be lifted into a police van, were Miss Ann Baar, 21 and Mrs. Dorothy Huley, 26.

Two Hundred Seventy Five bachelor's degrees were awarded at the Lawrence University commencement exercises on Sunday, and 22 advanced degrees were given from the Institute of Paper Chemistry. Among the graduates was Mrs. Gertrude Brown, 609 N. Lawe St., who received her B. A. with honors. She is shown receiving her diploma from the hand of President Curtis W. Tarr.

Man-Made Lake to be Ready Soon

Progress on the Outagamie County Conservation Club's man-made lake has been termed excellent.

Floats and line to mark water depths, wading and swimming areas have been purchased. The water has cleared up and swimming will start as soon as the weather permits. Swimming will be permitted only under club supervision.

A grass mower and plow have been purchased for use on the club grounds and pheasant pens.

Serious consideration is being given to publish a bulletin carrying information on hunting and fishing in the county.

Another proposed project is lighting the trap shooting range as well as the swimming area. Trap shooting teams are being organized.

Mayor Speaks On Appleton At Boys State

Mayor Clarence Mitchell turned professor today.

He lectured on the Ripon College campus about a $10 million a year business — Appleton city government.

Mitchell spoke to youthful delegates attending the annual Badger Boys State sponsored by the American Legion.

He told of "occupational hazards" involved in politics and being chief executive of a community with a better than 50,000 population.

Mitchell also explained the complexities of modern day government, and advised the youths of the problems and personal satisfaction connected with being mayor of a growing city.

Back Wednesday

He has been a guest speaker at Boys State the past six years.

When leaving for Ripon this morning, Mitchell said he would not be back in his office until Wednesday. He is scheduled to appear before a legislative committee in Madison Tuesday to testify on a bill.

Because of a full schedule Wednesday, including a common council meeting at night, Mitchell said he would be unable to attend the annual "Employers Day" program conducted by the 32nd Wisconsin National Guard division at Camp McCoy.

City officials and major employers of guardsmen in this area have been invited.

Employment Opportunity Provisions Far-Reaching

Most in Nation to be Affected By Act Going Into Effect July 2

BY NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sweeping new federal law designed to eliminate racial discrimination on the job begins going into effect July 2, and eventually will cover most of the nation's employers, labor unions and employment agencies.

Many government lawyers call it one of the most far-reaching laws ever enacted by Congress.

It is the equal employment opportunity section—Title VII—of the 1964 Civil Rights Act. It forbids employment discrimination based on "race, color, religion, sex, or national origin."

First of a Series

Who is subject to the law?

In the first year, employers with 100 or more workers are covered. The figure drops to 75 in the second year, 50 in the third and finally to 25 in 1968.

The same formula applies to labor organizations with more than 100; then 75, then 50 and finally 25 members.

Employment Agencies

Employment agencies are covered regardless of size.

The law applies to any employer, union or employment agency "engaged in an industry affecting commerce."

Under Supreme Court decisions this means very broad coverage.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Norbert A. Schlei says, "There are no limits to the law flowing out of the interstate commerce concept."

Is anyone exempt from the law?

The biggest exemption under employers is the U.S. government, but the law says "it shall be the policy of the United States to insure equal employment opportunities for federal employes without discrimination."

State governments and their political subdivisions also are exempt.

So are Indian tribes and "bona fide" private membership clubs.

What constitutes discrimination under the law?

Generally, any action based on five points—race, color, religion, sex or national origin—that hurts an individual in his job, his attempt to get a job, his pay, working conditions, or privileges of employment.

An employer would violate the law if he fired or refused to hire; discriminated in pay, working conditions or job privileges; or segregated, limited or classified employes, on the basis of any of the five points.

A labor union would break the law if it barred membership, expelled a member, segregated its members, refused to refer an individual for a job, or caused an employer to discriminate, on the basis of any of the five points.

An employment agency would violate the law if it failed or refused to refer an individual for a job, or discrimination in any other way, on the basis of any of the five points.

It also is illegal for any employer, labor organization or employment agency to publish any job advertisement that indicates preference based on race, color, religion, sex or national origin. Government lawyers say a newspaper which printed such an advertisement would not be held responsible.

There are a few exceptions to the ban on discrimination.

It is not unlawful to hire on the basis of religion, sex or national origin if they are a "bona fide" qualificaton for the job.

Some lawyers think it would be all right for a French restaurant to advertise for a French cook. Others are not so sure. They believe it would be safer to advertise for "a cook skilled in French cuisine."

A woman's clothing store obviously could hire a woman to help fit customers without running into trouble on the sex provision.

Religious Group

Educational institutions are exempt in employment connected with their educational activities. Religious groups can hire members of their particular faith without violating the law.

But it is important to note that these exceptions apply only to religion, sex or national origin and not to race or color.

The law also specifically exempts the hiring of Indians on or near a federal Indian reservation.

The protection for Indians follows general congressional policy of trying to help reservation Indians, who are wards of the federal governments.

The law also sanctions job promotion based on a seniority or merit system, or hiring on the basis of an ability test, provided they are not used to mask discrimination. It also preserves veterans preference rights.

No Practical Meaning

All these, however, have no practical meaning since promotion under a merit system, or hiring on the basis of a test, are not based on discrimination.

"They were designed to knock down particular fears," Schlei says.

What are the penalties for violation of the law?

If conciliation fails, a complainant can file a civil suit in any federal court. The court can issue an injunction against any discriminatory practice, and can order the hiring or reinstatement of an individual with or without back pay.

The court can provide an attorney for the complainant and free him of all court costs.

Violation of a court order could, as in other cases, bring a contempt of court fine or jail sentence.

The law also provides a $100 fine for any employer, labor union or employment agency that "wilfully" refuses to post in a conspicuous place a summary of the law to be prepared by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Criminal penalties up to $10,000 fine or 10 years in prison are provided for forcibly resisting the commssion or any of its agents.

Prohibition Gangster's Death Ends Era for Truce Town

BY BILL SIMMONS

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The death of Owney Madden, one of the last of the prohibition days racketeers, ended an era in this little hill country resort.

It was a period that saw the big names of gangsterdom gather here to talk business or relax — without their guns.

Hot Springs was a truce town, an "open city" to the generation of tough operators who moved to the top in beer and rackets during prohibition and later days.

Madden, who was one of them, died here April 24. He was buried here, where he had lived for 30 years in quiet retirement after two decades of violence in New York and New Jersey.

In making Hot Springs his permanent residence Madden differed from the others.

But underworld figures have always had a home near the warm, bubbling mineral springs of this city of 27,000, nestled in the foothills of the Ouachita Mountains.

During the reign of the city's most colorful politician, Mayor Lee P. McLaughlin, Hot Springs was declared sanctuary for opposing forces in the underworld. Local officials and the kingpins of crime agreed that Hot Springs would be a "no guns" land. The mobsters abided by the understanding.

The big names in national crime came here, bathed in the hot springs, fished on a 100-mile chain of lakes, relaxed in the mountain air and sunshine, or gambled in the plush casinos — which operated openly and flourished for a century although they were, and still are, illegal under Arkansas law.

Deposit Guns

In Hot Springs, those who did not put their guns away when they came to town were ushered out by local authorities.

State and federal law enforcement officials did not observe the sanctuary "understanding."

It was here, in the middle 1930s, that:

— Alfred Lamb, wanted for three bank robberies and murder, was machine-gunned to death in a cabin in which he had taken refuge.

— Lucky Luciano was arrested by FBI agents on a New York state indictment that he masterminded a prostitution ring with an annual income of $10 million.

— Federal agents got on the trail of Alvin Karpis, Public Enemy No. 1, who was subsequently captured in New Orleans.

The late Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, when chairman of the Senate rackets investigating subcommittee, called Hot Springs the rendezvous of the racketeers, where deals were made, territory divided, plans laid.

Hot Springs advertised itself as the spot where the "world bathes and plays" and its economy catered to the bathers and the gamblers.

Studies of early Arkansas say the Indians considered the hot springs godly gifts. They refused to wage tribal wars in the area and unfriendly tribes sometimes shared the waters peacefully.

Not since the mid-1950s has a gangster's presence in Hot Springs been widely known. Most of those who came to Hot Springs — for whatever their purpose — are dead.

North Counties Want Site of Juvenile Prison

Correction Section Indicates Location in Central State Area

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Strong pressures are being developed in northern and northwestern Wisconsin communities desiring the location in their neighborhood of a big new state corrections institution for male juvenile delinquents expected to be authorized by the legislature in the biennial institution building program.

The state department of public welfare has not yet made any decisions about a precise location, says Director Wilbur Schmidt, but it will probably put the new $5 million facility somewhere in "north central Wisconsin."

That would probably exclude a location in the vicinity of Eau Claire, as desired by some of the political leaders of that district, or in a far northern county of the state, as suggested by some upper Wisconsin members of the legislature.

Line Drawn

But Schmidt said that a pending legislative bill, sponsored by a group of upper Wisconsin senators and assemblymen, and calling for a location north of a line drawn from LaCrosse to Manitowoc would not be unduly restrictive. His department's preliminary planning about a suitable location has not taken into account any sites south of that line, he commented.

Normally site locations are chosen by the state building commission, with the advice of the administrative agency involved, and that course is likely to be followed in locating the new corrections institution.

The two existing facilities with a capacity of about 650 are in eastern Wisconsin, near Plymouth, and at Wales, in Waukesha County. There is a work camp for young delinquents near Black River Falls with a population of about 50.

The northern location would be chosen for the transportation convenience of parents and visitors from those upper Wisconsin counties which are now remote from the existing facilities. The new institution would have a capacity of about 200 boys, which would be occupied within a comparatively short time, according to the overload figures reported by the present institutions and the projections of populations by department statisticians for the next decade.

Your Problems

Woman Calls Mate's Snoring Sweetest Sound She Knows

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was upset by the letter from the woman who wanted to tie her husband's jaws together with a silk stocking to keep him from snoring.

Some women may think I'm nutty as a fruitcake but the sound of my husband snoring is the sweetest sound I know. It tells me that he is at my side—where he belongs.

Not only do I enjoy hearing him snore, but I love to look at his face when he is asleep. He looks so much like our son when he was a baby. There is a quality of innocence in his face that reduces me to mush. His hair is mussed up, like a little boy's, and his lips have a mischievous curve.

My husband has no idea I like to watch him sleep so please don't print my initials or the name of this city. Just sign me, Mrs. Contented

Dear Mrs.: You sound like a lady in love. How lovely—for both of you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I was 17 I fell for a handsome guy who played drums in a well-known band. I was stubborn, foolish and full of romantic fantasies.

When I became pregnant I was glad because I thought sure Ed would marry me. I was wrong. He said if I tried to force a marriage he'd swear the baby wasn't his and get two of his buddies to testify in court that his story could be true.

A friend of my older brother

heard of my trouble and asked me to marry him. He said he had always been in love with me and wanted to take care of me and the child. I agreed.

It is not true that you can't learn to love a person. I learned to love my husband and I'd put our marriage up against anyone's. Ed's child is now four years old. And I now have a little girl.

The drummer boy called yesterday from Detroit. He is playing a job here next week and wants to see me and "his son." He says he has never been able to forget me and now he wants to patch things up. When I told him "No", he said he has legal rights. Does he? I am so confused and frightened I don't know what to do. He is calling again next week. Please give me some advice.—Bad Past

Dear Past: The drummer boy has no legal rights. When he calls again tell him to take his drum and beat it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I want you to know before you read this letter that I am no kid. I'm a married woman. My friends tell me I am behaving like a 6-year-old. Am I?

My little dog was very dear to me. I thought more of Poke than I do of most of my friends.

Last week Poke became ill. I was in bed with the flu and could not take him to the vet, so I asked my sister to take him. Poke died on the way to the hospital.

I was so attached to Poke I can't stop thinking about him. I find myself getting his food and listening for his scratching at the door. My friends have told me to get another dog. I'm afraid I couldn't bear to go through this agony again. What do you say?—Houston

Dear Houston: Life is full of risks. Those who are afraid to make an emotional investment for fear of being hurt cheat themselves of the most meaningful part of living.

Your suffering, in a sense, is a measure of the joy Poke brought to you. If he hadn't meant a great deal you wouldn't be so bereft. Get another dog. You'll be glad you did.

Don't Tell Opponent Of Troubles

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Little Red Riding Hood would have made a good bridge player. She didn't make a futile dash for the door when she found a wolf in her grandmother's bed. She sweet-talked the wolf until she could make her escape. The same technique can be applied to many bridge hands.

The non-reader of fairy tales would find himself inside the wolf's belly at the end of today's hand. He would win the first trick with the queen of clubs, draw two rounds of trumps and then lead the king of spades.

West takes the ace of spades and sees his prey escaping. The only hope is to take three diamond tricks at once, so West takes the ace of diamonds, continues with the queen of diamonds and then leads a third diamond to the king. Yum-yum: a clumsy bridge player is a tasty morsel.

Heroine's Play

Little Red Riding Hood would not be so obvious about her escape. She wins the first trick with the ace of clubs, thus convincing West that East has the queen of clubs. Then our heroine draws trumps with the ace and queen and leads a spade from dummy to her own king.

West takes the ace of spades and sees that the contract is beaten even if South has the king of diamonds. There is no need to lead diamonds at once since West can put his partner in with the queen of clubs to lead a diamond.

West leads a low club, whereupon Little Red Riding Hood wins with the queen of clubs, cashes the jack of spades, and gets to dummy with a trump to discard two diamonds on the queen and ten of spades.

If you can think quickly enough, roast wolf is a fine dish.

ANSWER: Pass. Do not dream of making a takeout double with length in the opponent's suit and marked shortness in the unbid major suit.

Graduates Cruise on the 'Delta Queen'

Riverboat days on the Mississippi were vividly brought to the Fox Valley Thursday evening as Appleton High School graduates and their guests partied in a 'Moonlight on the Delta' setting. The graduation prom at Riverview Country Club was sponsored by Argus Hi-Y.

Bearded and blue-jeaned pirates stopped cars at the drive and directed parking. Guests walked up a roped gangway to the clubhouse porch, and sailors and deck hands provided assistance for young women in their long summer frocks and parked cars for the formal - suited young men who escorted them.

A boat whistle sounding outside helped create the mood for the cruise on the 'Delta Queen.'

After the dance, graduates attended a post-prom party and breakfast sponsored by the Appleton Elks 337 Club. Among those who entertained at pre - prom parties and breakfasts after the event were Sue Treviranus and Carol Klitzke. Deanna Larson, Craig Nissen, Nancy Techlin and Diane Wiese.

It Was a rugged-looking group of rivermen who took the 'Delta Queen' for a Thursday evening cruise. Above, the punch bar overseer, Nick Retson, serves Malcolm McIntyre and Kathy Toal. At left, party-goers Kathy Schultz and Paul Etten went on to the Elks Club where they were served breakfast by Miss Trudy Potter, Mrs Loren Spence and Mrs. Merrill Potter. (Post - Crescent Photos)

Artists, Writers Shine At White House Festival

BY FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's June, and art is bustin' out all over the White House.

It's even upstaging the President.

From the East Room to the South Lawn, the mammoth festival of the arts has taken over for today.

Props, costumes, musical instruments, sculpture, paintings and photographs are in place and scores of performers are set to go on stage.

Nothing like it has ever happened at the White House — or probably anywhere else for that matter.

You could bump into Alexander Calder's huge sculpture "Whales II" on the lawn, or Helen Hayes preparing to serve as mistress of ceremonies.

A threesome from the cast of "The Subject was Roses" was catching up on rehearsal time they missed Sunday night to get a Tony award for the best play of the year.

And author John Hersey was preparing a reading from his book "Hiroshima."

All A Stage

All the White House was a stage for men and women of the arts at the invitation of President and Mrs Johnson

Mrs Johnson, opening the festival she called "a rich feast indeed," declared all of the arts "are warmly welcomed in this house."

She gave a special salute to "the men and women who create all these wondrous things for our mind's pleasure and our soul's delight."

She said in her prepared remarks they had "earned the gratitude of every American for the beauty, the meaning and the zest you are contributing to our lives."

"There would be nothing for the rest of us to support if a very few did not make the personal sacrifices necessary for the arduous act of creativeness," the First Lady noted.

The Johnsons returned from a weekend at their Texas ranch to take part in the day-long events at the White House that ranged from dramatic performances and readings on the stage of the East Ballroom to jazz and sculpture on the South Lawn.

The festival eases into its 12-hour schedule with breakfast coffee and cake in the State Dining Room.

Read Poetry

Poet Mark van Doren launched the morning's 40-minute program of poetry and prose readings, featuring Hersey, authors Saul Bellow and Catherine Drinker Bowen and poetess Phyllis McGinley.

There were to be excerpts from four plays; Marian Anderson introducing a recital by the Louisville Symphony and songs by Roberta Peters; great moments from modern American films, narrated by Carlton Heston, and Gene Kelley serving as master of ceremonies at an after-dinner outdoor performance by the Robert Joffrey Ballet and Duke Ellington.

The status of art in America came in for consideration.

George Kennan, diplomat, historian and president of the American Institute of Arts and Letters, in a keynote luncheon speech considered the problem of support and encouragement for the arts.

In his prepared address, he said support of the arts calls for a high degree of "forbearance on both sides.

Recognize Gap

"Society, for its part, has to recognize and accept the uniqueness of the artist and the eccentricity of his relationship to the rest of us. Society must be prepared for, and must learn to take good-naturedly the unavoidable gap between the level of the artist's taste and its own."

He charged the artists with the "responsibility for the integrity of his own art," adding "if he does not want the public to support the wrong things, or to lose interest in his art entirely, then he must do what he can to shield the public from artistic frivolity and charlatanism.

"He must be concerned to protect art from debasement at the hands of the indecencies, not just indecencies in the sense of pornography...but indecencies of exhibitionism, of sensation-hunting, of cheap trickery of all sorts.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

NO HILLBILLY

Dear Louise: My husband and I are invited to a Bar Mitzvah in Chicago and there will be a dinner that evening at a fashionable hotel. The invitation states, "Black tie optional." I bought a rather fancy cocktail type dress of black crepe in which are circle patterns of blue metallic thread. The shoulders are bare except for tiny straps. Would this be appropriate? I always thought that it is improper to have bare shoulders at a dinner. Is that correct? My Chicago friends who lead a glamorous life think of me as a "hillbilly from the sticks". I will be seeing old friends at this affair and am quite concerned. My husband plans to wear a dark blue suit.

Miss Davis

Louise Davis Answers:

The dress that you describe sounds just right for the dinner. Of course it is something that you wouldn't wear to the Bar Mitzvah ceremony without covering your shoulders or wearing a wrap. These receptions and dinners can be quite formal. Because of the words "black tie optional" this will be mixed but it is my guess that there will be more tuxedos than business suits and more dressy cocktail or dinner dresses than afternoon dresses. If your husband has a tuxedo, I suggest that he wear it. Otherwise, the dark blue suit will be all right. Whatever he wears, do wear your black with Even strangers won't think of you as a hillbilly from the sticks!

How to get up to 33% LONGER WEAR from clothes

Clothes washed in soft water wear longer because there is no soap curd. Your hard water curd makes the fibers in all fabrics brittle, and they wear out faster. In soft water, clothes wash whiter, cleaner, last longer.

'Reigning Queen' Says Junior Jet Set Gets Bored

BY JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) "It gets boring not doing anything," says Princess Anne Oblensky Piedrabuena O'Sullivan in explaining why some of the young set supplement weekly doles from millionaire daddies by working in banks, dress shops and art galleries.

A few of them are taking their first humble step on a lifetime career.

Anne was employed last year on a medical research project in California and managed to survive on her $85-a-week pay, "plus my alowance from Daddy, of course."

Royal Wedding

She returned here last November for a traditional royal Russian wedding to debonair sports car racing enthusiast Antonio Piedrabuena O'Sullivan and is now one of the reigning queens of the new breed.

"To grow up with a consuming ambition for a certain glamorous career is very out at the moment," Anne says. "If we get interested in a certain field later on, we go about it in the right way."

"The right way" does not mean shunning the silver spoon or turning one's back on important contacts. Struggling to succeed despite having everything is just too masochistic.

Leftover Guests

In agreement with Anne's views on the new generation are some leftover guests from an afternoon party at the beach — brown-legged lads in Bermudas sprawled in chairs and sofas around the comfortable Obolensky family living room, as well as Anne's handsome husband Tony, a political refugee from Argentina and her brother, 20-year-old and very continental young Oby, the junior Prince Alexis Obolensky of the exiled Russian royal family. He had just returned from a year of working in a Zurich bank.

Practical Experience

"Now you take Oby," Anne continues. "When he became interested in financial matters, Dad thought he ought to have some practical experience, so he talked to Loel Guinnes (international banker). Daddy and he are very good friends."

Also participating in the discussion is Princess Mary, 18, her tanned, shorts-clad legs dangling over the arm of her chair. When Mary was in Nassau recently she played a bit part in a Beatle movie. The bouncy, exuberant teen-ager came home and described every thrilling detail to big Oby — that's Dad, the senior Prince Alexis.

The Right Way

"'Look baby,' Daddy told me, 'if you want to be a movie star, we'll go about this in the right way. I'll call some friends of mine in Hollywood and we'll get you a screen test and an agent. We'll find out who's doing the really important things! Everybody Daddy knows seems to do exciting things.'" Mary said, beaming proudly.

Mary sometimes works in an art gallery here. Anne passes time playing tennis or riding the bicycle trails until 4 p.m. each day.

Join Forces

That's the "whiching" hour. The workers and the nonworkers join forces at the Loggia. At this crowded hangout with its jungle decor and panther drinks — nonalcoholic for underage patrons — the restless generation shifts from tiny table to tiny table deciding which of the parties to take in during the evening.

At 6 p.m. the place empties. The young folks hurry off in different directions, to shed shorts and shifts and don beaded gowns and pastel-hued tuxedos.

"We always gripe about going to the formal dinner dances. But once we're there we get to having such a grand time we hate to end the evening," says Anne.

More Dancing

So the crowd moves on to the Colony poolroom for more dancing. After that, well, O'Hara's is open until 5 a.m.

One of the miracles of this luxurious sandbar is that a few hours later the job-holders manage to be on duty-bright-eyed and pleasant, somehow without stifling too many yawns they survive the day until it's time again to meet the nonworkers to plan the long party night ahead.

Wig Wends Way Home

MILWAUKEE (AP)— Luci of the light brown hair has mailed home her locks.

A suburban beauty salon received in the mail from the White House Wednesday a light brown wig rented by black-hair Luci Baines Johnson, the President's 17-year-old daughter, as part of her disguise for a private weekend vacation in Wisconsin.

The hairpiece was rented Saturday morning. Luci had apparently worn a silver - blonde wig to the Marquette University graduation prom the previous night, but reporters learned of her presence in the first disguise.

The salon operator, Jack. V. Valind, said, "I'll never sell that wig. I'll put it on a model and label it as the one Luci wore. I'm just thrilled to death."

Auxiliary Elects Delegates to National Conclave

The Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars elected delegates to the National Convention in Chicago, Ill., when they met at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the VFW Hall.

Chosen to represent the group Aug. 14 in Chicago were Mrs. Richard Hendricks, Mrs. Robert C. Johnson, Mrs. C. M. Thompson and Mrs. Donald Manier. Alternates are Mrs. Henry Hoffman, Mrs. John Steenis, Mrs. Claude Rhode and Mrs. Walter Vandertie.

Mrs. Lincoln Lyons will serve as chairman for the Auxiliary picnic July 14 at Erb Park. Members have been invited to attend a picnic July 25 at King. A donation was made to the Recreation Department.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Juel Boggers, Mrs. Manier and Mrs. Frank Koch. The unit also participated in the Flag Day Parade.

Miss Gritt To Be Wed

BLACK CREEK — The engagement of Miss Mary A. Gritt, Des Plaines, Ill., to Gerald Lawrence, Des Plaines, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gritt, route 1, Black Creek. Mr. Lawrence is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lawrence, Marquette, Mich.

Miss Gritt is employed by the Butler Paper Co., Des Plaines. Her fiance is with American Airlines at O'Hare Field, Chicago.

The couple plans to be wed Sept. 11.

Mothers Advised On Babys' Needs

The U.S. Children's Bureau advises mothers that a baby bathtub is not essential for brand new infants. To quote that expert source, "At first all you need is a blanket (or a towel) on a table, a washcloth, soap, warm water, and a towel."

The Bureau also cautions against elaborate clothes for new babies — stating that "clothes which can be washed but do not need to be ironed will save time and energy," and are best for both mother and baby.

Correction

Lawrence Richard Schmalz, who is engaged to wed Miss Beverly Hay, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orris W. Schmalz, 1109 Lawe St., Kaukauna. His parents were incorrectly listed in Thursday's Post-Crescent.

Terry Noack Wins Derby, Follows Brother's Steps

Terry Noack Earned the right to represent the Fox Cities at the national soap box derby by beating Daniel Kiefer (right) in the championship race Sunday. Terry becomes the second in his family to win the Fox Cities derby championship.

Defeated by Larry in 1963; Brother Jerry Almost Makes Championship Competition Also

BY HENRY SIMON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"Like father, like son" the old saying goes, but Fox Cities Soap Box Derby fans are wondering if the proverb shouldn't be revised to "Like brother, like brother."

Terry Noack won the Fox Cities Soap Box Derby championship Sunday, following in the footsteps of his brother Larry, 1963 champion. Terry almost met his younger brother Jerry in the finals

Terry won the Class B (11-13 years old) title two years ago, then lost to Larry, Class A champion (13-15 years) in the grand championship.

This year Terry won a trip to Akron and the national competition by defeating Dan Kiefer, Class B winner. Dan won over Jerry Noack by an eyelash in the Class B finals.

The middle son of Mr and Mrs. Harry Noack, 1425 W. Brewster St. also won other prizes besides the paid trip to Akron for himself and his parents

Included in the champion's winnings were a winner's plaque, a $500 savings bond, a jacket and — at Akron, a 19-jewel shockproof watch, a pair of levi pants, a letter from President Johnson and a ticket to the All-American race and the banquet of the champion.

Activity started at 8:30 a.m. Sunday, as trial heats were held to get the boys accustomed to the ramp and track. The ramp was constructed Saturday evening, but preparations for the derby began in February.

Instruction Sessions

Instruction sessions and inspections followed on the racers, some of which were started last fall. Sunday was the culmination of many hours of work for the boys, parents, and members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the event with Gibson Chevrolet. Some racers had as much as 1,000 hours of work in them.

Balmy weather made the day a beautiful one for viewing the many races that covered the track between Appleton and Division streets. The only injuries reported were a few cases of slight sunburn.

A crowd estimated at 5,000 by officials viewed the events of the day. After the preliminary heats, first round competition began at 10:30 a.m. and by noon the consolation and championship divisions had been decided.

Parade Begins Festivities

Festivities in the afternoon began with a parade featuring the boys; the Americanos Drum and Bugle Corps and their junior counterparts; Miss Wisconsin, Angela Gina Baldi; Miss Appleton, Luane Kay Briske, and Miss Soap Box Derby, Suzanne Vermeern.

About 50 per cent of the competitors were repeaters in derby competition, according to officials. Many of the cars showed painstaking work, and the opinion of many spectators was expressed by Miss Wisconsin, when she said the cars "amazed" her.

Unfair Labor Charges Filed Against Kampo

NLRB Sets July 17 Hearing on Protest Of Teamsters Union

Charges of unfair labor practices have been filed against Kampo Transit, Inc., a Neenah-based trucking firm with operations in the Fox Cities and Green Bay areas.

Teamsters Local 563, which won a representation election at Kampo in March, complained to the regional office of the National Labor Relations Board at Milwaukee.

The NLRB has scheduled a hearing on the charges for July 17 at 10 a.m. in the council chambers at the Neenah City Hall

A company spokesman indicated today the matter was in the hands of a lawyer but the latter was out of the city and could not be reached for comment.

Singled Out

Singled out by the Teamsters Local for allegedly committing unfair labor practices were Donald Forcey, general manager, and Jerry Reetz, dispatcher, for Kampo.

The union charged that in February the company coerced employes.

Local 563 claims Forcey interrogated employes concerning union membership and made remarks to discourage them from becoming members of the union.

The union also complained that Reetz intimidated and discouraged employes from becoming members.

Contestants Honored

Awards Given at Derby Dinner of Champions

Soap box derby competitors, parents, workers and sponsors were praised Sunday evening at the 1965 Fox Cities Soap Box Derby Dinner of Champions.

Awards were presented to derby winners, speeches were made and smiling faces were evident everywhere during the dinner attended by 250 persons at the Country Aire.

First place winner Terry Noack received his trophy and a $500 savings bond, paid trip for himself and his parents to Akron and the national derby, and other awards.

Runners-up Daniel Kieffer (second) and Jerry Noack (third) were presented with their respective trophies, 17-jewel watches and jackets.

Consolation winners were given identification bracelets. The winners in this division and their order were Tom Sommers, Wayne Schulze and Joe Jackson.

Steve Luedtke won the trophy for the best-designed car, while Dan Newstrom's model was voted the most attractive. Both received 17-jewel watches in addition to their statuettes.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell presented his sportsmanship trophy to Jerry Noack, who was selected by a vote of all the contestants.

Dennis Bleck won his second straight portable television set by repeating as winner of the booster button sales competition. The boys sold about 1,300 buttons, paying for the expenses of the Akron trip.

Concession Stands

Although the Junior Chamber of Commerce operates concession stands during the derby, a loss of about $500 is absorbed each year by the Jaycees. Gibson Chevrolet also helps with the cost.

The other top four button salesmen included Wayne Schulze, Stephen Kelly, Terry Noack and Dan Kieffer.

Soap Box Derby Queen Suzanne Vermeern won a $50 savings bond and a wardrobe.

Appleton's derby was praised as "really a big league event" by Chevrolet representative Bill Fischer. It "belongs with the best soap box derbies in the country," he said

Mayor Clarence Mitchell said, "Every boy who has participated here is, has been, and will be a winner." Chevrolet district representative John Green told the parents and Jaycees that "your rewards will be noticed in the future of your youngsters and in the future of your community."

Man Drowns Saving Son

Donald J. Murray, Appleton, Victim At Boulder Lake

An Appleton father of five, Donald J. Murray, 36, 2013 N. Ullman St., drowned Sunday afternoon in Boulder Lake after saving his son from the same fate.

A member of the family said the group, including the youngest children, ages 10 through 6, were in a boat when Donald Jr., 11, started to flounder while swimming near the craft.

Murray dove into the water, the relatives said, and got the boy back to the boat but slipped while climbing back into the craft and went under. The boy was wearing a life preserver, but the father was not, according to the associated press.

The body was taken to Wisconsin Rapids, the former residence of Mrs. Murray, for funeral services later this week. Murray, originally from Marshfield, brought his family to Appleton four years ago. He was employed at Gibson Chevrolet Co. garage.

Martin Attacks Speech by Patrick Lucey

Neenah Legislator Says Democratic Talk Out of Date

MENASHA — Assemblyman David O. Martin, Neenah, attacked Lt. Gov. Patrick Lucey's keynote address to the state Democratic convention, saying Lucey must have written the speech before the assembly action of last week in which the Democrats killed Gov. Warren Knowles' budget revenue bill.

Lucey had charged the Republicans with being obstructionists during the six years in which the Democrats controlled the statehouse.

Martin was the principal speaker at the first annual Winnebago County YGOP dinner dance Saturday night at the Menasha Elks Club. The YGOP picked Carl Steiger, Oshkosh, as the recipient of its first "Outstanding Republican" award.

Nothing to Offer

Martin said that during those six years each time the Republican controlled legislature did not agree with the governor's budget revenue bill, the GOP offered a substitute bill and then agreed to a compromise. But last week, he said, the Democrats summarily killed Gov. Knowles' bill but had nothing to offer in return.

He cited other bills the passage of which he said assembly democrats were holding up. These included the fair housing bill, highway safety program, state government reorganization and the composition change for the coordinating committee on higher education.

'Come Alive'

The Neenah Republican said he felt the Republican party in Wisconsin has "come alive." Evidence of this, he said, is shown by the overflow crowds at Republican functions he has attended recently. "Many of the people in these audiences are strangers to this type of function in the past."

"By broadening its base of support the GOP can rededicate itself to the true progressive principles of the state we live in," Martin said.

First and second runners-up were Miss Patricia Garrigan, and Miss Lyn Cherepow who were awarded $75 and $50 bonds, respectively.

Miss Garrigan, 618 Seventh Street, Menasha, was also queen of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Venetian Festival at Menasha. She was sponsored by the Neenah-Menasha Jaycettes and was at the top of her graduating class at Menasha High School. The 18-year-old princess will attend St. Norbert College and major in chemistry.

The 18-year-old princess plays in an orchestra and plans to attend Wisconsin State University-Eau Claire in fall, where she will major in primary education.

The three honored girls were crowned after speaking briefly. William Mathwig was master of ceremonies and Miss Judy Johnson of Milwaukee was hostess.

The court of 16 contestants was given a cruise on the Wolf River Saturday afternoon by the Fremont Boat Club. Boats were furnished by Dr. Walter Neuschafer, Glen Sampson, William Mathwig, Jack Abraham, Allan Schafer, Pershing Cox, Edwin Rupno and Marvin Shierborn.

Continue Strike at Kaukauna Plant

KAUKAUNA — Picketing at the Giddings and Lewis Machine Tool Co. continued this morning with no new developments, according to word from union and management.

Machinists Local 474 went on strike June 2 after being unable to reach agreement with the firm on incentive and hourly wage increases. Foundry workers at the plant honored picket lines for several days but returned to work June 9. The contract between the local and the company expired June 10.

Fireworks Users Face Penalties, Judge Warns

OSHKOSH — Juvenile Judge James Sarres today warned both youngsters and their parents that anyone caught shooting firecrackers or other illegal fireworks will be referred to the juvenile court.

He cited four recent incidents in Oshkosh, in which two girls were burned on the legs and one girl may lose the hearing in one ear, as the result of fireworks.

He pointed out the fireworks law sets the fines at $25 to $500 and jail terms at 30 days to six months.

Judge Sarres said that just one person being injured from the shooting of illegal fireworks is too much. Parents who permit their children to have illegal fireworks will be referred to criminal court for action in that court.

Police Chief Harry Guenther of Oshkosh is recommending to the council that all persons and firms selling legal fireworks be licensed so that the police have a means to stop the sale and distribution of illegal fireworks.

One case involving a person selling illegal fireworks is now pending in criminal court.

Chicago Gives Astronauts Heroes' Parade

Rights Demonstrators Continue School Protest Activities

CHICAGO (AP) — Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II were welcomed with the cheers of some 2,500 persons, most of them youngsters, for a heroes' parade and celebration today in Chicago.

Also on hand in the 65-degree sunny weather at O'Hare International Airport's military section were Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey; Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois; Richard J. Daley, Chicago's mayor, and other officials

The vice president, his wife, and their two sons flew in from Washington before the plane carrying the Gemini 4 crew arrived.

Crowds gathered along the expressway route to the city, and on La Salle Street near City Hall, hours before the astronauts' cars were expected to pass.

Flags and pennants festooned downtown streets on the parade route.

After a special meeting of the City Council to confer honorary Chicago citizenship on McDivitt, White, and two officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Dr. George E. Mueller, associate director, and Chares W. Matthews, Gemini project manager, there was a meeting set with school children.

Question-Answer Period

About 6,500 pupils were to put McDivitt and White through a question-and-answer period in McCormick Place. Other plans for the day included a dinner for the astronauts party given by Mayor Daley, and a fireworks display at night.

As the civic welcome got under way at O'Hare Airport, about 100 civil rights demonstrators gathered in Grant Park, on the lake front, for continuation of a series of school protest activities

Leaders of the protesters made no announcement of plans for the day. On three days last week, the demonstrators staged traffic-disrupting marches in the city's downtown area.

The demonstrations, in which 450 persons were arrested Friday and Saturday for sitting down in the streets, were staged to protest rehiring of Chicago Schools Supt Benjamin C Willis whose school integration plans were rejected by some civil rights groups.

Uprisings Anticipated

Dominicans Under Communist Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Latin-American expert Jack Hood Vaughn says a substantial Communist threat still hangs over the Dominican Republic and could erupt in a new uprising in many areas of the nation at future date.

Vaughn, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, said arms have been hidden in the countryside and Red leaders have gone into hiding there.

In addition Vaughn said:

"I am sure also that many of them are in command of the rebel military groups in the strong points."

And he estimated the potential Communist strength as closer to 5,000 than to a figure of 1,200 given by former Dominican Republic President Juan Bosch.

Vaughn expressed his views on the ABC radio and television program "Issues and Answers" Sunday and made these other points:

$20 Million

—The United States has poured $20 million in food and relief funds into the Dominican Republic to prevent social chaos and "I see no end to this. It could go on for many months."

—Formation of a caretaker, coalition government is no nearer now than it was six weeks ago. Elections for a new democratic government are probably a year to a year and a half away.

—The Communist threat fits precisely into a pattern laid down in a meeting in Havana last November in which other nations including Venezuela, Guatemala, Colombia, were named as prime targets

Vaughn outlined the Communist danger in the Dominican Republic this way:

"It is there and has been there from the beginning. About 45 Communist leaders exiled in May of 1964 have returned. People have been trained in Cuba, or in China or in Eastern Europe. They are well organized.

"We know very large quantities of arms were distributed. Certain quantities of these arms have been taken up country and hidden. The threat is always there that they will be used in an uprising in one place or in a number of places in a coordinated way."

Kimberly-Clark Earnings Down In Past Year

Outlook Brighter For Coming Fiscal Period, Official Says

NEENAH — Kimberly - Clark Corporation today reported consolidated sales for the fiscal year which ended April 30 of $577,392,000, and net earnings of $35,012,000, equal to $3.44 per share, as contrasted to $35,839,000 or $3.52 per share for the comparable period last year. Sales last year were $554,676,000.

John R. Kimberly, president, said that while the results "were disappointing," the company had anticipated that the two strikes it experienced, together with start-up costs at its new pulp and paper mill in northern California, would penalize earnings. He expects an improvement in earnings in the year now under way.

Bright Outlook

Many factors, he said, contribute to this outlook. Among them he cited improved operating efficiencies, continued impact of cost reduction programs, and modest price increases. In printing, publication and specialty papers, he said orders were running well ahead of last year.

He pointed out that the new printing paper mill dedicated earlier this month in Anderson, California, was strategically located to participate in the West's growing consumption of printing and publication paper. This printing market, he said, has doubled in the past ten years and he anticipates it will double again by 1975. The paper plant, part of a multi-million dollar pulp, paper and wood products complex, is the first printing paper mill in California.

The Kimberly-Clark executive said overseas markets continued to offer new marketing opportunities and his company's development and expansion of operations abroad to capitalize on these opportunities would continue. This activity, he said, is compatible with President Johnson's campaign to restrict outflow of dollars.

Cash Citizenship Awards were presented to four Hortonville High School students during a recent class day program. Mary Gruetzmacher annd Robert Jentz, left, received $75 awards while Shirley Striegel and Stephen Becher were given $50 awards. The grants are to be used to further their education.

Other winners of "oil can" races were Mayor Clarence Mitchell over John Green, Chevrolet Motors district representative; Fire Chief Roland Kuehl over Capt. Vilas Burmeister; Derby Co-chairman Frank Mueller over Bill Fischer, Chevrolet zone merchandizing manager, and Don Long, derby chairman, over local Chevrolet representative Allan Gibson.

Derby Impressions

Many impressions remain of the 1965 Fox Cities Soap Box Derby. Business is going on along College Avenue today as if nothing had happened, but Sunday there were mothers undignifiedly running down the sidewalk to see their sons race . . . Youngsters straining on tiptoe to get a better view of the race down the street . . . Lunches hurriedly eaten on the hoods of racers . . .

A large U. S. flag floating southward over the Fox River, carried by a parachute and launched by fireworks from the middle of the "Avenue" . . . A similar skyrocket, which got off the ground only 20 feet, and then began a quick downward flight, sent officials scurrying before the sky rocket exploded on the pavement . . .

Red faces of defeat and gleaming faces of victory peering out of racers after they crossed the finish line . . . Miss Soap Box Derby's trials and tribulations with the Fire Department Special nudging the side of the ramp and bumping Miss Appleton's racer before getting her own under firm control.

Nooks, Crannies Being Mined For Silver, Mercury, Platinum

BY RICHARD F. WHALEN

NEW YORK (AP) — Attic trunks, basement darkrooms and dentists' plumbing are being mined more intensively for precious metals.

High prices for silver, mercury and platinum are making it worthwhile for dentists and photographers, among others, to salvage metals that once literally went down the drain.

William Parry, refining operations manager for Handy & Harman, a leading silver refiner and dealer, notes "a substantial increase" in the amount of such scrap being saved.

Regular Scrap

"I can't say exactly how much," he said, "but we can tell that more is coming from individuals, as opposed to regular scrap from companies."

Dental equipment now comes with traps to catch excess filling material — a silver-mercury amalgam — that's rinsed from the mouths of patients. Even the bit of cloth the amalgam is mixed on is saved.

Big photography firms have saved developing solutions for years to reclaim silver, but more of the smaller shops, one-man photographic studios and very active amateurs can also save money through salvage.

Parry said one of his neighbors, a portrait photographer, salvaged nearly $300 worth of silver in two years from his basement darkroom operation.

X-Ray Negatives

He said that hospitals and physicians have long sold outdated X-ray negatives for their silver scrap. "Now we're trying to get more veterinarians to save theirs, too," he said.

Spiral Metal Co of South Amboy, N.J., recently refined the silver out of 55 tons of coins from Ecuador. The increase in the market price for silver had made the silver content worth about twice the face value of the coins.

Spiral President Jack Kaplan said his firm refines gold from metal eyeglass frames and jewelry and silver from candlestick holders, torpedo batteries, desalination kits used to purify water and military insignias.

Army sharpshooter medals contain about 20 cents worth of silver and Army uniform buttons are gold-plated. Gold braid on Navy uniforms and caps contains real gold and turns up often in scrap shipments.

The market prices for the pure, refined metals are: silver $1.293 an ounce, platinum $97-$100 an ounce and mercury $700 and up for a 76-ounce flask. Gold transactions, regulated by the government, are at $35 an ounce.

Weary San Franciscan Buys Town in Nevada

Currie, Population 50, Cost $85,000, Including Businesses, Offices, Real Estate

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP) — In the sagebrush and jackrabbit country of lonely northeastern Nevada, Kenneth Krueger, a train-weary San Francisco Bay area commuter, found the little town of Currie — population 50 — for sale.

It was just what he and his wife Jeannette had been looking for. So they bought it with their life savings of $85,000.

Tuesday, Krueger and his wife will pull up stakes at their apartment here and point their station wagon east for Currie.

The ex-suburbanites are assured of a cordial reception. Krueger, until last week motor vehicle inspector for Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. in San Francisco, automatically will become the town mayor, sheriff, fire chief, ranger, assessor and landlord.

Run Businesses

That's because he not only bought the town's 75 acres but its few houses and businesses as well. Krueger and his wife will run the general store, the service station, a bar and a trailer park.

Until 1900 Currie was a railhead for cattle and sheep growers. Now the livestock goes to market in trucks but Currie still caters to hunters and fishermen. It lies at the foot of the towering Goshute and Ruby mountains whose slopes abound in elk and deer and whose streams tumble with trout.

A blink of the eye and you're past it on U.S. 93, 76 miles north of Ely.

The Kruegers don't know exactly when they got the yen to flee suburbia.

But, Krueger says, "five years ago, on our vacations, we began probing all the desolate areas of California. We were hunting for a spot where, if you wanted to make it as such, you could practially live the year 1859 all over again."

For various reasons the land they saw in California didn't appeal.

'Hard to Come Back'

"Then we began going to Nevada," Krueger sighs contendedly, "far into the interior. And each time we found it harder to come back to all the hustle and bustle."

Last year the Kruegers stopped in Currie. There they met F. A. Majors who wanted to sell the town — lock, stock and barrel.

"We had the money, says Krueger. "But, believe me, it wasn't through inheritance or anything like that. It was our savings, close-to-the vest living."

"Yes, even beans and hot dogs, at times."

The couple will live in a two-bedroom house. "It's not like here on the Peninusla or in San Francisco," Krueger admits. "But I've seen worse. It's livable."

Mrs. Krueger, who gave up her job as assistant librarian for the Menlo Park School District, will work in the general store. She says she'll also spark Currie's social life to new heights, "organizing or disorganizing as the case may be."

Krueger says he expects his position as the town's only businessman to keep him on the job most of the time.

"But it's going to be a lot more than just punching a time clock. We're going to build up Currie, but still keep it on a real, live old frontier basis. We've never been happier in our lives."

Building Code Revamp Set at Stockbridge

Consider Appointing Building Inspector To Enforce Law

STOCKBRIDGE — The village board will meet tonight to consider revamping the present building ordinance to include a building inspector who would enforce segments of the code.

The detailed building code would include specifications for lot size and sewage hookup installations not included in the present ordinance.

At a recent meeting the board received a petition from 17 property owners requesting an extension of curb and gutter along State 55, Military Road, from the present boundary to the southern property line of the petitioners.

The board will notify the State Highway Commission of the petition. An engineer will be engaged to obtain an estimate of the cost, measurements and formulate plans and specifications as soon as permission is granted by the state.

NEW YORK (AP) — A partial lunar eclipse took place Sunday night.

Four Teen-Agers Nabbed for Stealing Gas Near Manawa

WAUPACA — Four teen-agers who were caught stealing gasoline from county highway equipment stored in a gravel pit near Manawa, Friday night, have been referred to Juvenile Court authorities.

The youths, two 16-year-olds and two 14-year-olds, were taken in custody at 12:30 a.m. while they were pouring gasoline into the tank on a car driven by one of the youths.

The Waupaca County Sheriff's Department had received complaints that gasoline had been taken from the equipment parked at the pit. Patrolman Gerald Pagel, staked out at the gravel pit and watched as the youths took the gas. Manawa Police Chief Kenneth Stevens blocked the drive while the youths were taken into custody.

One of the girls told authorities she had been at the gravel pit on previous occasions when gas was taken. The other girl, 14, said she wasn't involved in previous thefts. Three of the youths are from the Royalton area and the other from Hortonville.

The youths' parents were notified.

Congress Still Must Face Toughest Bills

Labor Day Dismissal In Jeopardy

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — After more than six months of fairly smooth sailing, Congress is heading into shoal-infested waters that may wreck its plans to adjourn by Labor Day.

Voting rights, union shops, foreign aid, health care for the elderly, minimum wages, closing of some military bases, legislative reapportionment, excise taxes, the antipoverty program and pay raises for military and civilian personnel are among the snags that lie ahead.

Not even one of the dozen annual appropriation bills to finance the government for the fiscal year starting July 1 has been sent to the President, although most of them have cleared the House.

Although publicly voicing confidence that all the necessary legislation can be disposed of by Labor Day, some congressional leaders already are considering a summer recess followed by a fall session. Such a recess is a distinct possibility for the House, which is legislatively in better shape than the Senate.

Major Bills

Two of the major pending bills are on the Senate calendar this week. They are the foreign aid authorization bill and a measure which would cut or repeal emergency excise tax rates. Both have passed the House, but Senate changes will require further House action.

Only one major bill is on the House schedule this week. It calls for creation of a Cabinet-level department of housing and urban development.

The voting rights bill passed by the Senate after a curtailed filibuster has been approved with major changes by the House Judiciary Committee. It probably will be held up several more weeks in the House Rules Committee and is not expected to reach the floor before next month. The threat of another filibuster confronts it when it goes back to the Senate.

A bill to prohibit state laws against union shops has been approved by the House Labor Committee but has not yet been considered by the Senate. It is being held up in the House pending action on separate legislation to protect Negroes' job rights. The whole subject may be dropped until next year.

Health Care

The health care bill, passed by the House more than two months ago, is bogged down in the Senate Finance Committee.

The administration's bill to broaden application of the minimum wage law is in the hearing stage in the House Labor Committee.

A package measure embodying President Johnson's anti-poverty program is gathering dust in the House Rules Committee along with a general housing bill that may be sent to the House floor later this week.

Pay raises for military and civilian personnel are in the hearing stage in the House Armed Services and Civil Service committees.

May Withdraw Support

Laird Says Republicans Hesitant on Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R - Wis., said today "we may be dangerously close to ending any Republican support" of the present U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

"This possibility exists," said Laird, chairman of the House Republican Conference, "because the American people do not know how far the administration is prepared to go with large-scale use of ground forces in order to save face in Viet Nam."

In a discussion of U.S. involvement in the Viet Nam conflict, Laird said he does not think southeast Asia is the place to commit U.S. troops in ground warfare.

It was recently disclosed that under certain circumstances if the appropriate Vietnamese commanders call for help, the U.S. commander on the scene, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, has authority to respond.

In such cases, Westmoreland could employ American troops in support of Vietnamese forces faced with aggressive attack when other effective reserves are not available, and when in his judgment, the general military situation urgently requires it.

The American people deserve an answer, Laird said, to the question of how far the administration is prepared to go with large-scale use of ground forces and added:

"The Republican party should base its future support on the nature of that answer.

"In the absence of this answer, we can only conclude that present policy is aimed not at victory over the Communist insurgency nor at driving Communists out of South Viet Nam, but rather at some sort of negotiated settlement which would include Communist elements in a coalition government."

If such is the objective of the Johnson administration, Laird said, then the charge can be levelled that the administration is over - committing ground forces and needlessly exposing the lives of thousands of American boys.

It is Laird's view that proper application of air power could do the job, without committing large combat forces.

"One such step, already long overdue," Laird said, "is to retarget our bombing raids on more significant targets in North Viet Nam.

"A major transportation and supply area is the port city of Haiphong. To continue to allow the unhindered flow of war materials in and out of that area only insures greater American casualties in future Viet Cong offensive actions."

Laird said Republicans will continue to support President Johnson "when his actions in the Vietnamese situation serve American and free world interests and when they do not needlessly waste or endanger American lives."

In several public utterances, Laird said, amministration spokesmen have implied that the ground force build - up in Viet Nam is Dwight D. Eisenhower or Republican policy.

"Such an implication, is just the opposite of the truth," he said. "The Eisenhower - Dulles policy scrupulously avoided a large-scale use of conventional ground forces in Southeast Asia.

"As a matter of fact, at the time President Eisenhower left office, there were only 773 member of the U.S. military mission in Viet Nam and the situation at that time was much less critical than it is now although we have more than 50,000 American troops there today. Indications are that the American troop build-up in Viet Nam could go as high as 100,000 American boys."

Revised Army Reserve Not in Public Interest

Gen. Dunlap Tells 32nd Division Future Depends on Training

CAMP MCCOY (AP) — Maj. Gen. John A. Dunlap, commander of the 32nd Infantry Division, said Sunday night the proposed reorganization of Army Reserve components at this time was not in the national interest.

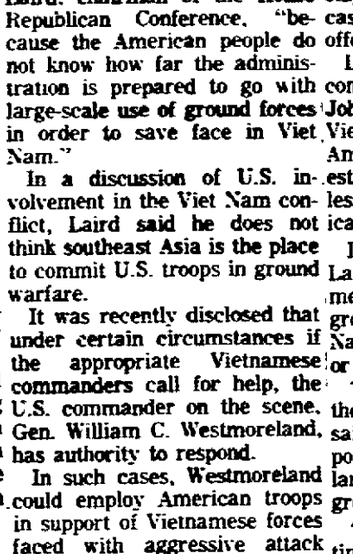

Noting the situation in Southeast Asia and Latin America, Dunlap said it would take two years under the reorganization before two units could be knit together in an effective combat force.

The Red Arrow division, under the proposed reorganization, would be reduced to a brigade and attached to Minnesota's 47th National Guard division.

Dunlap told division members that the quality of their performance at the encampment would affect the future status of the division.

"If our training index is high, it will show Congress and the Defense Department that we're a darn good division and well worth saving," Dunlap said in an interview for the division newspaper.

The general would not concede that this would be the last summer encampment for the Red Arrow, but said the division was once again "ready" because it had achieved full authorized strength. The division headquarters had reported earlier Sunday that 6,061 guardsmen were in camp and more than 2,000 others on active duty training at other military installations.

Charles L. Rodgers, 36-year-old shoe assembler from St. Louis, Mo., arrived at New York's Kennedy Airport with his wife, Ann, and their brood of eight for a round of ceremonies as the National Fathers Day committee's 1965 Worker-Father of the Year, and promptly received a kiss from proud mama. Leaders Threaten Picketing

Attempt at Revision of Mississippi Voting Laws Attacked by Negroes

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A special legislative session to revise Mississippi's voting laws opens today at a Capitol building guarded to repulse civil rights demonstrations.

The highway patrol, which has jurisdiction at the Capitol and its grounds, assigned a special security detachment. Admission to the gallery was by invitation card only.

The proceedings open at noon.

The Freedom Democratic party, a predominantly Negro group, condemned the session as a new effort to limit Negro voting and said the Capitol would be picketed.

"It is clearly an attempt to prevent the appointment of federal registrars in Mississippi under the federal voting rights bill of 1965," said Lawrence Guyot, a Jackson Negro who is party executive chairman.

Federal Voting Law

"We have no desire to circumvent" the federal voting law, said Gov. Paul Johnson, who issued the special session call a week ago.

The legislators will delete some voter registration laws in order to put the state in a "more favorable position to fight a strong but fair battle when the situation demands," Johnson said.

The U.S. Commission on Civil Rights has described the state's voter laws as part of a plan to "systematically exclude Negroes from the ballot."

Proposals for the special session would do away with the discretion now given voter registrars to decide the qualifications of an applicant.

Interpret Constitution

For instance, an applicant must be able to interpret a section of the complex state constitution to the registrar's satisfaction. The applicant also must be of "good moral character."

The Freedom party demonstration was aimed at both the special session and at the legislature — on the ground that the legislature is illegal.

Guyot said a federal suit is in the making to oust the legislature on the basis of voting conditions and violation of an 1870 compact.

"In 1870," he said, "Mississippi was admitted back into the Union after the Civil War on condition it would not change its voter registration laws, which at the time required only age, residence and non-conviction of a felony."

Hopes to Recoup Losses

GOP to Concentrate on Midwest, West in '66

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans plan to focus on the Midwest and West next year in a campaign they believe will recoup their 1964 losses in the House and give them three or more additional Senate seats.

President Johnson's failure thus far to come up with a satisfactory farm program has given the GOP hope that it not only can hang on to the seats it now holds in Midwestern and Western states but can make significant gains there.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, head of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, said in an interview that while he is not discounting party chances in any part of the country he believes they are brightest in the Midwest and West.

Regain Seats

"As matters stand, I think we are going to get back most of the House seats we lost last year," he said. "In local elections in such states as Iowa, for example, our candidates have been getting their traditional majorities even in areas we lost in 1964.

"I think the administration's failure to come up with any workable farm program is going to help us in states where that is a factor."

This was in line with an assertion of Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., who expects to be a candidate for re-election, that the farmer, is the forgotten man of the Johnson administration. He said Sunday on Metromedia's televised "Opinion in the Capital" that Johnson is directing all of his programs toward the metropolitan areas.

Farmer Pays

"Perhaps that is because, with the Electoral College, if you get the city votes you don't need any of the rest of them," he said. "Perhaps, it is because of purely humanitarian reasons — I don't know what the reason, but it means all the goodies are being handed out to the people in the metropolitan areas and Mr. farmer continues to pay through the nose."

Outnumbered 68 to 32 by the Democrats in the Senate, Republicans have little hope of changing that figure materially. Twenty Democratic and 14 Republican seats are at stake next year.

Even if the GOP retrieved the total of 41 House places it lost last year, the party would still be outnumbered substantially, since the Democrats now have 294 members to the Republicans' 140, with one vacancy.

Budget Bill Meeting Asked by Knowles

Parties Agree Spending Must be $77 Million More Than Revenues

MADISON (AP)—Gov. Warren P. Knowles hopes to meet with Republican and Democratic legislators today in an effort to produce a compromise budget bill and means to finance it.

The Republican chief executive called for such a conference after the Democratic-controlled Assembly killed the Senate-passed budget bill last week.

Democrats are expected to attend the meeting but they also plan to introduce, probably Tuesday, a resolution calling for a special compromise committee.

Spending Level

The Republicans and Democrats agree that the level of spending for the biennium starting July 1 will have to be about $77 million more than anticipated revenue. Their differences are in how to raise this money to provide for a budget in excess of $800 million.

Republicans want to extend the 3 per cent sales tax to items short of food, clothing, drugs, household utilities and building materials. They also propose a one-fifth of one per cent increase in the state income tax rates and doubling the $1 a barrel tax on beer.

Although the Democrats have not outlined their recommendations to produce more revenue they are known to favor a sur-tax on individual and corporate income taxes.

If the legislators fail to agree on a budget and taxes by July 1 state agencies will be notified that their spending allotments for the first quarter of the 1965-67 biennium must be held at present levels. This would bar hiring of new personnel and probably force some cutbacks in services until the budget dispute is resolved.

Legislative committees will operate on a business as usual basis this week with hearings on 49 bills, three resolutions and three appointments by the governor.

The Senate Governmental and Veterans' Affairs Committee will consider a bill Tuesday setting a municipal debt limit. The measure would prohibit a municipality, except Milwaukee, from incurring a total debt of more than $1 million.

The Senate Highways Committee will consider a bill Wednesday which would provide for revocation of a minor's driver's license after conviction of a moving traffic violation.

Veteran, Newcomer Win Top Tony Awards

Comedian Zero Mostel in Best Musical; Songstress Liza Minelli in First Show

BY MARY CAMPBELL

NEW YORK (AP) — Zero Mostel gestured toward heaven, addressed "Lieber Gott" (Dear God) and made most of his acceptance speech in Yiddish Sunday night after he received a Tony Award from the American Theatre Wing for his starring role, as a man who talks directly to God, in "Fiddler on the Roof."

The hit Broadway musical, based on stories by the late Sholem Aleichem about Jewish life in a tiny Russian village long ago, figured in nine of the 20 Tony Award categories, including best musical play of the recent season.

Newcomer Liza Minelli, 19, daughter of Judy Garland, was the veteran Mostel's counterpart as best female musical star. She won a Tony for her first Broadway role, a brash 1930s American communist, in "Flora, the Red Menace."

"The Subject was Roses," a drama about a loveless Bronx couple whose son returns from the Army, was named best play of the season. The play also won this year's Pulitzer Prize and Drama Critics Circle Award.

Some 1,200 persons assembled at the Astor Hotel for the award presentations.

Best Dramatic Actors

Walter Matthau, who sets up housekeeping with Art Carney, a fellow remnant of divorce, in "The Odd Couple," won a Tony as best dramatic actor. Irene Worth, who played Miss Alice in Edward Albee's controversial drama, "Tiny Alice," which has closed, was awarded the best dramatic actress Tony.

Tony medallions were presented for the 19th year by the American Theater Wing. They are named for the late Antoinette Perry, board chairman of the wing.

Sweeping the musical play divisions for their work in "Fiddler on the Roof" were Jerome Robbins, winning two Tonys as director and choreographer; Harold Prince, Producer; Joseph Stein, author; Jerry Bock and Sheldon Harnick, composer and lyricist; and Patricia Zipprodt, costume designer.

Supporting Actors

Best featured or supporting dramatic Tonys were won by Jack Albertson, a former vaudeville dancer who plays the father in "The Subject was Roses," and Alice Ghostley for "The Sign in Sidney Brustein's Window," which has closed.

Best featured or supporting musical Tonys went to Victor Spinetti for his many characterizations in the revue satirizing World War I, "Oh, What a Lovely War," which has closed, and Maria Karnilova, who plays Zero Mostel's wife in "Fiddler on the Roof."

Clair Nichtern won the dramatic producer award for "Luv."

Winners were selected by members of the American Theater Wing, League of New York Theaters and the Broadway critics.

A special Tony award was voted to 80-year-old producer Gilbert Miller, whose 88th Broadway production, "Diamond Orchid," opened and closed this season.

Let's Draw Series Wins Ohio Award

Wisconsin School of the Air was honored for broadcasting excellence recently when the Institute for Education by Radio-Television, Ohio State University, awarded it a citation in its 1965 programs competition.

The award for "The Lights of Christmas," a sample from the Let's Draw creative art series, is the third for that radio series and the 54th WHA has won since the competition was established in 1936.

"The Lights of Christmas" was planned, written and narrated by Prof. James A. Schwalbach, director of the University of Wisconsin extension art program. Script assistance and the program's production was provided by Claire Kentzler of the WHA staff.

Hilbert Youth Hurt in Crash At Sherwood

SHERWOOD— Robert Stecker, 19, Hilbert, was injured in a spectacular auto accident here at 2:10 a.m. Sunday when the car in which he was riding left State 55-114.

Stecker was a passenger in a car driven by Thomas Kuehne, 19, also of Hilbert. According to Calumet County authorities, Kuehne fell asleep at the wheel of his car as it approached the top of the hill near Sherwood.

His car left the road, jumped the left side of the curb and traveled an additional 110 feet, hitting a sign post, a tractor and hay baler, pushing the latter through the wall of the Clarence Miller Implement Co. building.

The car was demolished. The driver escaped injury.

Stecker received numerous facial cuts and bruises and is in satisfactory condition at Calumet Memorial Hospital, Chilton.

U. S. Tuna Boats Seized by Peru

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Four U.S. tuna boats have been seized by Peru in a dispute over what constitutes territorial waters, an American Tuna Boat Association official has charged.

August Felando, general manager of the association, says the latest seizure was Sunday when a Peruvian destroyer ordered the fishing vessel, Hornet, of San Diego, to head for the Peruvian port of Chimbote.

The core of the dispute, says Felando, is that Peru claims offshore jurisdiction out to 200 miles. Felando maintains that under international law, the greatest distance that a nation may claim is 12 miles.

ABC Courts Favor of Younger Audiences

Network Aware of Success Formula; NBC Seems to Take Opposite View

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Broadcasting Company, highly conscious that much of its current success is due to its large audience of young people, makes special efforts to attract them.

On June 28 it will completely overhaul — with a new name, new characters, new viewpoint, even new title — one of its daytime serials, "Flame in the Wind" specifically to attract more young housewives.

When its "12 O'Clock High" returns next fall in an earlier time period it will have replaced its star — Robert Lansing playing a general — with Paul Burke playing a major. The switch was dictated by the network's theory that the added young viewers of the World War II drama would identify closer to a more boyish-looking officer of lesser rank.

On the other hand, NBC appears to be actively engaged in sloughing off some of its younger fans.

'Hullabaloo' Late'

Next week, for instance, it moves its early evening rock 'n' roll hour, "Hullabaloo," to the end of its Tuesday night prime-time schedule, a late hour for kids on the East and West Coasts.

Its most drastic switch comes next season when "The Man from U.N.C.L.E." is plucked from its popular early Monday evening spot and stuck in a 10 p.m. time period of Fridays.

Protest letters by the thousands are flooding the network and the MGM studios which produces the James Bondish series. Young viewers, particularly in the 7 to 12 age group, (the show's most avid fans) are complaining sadly that they are not allowed to stay up that late, even on Fridays.

Adult Protests

Not all the protests come from the kiddy audience, however. Among the outpouring is one, signed by 2,000 "UNCLE" fans complaining that Friday is a popular bowling night. One college fraternity reported angrily that it had already changed its meeting night so members wouldn't miss the show, but couldn't do it again.

The series, incidentally, is this season's big rags to riches show. After it made its debut last September opposite Red Skelton and "McHale's Navy" — both popular with the kids — it was pronounced a failure as its ratings hit close to the bottom of Nielsen's list and its principal sponsor wanted out. It was shifted into a Monday night spot receiving the most dramatic boost in ratings since "Bonanza" several years ago was taken out of the shadow of "Perry Mason."

Animals Arrive For Sunset Park

KIMBERLY — The first animals for the small zoo at Sunset Point Park arrived Friday and were viewed by hundreds of youngsters over the weekend.

Animals in the zoo include a fawn, two raccoon, two foxes and a Canadian goose. There is one cage remaining to house another animal, but it is not known what this will be. The animals were secured through the Conservation department and are of the type which can be released in fall and returned to their wild state without difficulty.

Huffy Customer Doesn't Approve Of Act of Mercy

CANTON, Ill. (AP) — The owner of a service station may be short one regular customer today because he took time to give Sophronia a shower.

Sophronia is a baby elephant.

The 87-degree heat was making Sophronia unhappy, so her driver, an employe of Mills Brothers Circus, pulled into Al Turl's service station Sunday.

"Would you give Sophronia a shower?" the driver asked Turl.

Turl was cooling off the circus star when his telephone jangled. He asked an assistant to answer the phone and have the caller wait.

The aide returned to tell Turl: "She got huffy and hung up."

"What did you say?" Turl asked.

"I just said you were out watering the elephant," the aide said.

CBS Probes New Kind of Campus Life

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 (Channel 2) — "Campus life ain't what it used to be" is the theme of The Berkeley Rebels, a CBS News Special, which takes an arresting look at the country's new breed of college students. Focus is on the University of California and four of its students whose attitudes on politics, morality and society have upset the usually peaceful terrain of Berkeley, Calif.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11) — "The Invaders" is one of Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea's most fantasy-fiction episodes. Our heroes' problem is what to do with a creature in a time capsule who has an "I.Q. of a genius" and a reptilian skin. Repeat

7-8 (Channel 4-5) — "The Fiddlesticks Affair" is a routine session for The Man From U.N.C.L.E. Solo and Illya try to break into a Thrush vault ably guarded by Ken Murray. Repeat

7:30-8 (Channel 2) — The Andy Griffith Show has a quiet, pastoral affair with a limited amount of excitement. Barney wants Andy and his best girl to have a day for themselves and volunteers to do their chores so they can go on a picnic. Repeat.

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — The Danny Thomas Show dusts off a lot of old burlesque slapstick bits and applies them to funny Pat Carroll, a girl who wants to get into show business. Repeat

Much to be Considered In Taking Sister's Pills

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My sister has given me a month's supply of pills, claiming they are safe to take after menopause. Not that I don't trust my sister, but I would like professional advice. I took about eight of the pills, but have stopped now until I hear from you. Did I do wrong? — A.P.

Dr. Molner

The pill you named is an excellent preparation containing estrogen (the female hormone) and I think that we can be rather sure that you haven't harmed yourself.

Nevertheless, I can't conscientiously tell you to continue taking them without the advice and follow-up of your doctor.

I'll admit that your doctor might very well tell you to go on taking these same pills, or some like them, but he wouldn't do it on any such flimsy basis as saying that they are "safe for anyone."

The first question is: Do you need them? Is there going to be any benefit to you?

Second, How much should you be taking?

Side Effects

Third: Suppose some side effects develop? Would you recognize them, and know what to do about them? Side effects (unwanted additional effects) from a medication are possible, for some people, from just about every known medication. They may be common or rare; may be mild or very severe, may be obvious or may develop subtly.

Your protection against side effects is what I referred to as "follow-up" by your doctor. He should examine you at occasional intervals to see whether any side effects are threatening to occur, whether the medication should be continued or might better be stopped because it is no longer needed, or to see whether your dosage should be changed. Passing around medicine that happens to suit one person is not a safe thing to do, because the medication may be entirely wrong for another person.

This isn't just my advice. It is also the law. The government insists that any medication of such potency must be distributed on prescription. The purpose of prescriptions? To make certain that a doctor is on guard to see that no harm can come from too much use of a drug, too long a continuation of it, or any unusual sensitivity to it.

Dear Dr. Molner: If a person in the family dies of cancer, what can be done with her beautiful clothes? Should they be dry cleaned, or washed and given to someone, or be burned? I would not want anyone else to get this disease. — S. A.

No, don't burn such clothing. Use it, or give it to someone to use. There is no danger. Cancer is not caused by germs.

Naturally the clothing should be dry cleaned or washed just for the sake of cleanliness, but not because it has anything to do with cancer.

Dear Dr. Molner: My son is nine years old and has one undescended testicle. I have heard about an operation to correct this, but am not decided whether this should be done. I would like your advice. — Mrs. B. P.

At the age of nine there is no necessity for deciding on an operation right now. Sometimes giving hormones will bring the undescended testicle down and surgery is not needed. If, after one or two years, this has not succeeded, then the operation is wise.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

It depends, of course. But the average American spends less than half of his after-taxes income for what he actually needs. The typical city family today spends only 48 per cent for such necessities as food, clothes and housing. The other 52 per cent goes for the things they want but do not actually need — more eating out, a nicer house, and more of life's pleasures and amenities. The United States is the first society in the world in which its people spend less for needs than wants.

Each man kills the thing he loves.

True —— False ——

True, in many instances. It was the Prohibitionists, not the "liquor interests," who killed a very promising temperance movement. Slavery was killed more by a slave-holding aristocracy than by the abolionists. Hitler, who tried to make Germany supreme, did more to harm it than any other man. Whether a cause be good or evil, it is its supporters, rather than its opponents, who are most likely to destroy it.

Insurance Plans, Stock Market Control Handy on Dark Days

BY SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — What are the bulwarks the government is counting upon to safeguard your personal economy as well as the nation's general one from the flash floods of bad news?

The increasingly serious conflict in Viet Nam, or jittery days in the stock market, or labor-management conflicts in basic industries can and do darken the front pages. But today Americans have much better odds of surmounting crises with a minimum of personal tragedy than did the citizens of 30 or so years ago.

These safeguards have been built up by business, by labor unions, as well as by the government.

Some things Americans did wrong in the past they can't do today. Example: they can't plunge in the stock market with just 10 per cent or so of cash for the going price of the stocks they fancy. So they can't be wiped out so fast when stock prices tumble after bad news, or unfounded rumors. And they have access to, if they care to take advantage of it, much more information about the affairs of corporations and banks than in the 1920s.

Insured Against Loss

If you have built up savings in banks or savings and loan associations, you are insured against loss to a degree that covers most such accounts.

If you have taken on a mortgage when buying your home, in many cases you have a government insurance policy on that, too. And the mortgage terms today call for repayments that build up your equity over a long period. The out-size, short-term mortgage with the threat of quick foreclosure is mostly a thing of the past.

Many personal loans and monthly payment plans carry life insurance as guarantees for your survivors, so that home or cars or appliances aren't repossessed when personal tragedy strikes.

The total of installment credit has risen to a record high. But the lenders say that in the vast majority of cases such debts are well protected by the income prospects of the borrowers.

And even the upward trend of this personal income, while never a 100 per cent sure thing, is better protected now than a generation or two earlier.

There are unemployment benefits for you if laid off in a temporary industrial lull. There are pension plans sponsored by management or by unions and Social Security for the elderly. There is insurance for many when bad health strikes. Medicare for the aged is just over the horizon.

Keep Income Rising

The government also is pledged now to try by its fiscal policies to keep incomes rising and employment as high as possible. Today the middle income class is strikingly larger than before World War II.

Business itself has added many safeguards for the economy beyond those the government has fashioned.

One is the training that management has received since the shock of the Great Depression of the 1930s. Much of the caution that has kept today's 52-month old economic expansion from becoming a risk-fraught boom is traceable to better judgment and business methods.

The economy now is spread wide over many endeavors. When one industry slows down, another may be going strong. When factories take a breather, the service industries may be enjoying better demand than ever.

A steady stream of new products, new methods, new goals comes from the growing programs of research and development. If one region has a setback, somewhere else in the nation men are busy getting ready for a try at the moon. And the new enterprises may be anxious to get and train men to reach their goals.

For Services They Have Rendered to society and for the honor they have brought to Lawrence University, John G. Strange, left, and Everett A. Bauman were awarded the Lawrence Alumni Distinguished Service Award at commencement exercises Sunday. Strange, a member of the class of 1932, is president of The Institute of Paper Chemistry, and Bauman, a member of the class of 1938, is public relations regional adviser for Esso Standard Eastern, Inc., in Manila, Philippine Republic.

Lawrence Cites Two Alumni for Service

John Strange, Everett Bauman Honored During Commencement

John G. Strange, president of The Institute of Paper Chemistry, and Everett A. Bauman, public relations regional adviser for Esso Standard Eastern, Inc., in Manila, Philippine Republic, received the Lawrence University Alumni Distinguished Service Awards from President Curtis W. Tarr during the university's 116th commencement exercises Sunday afternoon in the Memorial Chapel.

The men were presented to President Tarr for the award by H. C. Sperka, Neenah, alumni trustee.

Strange, who has been associated with The Institute since 1932, has twice served in government posts as an adviser for the pulp and paper industry; has served on various committees within the industry, and has done extensive study and writing in the field of multiple uses of water. He is a trustee of Lawrence University and Wayland Academy, Beaver Dam; a director of two companies and a bank, and has participated in many community projects.

Dedicated Life

His citation read: "You have dedicated your life to the work of furthering the exacting science and art of paper manufacturing and converting. As president of the Institute of Paper Chemistry, you head one of the world's outstanding research and educational institutions. The effectiveness of your labors has been self-evident as you have led in the medling process between the world of science and the world of business. Your continuing interest in the welfare of the community has been significent, and each organizatio you have so generously served has profited from your counsel. With insight and integrity you have brought complex problems into perspective which led to solutions both sound and just."

Founded Paper

Bauman, who began his career in South America in 1941, worked with the United Press in Buenos Aires and Caracas, Venezuela, before joining the public relations staff of Creole Petroleum Corp., the Venezuelan affiliate of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), in 1946. In Caracas, he founded an English-language newspaper, the Caracas YMCA and has done extensive work with the Boy Scouts and community development programs there. He is a member of several professional associations and is a member of the faculty at Universidad Central de Venezuela. In 1963, he was decorated with the Francisco de Miranda order by President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela for services rendered to that country as a foreigner.

"A deep concern for your fellow man has carried you down many paths of service to society," his citation read, "where the need arises for building a better community, for opening doors of opportunity to young people, for contributing knowledge and experience to the academic community; your talents, your time, your helpfulness have been offered without restriction. Your interest is truly international, as shown by your responsibilities in the United States, Venezuela, Spain, and now the Philippine Republic. You have been a leader, applying the best in American ideals and attitudes in those countries in which you have lived. A foreign country has bestowed its highest honor on you for your service. We now recognize you for the honor you have brought to your country and your university."

Sophomores to Freshmen

'Yale Course Critique' Reports From Inside

BY DON MEIKLE

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — If a Yale professor wants to know what his students really think of him as a teacher he can find out by buying a student publication called the "Yale Course Critique."

This 200-page volume is an inside-dope report from this year's sophomores to next year's freshmen and sophomores. But it also is read by faculty members.

A senior professor with a wide reputation as a scholar might find out from the critique that his undergraduate students think he is "stale."

A young woman instructor might discover that her all-male classes think she's "unbelievably sweet."

One example from the 1965 edition says a course "is invariably described as dull — 'boring with a capital B;' as one student put it homework counts little, is graded liberally."

Occasionally the editors are more critical of students than faculty.

Criticize Students

For instance:

"Mr. Cook — Asst. Prof. Robert M. Cook — attempts through his Sociology 20 course to fight the obsessive, grade-grubbing, antieducational mentality of many Yale students. Unfortunately, many enrollees do no more than a fraction of the reading."

The ability to make a course interesting and challenging, a personal interest in students, and a sense of humor seem to be the most appreciated qualities in Yale teachers.

Humor, or the lack of it, almost invariably draws comment. But a professor who gets carried away by his own anecdotes is likely to have his lectures called "irrelevant" or even "meaningless."

The student editors don't hesitate to turn up their noses at teachers who they think talk down to them, can be drawn off the subject, or are fooled by the parroting of pet phrases.

Yale's course critique is a money-making project of the Yale Daily News, the student newspaper. The 1965 edition, the most ambitious yet, sells for $1.95 a copy.

According to a Daily News editor, the critique has always been "pretty much a sophomore project" primarily designed to inform students who are new on campus.

A similar publication, "Confidential Guide to Courses," is published by the Harvard Crimson.

Reactions to these publications seem to fall into two categories.

One side says students aren't qualified to criticize the learned, experienced men on the faculty. The other side maintains that no one knows better than students whether they're learning anything.

The editors of Yale's course critique cautioned in their introduction that "it must be emphasized that the critique is by no means designed to be an academic bible; it is to be weighed against the opinions of professors, college deans, classmates, etc."

Although the Yale critique is entirely a student operation, it has an unofficial "adviser." Andrew Patterson Jr., associate professor of chemistry.

Patterson has been critical, but not hostile. He has charged that previous critiques have perhaps had plenty of "sharp and incisive writing," but were often ill informed and onesided. This year the student editors adopted some of his suggestions and circulated detailed questionnaires among students in each class so that a consensus, rather than one person's opinion, could be obtained.

"This is the first time they've actively tried to get a rounded opinion in each course," Patterson said.

He does not agree with those faculty members who completely ignore the critique nor those who, he said, "slavishly follow its lead."

"One of the troubles at Yale," Patterson said, "is that the faculty and students don't talk to each other enough.

"I would rather see them fight with each other than not communicate at all."

Patterson said he doesn't think Yale should be "a university in which the professors just lecture and the students just listen."

Use a Forked Tree Branch For a Race at a Picnic

BY CAPPY DICK

A Walking Branch race is fun to hold at a picnic You will need a dead, forked tree branch (Figure 1), stripped clean of twigs and leaves

Figure 2 shows a boy about to begin "walking" the forked branch the 100-foot distance of the race course. The stick is handled as if it were a pair of dividers in a mechanical drawing set, pivoting first on one side of the fork, then on the other as indicated by the arrows and dotted line in Fugure 2.

Walk the forked branch.

A racer is not allowed to "carry" the stick. It must be "walked" every inch of the way.

It is necessary to have a watch with a second hand so that each racer may be timed. When a racer has completed the course, the number of minutes and seconds he used in covering the distance should be written down Then another racer takes the forked branch and travels the course

The racer who covers the course in the least time is the winner of the race.

Foxes Beat C-Sox Twice, Play Booster Tilt Tonight

Mates Back Jankow With 14 Safeties

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Using a solid, 14-hit attack, the Fox Cities Foxes returned home Sunday afternoon and posted a 8-5 victory over Clinton in a Midwest League encounter.

Jim Jankow, who hurled a strong 5-hitter for the first eight innings picked up the win although he failed to weather a storm in the ninth and had to have relief help from Duane Janne.

The Foxes set out in good fashion as they pounded out 10 of their 14 base hits in the first three innings while building up a 5-2 lead. The victors added two more in the fifth and added a solo tally in the eighth for what appeared to be a comfortable 8-2 margin going into the ninth.

Far From Finished

Clinton was far from finished however as the C-Sox got one run back immediately when catcher Ed Herrmann led off with a home run clout over the right field fence. Jankow got Jeff Talbot to pop out to the first baseman. Dick Hickerson, but Bob Pearson came through with a single. Mickey Vandehey, a standout Wisconsin prep athlete the last few years, greeted reliefer Janne with a long double to right center and Pearson scored all the way from first.

Manager Billy DeMars tried to settle Janne down but Jim Steed singled to put runners at first and third. Pinch-hitter Bob Van Eps lofted a fly to center and Vandehey tagged up at third and scored after the catch with the third run of the inning. Jim Jedelsky walked to bring the potential tying run to the plate, but Dick Hurst flied to deep left to end the game.

The Foxes got off to a fast start in the first inning when Ken Gay opened with a single and scored on Hickerson's sharp double down the left field chalk line. After John Sepich famed, Jim Rouse cracked a single, his first of three in the game and Hickerson scored.

Three for Three

Rouse was the hitting star for the Foxes with three for three. He walked in his only other appearance.

A single by Ron Perez, a sacrifice by Jankow and a single by Gay gave the Foxes another run in the second. Two more counted in the third on consecutive hits by Rouse, Bob Connolly, Ray Woitkowski and Elmore Hill.

They added another pair in the fifth on singles by Rouse and Connolly, a Clinton error and a sacrifice fly by Hill. The final run cross the plate in the eighth when Perez was hit by a pitch, took second on a fielder's

'Dick Tracy' Skowron Bats Chisox Within One-Half Game of Lead

Chicago Nips Nats While Detroit Beats Twins, 5-4

BY MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

With Dick Tracy cruising at full speed, Chicago's gangbusters stand a fighting chance of breaking the monopoly in the American League.

Tracy, as Bill Skowron is known because of his winter occupation, handcuffed the Washington Senators 2-1 Sunday and steered the White Sox to within one-half game of first-place Minnesota.

Skowron tied the game with a home run in the seventh inning, then tripled across the winning run in the ninth.

The 34-year-old first baseman is in his first full season with the White Sox, having helped them to within one game of preventing the New York Yankees from capturing their fifth straight pennant last year.

Join Agency

After the grueling AL fight, Skowron and teammate Pete Ward went in for another kind of prevention. They joined a Chicago area detective agency.

Their primary assignment was selling the company's patrol service, but at times they also went on patrol duty, cruising around in a car complete with two-way radio hookup and flashing red light.

"When we first got the jobs," Ward related with a chuckle, "Moose wanted to go out and get himself a wrist radio, one of those gas-spraying fountain pens and a few other gimmicks. But I told him he was reading too many Dick Tracy comic strips.

"He was going to get some disguises, too, and even a few different false mustaches. However, I insisted he was ugly enough and, with those mustaches, he might even scare the good guys."

Skowron plans to return to his role of detective, but before he does he'd like to help the White Sox win the pennant. Right now he's hitting .269 and leads the team in runs batted in with 30 and home runs with seven.

In other AL games, Detroit edged Minnesota 5-4, New York blanked Los Angeles 3-0, Baltimore nipped Bost[illegible] 1-0 and Kansas City def[illegible]eveland 3-4 before losing 5

Streak Ended

Skowron's game-winning triple off Pete Richert followed Floyd Robinson's leadoff double. The first baseman's home run offset Don Lock's second-inning homer and ended Richert's string of 19 scoreless innings.

Hank Aguirre posted his seventh victory against two defeats although he needed ninth-inning relief aid from Mickey Lolich. Before he departed, though, Aguirre singled across the eventual deciding run in the seventh. Bob Allison's two-run homer in the Minnesota eighth made it close.

Pedro Ramos rescued Whitey Ford in the ninth inning and saved the Yankees' victory. Ford, now 6-6, permitted only one Angel as far as second base. The Yankees scored all of their runs in the fourth inning, two on a bases-loaded single by Hector Lopez.

John Orsino brought home Brooks Robinson with a sacrifice fly in the fifth for Baltimore's only run. Milt Pappas picked up his first triumph in nearly a month with one-pitch relief help from Stu Miller in the ninth. With two on and one out, Miller got Boston's Tony FREEDOM—A 4-run outburst in the fourth inning clinched at least a tie for the first-round title in the Fox River Valley Baseball League for Freedom here Sunday as Freedom downed Fond du Lac, 4-2.

The victory was the fifth straight for Freedom while Fond du Lac now has a 2-1 record. Freedom has only one more first-round game remaining.

Larry Huebner and Bob Kleinke hooked up in a good pitchers' duel, and both teams managed only a total of four base hits each.

Huebner, who has notched four of the five Freedom wins, struck out nine batters and walked three. Kleinke went seven innings before being lifted for a pinch-hitter and Jim Kalk finished up.

Hits Key Double

The big fourth for Freedom included a key 2-run double by Dick Zeratsky and a run scoring single by Dick Vande Wettering.

The only other hits for the victors included a single by Rog Gerrits and a double by Jim Vande Wettering.

Fond du Lac scored a pair in the second when Bob Felda walked. Bob Konen singled and both runners advanced on an infield out. Dick Oman came through with a single to score both men.

Janne Gains 7-2 Victory In Relief

BY TERRY GALVIN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Duane Janne, a virtual cinch for Fox Cities' "Fireman of the Year" honors, made his second relief appearance of the day in the sixth inning and blanked the Clinton C-Sox the rest of the way as the Foxes rolled to a 7-2 Midwest League conquest in the Sunday night game of a split doubleheader at Goodland Field.

The Billy DeMars-managed Fox Cities unit also won the afternoon affair, 8-5.

Post-Crescent Booster Night is on tap at Goodland today with festivities slated to commence at 6:30 p.m. The unique twin bill opens with a softball contest between the P-C staff writers and a team composed of Radio-TV personalities. The C-Sox and Foxes clash in the feature attraction at 8 p.m.

A batting contest, featuring the top three sluggers on the Clinton and Fox Cities squads, will also precede the regularly scheduled Foxes' contest. DeMars has selected Larry Connell (4-3) to hurl for the Foxes.

Hitless Ball

Janne, in picking up his fourth win without defeat this season, hurled hitless ball for 3 2-3 innings after starter Ted Miller allowed three hits and two runs before running into trouble again in the sixth.

The bespectacled, right-handed fireman also pitched 2-3 on an inning in the afternoon game, giving up his first earned run since May 25 against Dubuque.

Janne's impressive relief record now shows only four earned runs in 43 1-3 innings for a masterful 0.83 per-game average. He has fanned 46, walked only 16 and allowed a mere 28 hits on the season.

Fanned Four

Last night, the curve-balling portsider fanned four and issued one intentional walk, the only C-Sox man to reach base against him. In addition, it was Janne's single in the sixth inning that drove in the Foxes' last two markers.

With one out in the first inning, Clinton's Jim Vickers walked and stole second. He advanced to third on a fly-cut and scored on Jeff Talbott's single to right-center.

The Foxes gained the upper hand with a pair of runs in the fourth for a 2-1 margin. Jim Hickerson's bunt single (first hit off Clinton starter and loser Ken Murphy) and Jerry Harmon's single to left put runners on first and second. Both advanced on Jim Rouse's ground-out to first and, with two-out and a 3-2 count on Ray Woitkowski, were off and running when Woitkowski blooped a single to short right-center field.

Knotted Count at 2

Levy $750 Fine Against Wilt

NBA President Says Article Was Critical of League

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain, star center of the Philadelphia 76ers, has been fined $750 by National Basketball Association President Walter Kennedy because of a magazine article which appeared under Chamberlain's byline.

Chamberlain's name appeared last April over a story in Sports Illustrated titled "My Life in a Bush League." Kennedy said the article, critical of NBA owners and coaches, "contained many wholly inaccurate statements of fact, all of which drew conclusions from an erroneous premise."

Kennedy said that Chamberlain had told him on April 8 that he contemplated legal action against the magazine that made a public statement to that effect on April 9.

"However," the NBA chief added, "by this time it appears that no legal action will be taken. Therefore, I have levied a fine of $750 on Chamberlain."

Wausau Pair Shades Jabas And Strutz on 20th Hole

Weinkauf, Toepel Win NEWGA Title

WAUPACA—Chuck Weinkauf and John Toepel, of Wausau, won the Northeastern Wisconsin Golf Association best-ball tournament at the Waupaca Country Club Sunday by edging Don Jabas and Don Strutz, of Appleton Butte des Morts, in a pressure-filled 20-hole match.

Weinkauf and Toepel took the championship flight crown when Toepel dropped a 10-foot birdie putt on the 20th green.

The match was all even after 18 holes, and the teams halved the 19th. All four golfers were going for birdie putts on the 20th, but it was Toepel that dropped his to win the crown for the Wausau pair.

In the A flight, Tom Hadley and Russ Lakey, of Ridgeway, scored an easy 6-5 victory over Mick McDonald and Steve Johnson, of Rhinelander.

Champions also were crowned in three other flights. In the First Flight Gene Garvey and Bill Schleisner, of Butte des Morts were defeated by Jim Minkebiege and Gene Ploetz, of Fox Valley, Kaukauna, 1-up.

In the Second Flight, Tom Frawley and John Lindberg, of Butte des Morts, topped Monty Luka and Ray Doell, of Ridgeway, 4-3. The third flight saw Dick Sawyer and Dick Fieh, of Wisconsin Rapids, score a 4-2 victory over Pete and Gordon Culver, of New London for the title.

Braves Beat Cards, 4-2, Then Drop 12-2 Decision In Wild Second Contest

Milwaukee Plays White Sox in Exhibition Tonight

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Braves couldn't stand prosperity Sunday and split a doubleheader.

After downing the Cardinals 4-2 in the first game, they bowed 12-2 after giving up seven unearned runs in a wild fourth inning, losing their manager and battery via the ejection route.

Catcher Gene Oliver objected too strongly of an umpire's decision at home plate and was told the game would proceed without his services.

Manager Bobby Bragan and pitcher Hank Fischer were thumbed out in a wild scene which developed after Julian Javier of the Cardinals rounded third base and was confronted by Fischer. Third base umpire Augie Donatelli ruled obstruction and allowed a run to be racked up, thereby causing Bragan and Fischer great pain. Both charged Donatelli. Eddie Mathews restrained Fischer but Donatelli booted pitcher and manager out.

Down in Tangle

Dick Groat opened the Cardinal half of the fourth with a walk, went to second on an error and took third on a fly. St. Louis pitcher Bob Purkey bunted, and Fischer fielded it and threw home. Oliver and Groat wound down in tangle, and plate umpire Stan Landes called Groat safe.

Oliver rose from the ground but the ball rolled away and Jerry Buchek, on first, ran to third. Oliver was charged with an error for forgetting about the ball. After Oliver left the scene of action, Javier forced Purkey and Buchek scored.

Then Lou Brock doubled and Javier rounded third, resulting in the great debate.

Phil Niekro replaced Fischer on the mound. He hit Curt Flood with a pitched ball and gave up a walk and two singles before getting the side out.

Oliver's bases loaded single in the eighth inning of the opener scored two runs. Wade Blasingame, the winner, limited the Cardinals to four hits.

Bill White homered for one Cardinal run and Brock scored on an infield out after his triple.

Papermakers Edge Macs, 5-4

MENASHA — Little Chute-Kimberly kept its Fox River Valley League title hopes alive by edging the Menasha Macs, 5-4, Sunday afternoon. The victors have a 2-1 record while the Macs are 1-3.

Lefty Bill Knoedler, former Stevens Point Pacelli High School star, set the Menashans down with four hits. He struck out 10 and walked three.

The visitors collected eight hits off Pete Kaul, who whiffed three and issued six passes. Kaul also paced the Menasha offense with a 3-run homer.

Three in Second

Little Chute-Kimberly scored three runs in the second on successive singles by Tom Peerenboom, Jeff Vander Velden and Bob Arko and another hit by Art Wittman after Knoedler whiffed.

The winners built their lead to 4-0 in the third when Tom Peerenboom walked, went to third on Vander Velden's second hit and tallied on Arko's sacrifice fly.

The Macs were blanked on one hit until the fifth when Kaul reached base on a third strike, was wild-pitched to second and singled home by Russ Rusch.

Hammen Doubles

Floyd Hammen doubled home Wittman, who had walked, with the final Little Chute-Kimberly run in the sixth.

Bill Becker led off the Macs' seventh with a walk. Bill Gammey was safe on an error and then Kaul cleared the right center field fence for three runs.

The Macs had a baserunner on second in the eighth but went up and down in order in the ninth.

Mauch's Pep Talk Perks Up Gonzalez; Phils Blank Astros

Dodgers Hike League Lead With Doubleheader Sweep Over Mets

BY MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gene Mauch, the explosive Philadelphia manager, doesn't throw spare ribs any more. Now he conducts lecture sessions at 9:30 in the morning.

The subject of Mauch's dissertation Sunday was lackadaisical play. The object of Mauch's displeasure was outfielder Tony Gonzalez.

And the result of Mauch's disciplinary action was a homer, double and single by Gonzalez that carried the Phillies to a 5-0 victory over Houston for their fifth straight triumph, lifting them to the .500 level for the first time in almost a month.

Mauch, who has been known to throw spare ribs around the clubhouse when he's fuming, has kept his temper all season long while the Phillies have languished in the second division. But Saturday Mauch had enough of Gonzalez' play and pulled him out in the middle of the game.

Less Than Capabilities

Then Sunday, Mauch and Gonzalez had their chat for what the Philadelphia manager termed failure "to execute four plays much less than his capabilities."

"I think we now understand each other," Mauch said after the get-together.

"He was right," admitted Gonzalez. "It was my fault. I just go out now and do my best."

He did it right away, leading off the first with a homer, tacking on the other two hits and raising his average to .298 while providing the only support Chris Short needed in subduing the Astros on five hits.

After the game Mauch was asked if he would continue to platoon his players, one of the maneuvers that apparently ruffled Gonzalez' feelings.

"They (the Phillies) platooned themselves into first place for 150 games last year," was his reply.

And now with the same system the Phillies are showing signs of moving in the National League race with seven victories in their last nine games while hitting .500 for the first time since May 19.

Stretched Lead

The Los Angeles Dodgers, meanwhile, stretched their National League lead to 3½ games over Milwaukee, defeating the New York Mets 5-2 and 4-3 while the Braves split, beating St. Louis 4-2 before getting walloped 12-2 in a wild, rhubarb-punctuated second game.

Elsewhere, the Chicago Cubs rapped Cincinnati 9-7 before the Reds took the nightcap 7-0 and Pittsburgh edged San Francisco 2-1.

The Dodgers put the opener out of reach with a four-run fourth inning uprising keyed by Willie Davis' two-run single. Claude Osteen, tagged for Ron Swoboda's 13th homer, got the victory for a 5-6 record with ninth inning help from Bob Miller.

In the nightcap, the Dodgers overcame a 3-2 deficit in the ninth on a walk to Jim Gilliam, a sacrifice, Ron Fairly's run-scoring single and a double by Wally Moon that sent the Mets down to their 10th straight defeat.

Three-Run Homers

Rookie catcher Chris Krug and Ron Santo each hammered three-run homers while Billy Williams connected for a solo job in the Cubs' first game victory.

The Reds came back to take the nightcap behind the hitting of Frank Robinson, who drove in three runs with a double and single in support of Joey Jay's five-hit pitching.

Vern Law pitched a three-hitter for the Pirates, winning his fifth straight, and scored the winning run on Bill Virdon's seventh inning triple after collecting a single. Willie McCovey hit his 13th homer for the lone Giant run.

Bob Day Sets New Mile Mark

USTFF Meet Sees 11 Records Eclipsed In 2-Day Meet

BAKERSFIELD, Calif (AP) — Eleven records were posted today in the books of the U.S. Track and Field Federation — notably a 3:56.4, mark for the mile run set by Bob Day of UCLA in the windup of the USTFF's two-night Bakersfield meet.

Day not only broke the national collegiate mark, 3:56.9, set by Tom O'Hara of Loyola of Chicago in 1963, but also eclipsed the meet record of 4:02.2 by Cal Elmore of Wichita set in 1963.

Ed Dean of Notre Dame, 4:04.8, and Paul Schlicke, of Stanford, 4:06.4, chased the 20-year-old UCLA junior to the tape. Day's fractions were 58.5, 1:57 flat and 2:56.5.

Cheered Event

The crowd of around 7,500 at Bakersfield Memorial Stadium cheered the Saturday night event.

Villanova's two-mile relay team of James Orr, Al Adams, Tom Sullivan and Noel Carroll upset Oklahoma State's foursome of Jimmie Metcalf, John Perry, Tom von Ruden and Dave Perry.

Villanova was timed in 7:20.4 and Oklahoma State, which had hoped not only to win to break its own pending world record of 7:18.4, settled for 7:20.7.

It was virtually a dead heat through the first three segments and it was Carroll, running last, who had the winning burst of speed. He won by about two yards.

Other meet records set in the two nights were in the hammer throw, discus, 220 and 440 dashes, 440 hurdles, 120 high hurdles, high jump, triple jump, and the three and six-mile runs.

Jitter's Bows In Tourney Finals, 5 to 4

TWO RIVERS—The 616 Club of Green Bay won the championship of the Two Rivers softball tournament by nipping Jitter's Bar of Menasha, 5-4, Sunday night.

Green Bay broke a 4-all tie with a run in the last of the third. Tom Boettcher was the losing pitcher.

Frank & Pat's Pizza of Neenah took third place by stopping Hersey's Bar of Two Rivers, 13-2, on Len Adam's 3-hitter. He had a perfect game for five innings.

Jitter's downed Hershey's, 6-5, in the semi-finals while Frank and Pat's dropped a 4-0 verdict to the 616 Club on Fred Fels' 2-hitter.

In quarter-final play, Jitter's turned back Taus, 8-7, when Dick Wahlgren homered in the top of the eighth, and Frank and Pat's edged the Kaukauna Eagles, 8-7, on Dave Thomsen's 2-run homer in the top of the seventh.

Manitowoc Edges TR in 13 Innings

MANITOWOC — John Glysch singled, stole second and scored on Dave Brandl's single to give Manitowoc a 5-4 victory over Two Rivers in a Fox River Valley Baseball League game Sunday that went 13 innings.

Dan Sikes Has His Eyes Closed and looks as though he might be praying as his 35-foot birdie putt drops into the cup on the 18th hole, bringing him the $25,000 top prize in the Cleveland Open Golf Tournament Sunday. It took the pressure putt to edge defending champion Tony Lema by one stroke in the 72-hole test. Sikes totaled 272, 12-under par for the route. (AP Wirephoto)

Braves, Cards Both Happy

Gene Oliver Ejected Twice in One Inning

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Both Milwaukee and the St. Louis Cardinals went away happy Sunday from a bitter rhubarb in which catcher Gene Oliver of the Braves was ejected twice in one inning, and the Cardinals lodged a protest.

Milwaukee Manager Bobby Bragan, who also was booted out with pitcher Hank Fischer in the inning, was pleased because his second place club won three of four games with the Cardinals, including a 4-2 victory in the first game of Sunday's doubleheader.

Cardinal Manager Red Schoendienst was happy because his team won the rhubarb-flavored nightcap, 12-2, getting 15 hits and — Schoendienst hoped—cracking a slump.

"I hope the team gets a lift out of this," Schoendienst said. "All the balls were falling in there today. I think everybody loosened up."

The victory was only the fourth in 18 games for the Cardinals. Hits were painfully scarce until the second game explosion Sunday.

Falling in There

The fourth inning of Sunday's second game was a scorekeeper's nightmare. The first rhubarb started with a play at the plate in which umpire Stan Landes called St Louis's Dick Groat safe.

Brave catcher Gene Oliver leaped to an argument with Landes, letting the ball roll into the dust while Cardinal Jerry Buchek trotted from first to third. Oliver was charged with an error for that.

Pitches Mitt

Oliver was thown out and pitched his mitt high into the air. But he went to the dugout, donned his catcher's mask, and returned to the field.

Landes walked back to the plate to resume the game, looked at Oliver, did a double take, and threw the catcher out again.

Then Schoendienst set up a beef, contending Bragan had gone to the mound twice in the same inning and should be forced to relieve pitcher Fischer. Landes wouldn't allow this and Schoendienst played the game under protest.

Two plays later, Lou Brock doubled to right and Cardinal Julian Javier bumped into Fischer as he rounded third. Javier was out at home but umpire Augie Donatelli allowed the run, explaining Fischer had obstructed Javier.

Big Rhubarb

Then came the big rhubarb in which Fischer and Bragan were tossed out.

"I saw him coming at me and tried to move to my left," Fischer said after the game. "He stuck his elbow out and went out of his way to get me, and the ump said I ran into him."

Javier had another version. "I make my turn at third a little wide," he said. "I was just trying to get home and he (Fischer) was in my way. He didn't do it deliberately."

Burlington '9' Retains Slim Midwest Lead

Burlington gained a split of a twin bill at Wisconsin Rapids Sunday to remain in possession of the top spot in the Midwest Baseball League. The Bees won the opener, 5-4, and dropped the nightcap, 8-7.

Runnerup Decatur, one game behind the Bees, blanked Waterloo, 6-0, while third place Quincy was shut out by Dubuque, 4-0. Cedar Rapids maintained a firm grip on fourth place with a 6-4 win over Quad Cities.

35-Foot Putt On Final Hole Wins for Sikes

Dan Closes With 66 To Edge Tony Lema By 1 at Cleveland

BY HAL PARIS

CLEVELAND (AP) — Easy going Dan Sikes knew what he was doing when he rolled in a 35-foot putt on the final hole to capture the $135,000 Cleveland Open Golf Championship.

"I had to make that putt ... who wants to play off with Tony Lema?" the rangy Sikes quipped after he whipped Champagne Tony by one stroke Sunday.

The end came dramatically when Sikes, who hadn't won a tournament since the Doral, Fla., Open in 1963, sank his pressure putt from the edge of the 18th green.

It was his fifth birdie of the round and gave him a five-under par 66 on the Highland Park 6,821-yard layout.

Sikes, who started the final round three strokes back of the 31-year-old Lema, finished with a 72-hole total of 272 — 12 strokes under par.

Great Comeback

It was a great comeback for the 34-year-old Sikes, a non-practicing attorney, whose best previous effort this year was a second place finish in the Los Angeles Open.

"The putt was about 35 feet but it looked like 100. I thought for a second it would bounce out," Sikes said.

Lema, who failed in his bid to win a second straight Cleveland Open, also lost the $25,000 first prize, biggest purse on the tour this year.

Lema, who carded a 70, said "I took a big cut in pay." He was referring to the $20,000 he won last Sunday in the Buick Open. Second place here was worth $13,000 and padded the Californian's official payroll to $50,164, second only to Jack Nicklaus.

Sikes, 12th leading money winner going into the tournament, jumped all the way to third and now has pocketed $48,029.

Australia's Bruce Devlin, a consistent money-winner, kept the pressure on the leaders right to the end with a sizzling 65, best round of the tournament.

The 27-year-old Devlin, who putted brilliantly, started the day six strokes off the pace and wound up third with a 274, good for $9,000.

Bert Weaver's 71 gave him 279 for fourth place while Mike Souchak, Julius Boros, Dick Sikes and Tommy Aaron deadlocked for fifth with 280s.

Other top finishers included Bob Rosburg with a 281 and Arnold Palmer, Randy Glover, Billy Maxwell and Gordon Jones with 282s.

PGA champion Bobby Nichols, who barely survived the halfway cut, and Bruce Crampton, the only triple winner on the tour, posted 284s.

Both Sikes and Lema left almost immediately for St Louis to play in the U.S. Open this week.

Asked if he planned to change any phases of his game, Lema replied

"No. I'll just keep playing with what I have."

Arizona State Posts 2-1 Win Over Buckeyes

Cops School's First College World Title; Ends Season at 53-8

OMAHA (AP) — Sal Bando, Doug Nurnberg and Rick Monday were the top names in Arizona State's 2-1 victory over Ohio State for the NCAA baseball championship, but Coach Bobby Winkles said "don't forget that little guy, Luis Lagunas."

Bando hammered a double and triple, led the tourney in hitting at .480, set a bunch of records and was voted most outstanding player. Nurnberg turned in his fourth straight shutout relief job in the series. He stopped the Big Ten champs in a bases-loaded, none-out situation.

Monday showed why he was the No. 1 draft choice by smashing a home run, his second of the series and 11th of the season, and by turning in another topnotch defensive game in center field.

Lagunas? He was 0-for-2 in the box score.

"Lagunas batted in the winning run, you know," said Winkles. "He got the fly we needed after Bando's triple. He's pulled us through all year in the clutch, led the nation in RBI."

Lagunas, catchers Ray Stadler and Tony Alesci and pitchers Jim Merrick and Ron Leas are graduating seniors at ASU. Monday, Nurnberg and Don Dyer are sophomores. Bando, Jim Gretta, Jan Kleinman and John Pavlik are juniors.

"I'm not one to stand in the way of a top prospect who can get good money," Winkles said. "But I sure hope I can keep some of them."

Six players from ASU's outstanding 44-7 team in 1964 signed pro contracts, but the Sun Devils came back with a 53-8 record, the school's first college World Series crown and the first for District 7.

ASU's 53 victories is an NCAA record. Ohio State finished 30-12.

Clintonville '9' Triumphs Over Appleton East

Bob Korb led the victors with three hits. Marshall Conradt contributed a pair of doubles while L. Steveson, Don Thompson and Jack Benot also chipped in with two hits apiece.

Gene Jack led the East offense with a pair of triples. "Busby" Graff also had two hits. The only other extra-base blow was a double by Mark Tepper.

There Is A Difference In Wheel Balancing!
Balancing of wheels is a necessity on all late-model ball joint cars, but there is a big difference in balancing machines and the way wheels are balanced.
Static and Dynamic imbalance is present in all wheels. Bubble balancers and "on the car" balancers can correct static imbalance. Off the car spinning balancers can correct both static and dynamic imbalance.
Why pay for half a wheel balance job when we will give you complete static and dynamic balancing for the same price. You get more at Roehl's Bee Line because we balance the wheel, tire, and hub and drum on the front wheels. Everything that turns is precision balanced to make your car drive and ride smoothly.

Jim Clark Takes World Driving Lead

FRANCORCHAMPS, Belgium (AP) — Jim Clark of Scotland, winner of the Indianapolis 500-mile race two weeks ago, drove his Lotus to a clear-cut victory in the European Grand Prix Sunday and took the lead for the world driving championship.

Clark finished the 32-lap, 279.7-mile race with a margin of nearly one minute over Jackie Stewart of Britain, who drove a BRM. Bruce McLaren of New Zealand, in a Cooper, was second and Jack Brabham of Australia, in a Brabham, finished fourth. Both were a lap behind Clark.

Following them were Graham Hill of Britain, BRM; Ritchie Ginther, Granada Hills, Calif., Honda; and Mike Spence, Britain, Lotus.

It was the third race of the year counting toward the world driving championship and the second won by Clark, giving him 18 points toward the title. Graham Hill is second in the drivers' race.

Showers fell during the race but the wet track didn't slow Clark. He turned the 24th lap at a speed of 124.715 miles per hour and averaged 117.150 m.p.h. for the full distance. His time was 2:23:34.8, and Stewart's was 2:24:19.6.

A Lotus driven by Richard Atwood of Britain caught fire on the 27th lap but the driver jumped out uninjured. John Surtees of Britain dropped out on the sixth lap when his Ferrari had engine trouble and Ronnie Bucknum, American driver of a second Japanese Honda, broke down on the 10th lap.

6-8 Basketball Ace to Enroll At Marquette

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jim Bailey, 6-foot-8 basketball center from Florrisant, Mo., sought by 32 colleges and universities, has accepted an athletic scholarship at Marquette University and will enroll in the fall.

Coach Al McGuire said Saturday Bailey is the first standout high school center regarded as a top college prospect to be recruited by Marquette in 10 years. The last one was Mike Moran who started in the fall of 1955 and became the Warriors' No. 2 all-time scorer with 1,356 points.

Bailey, a 230-pounder, scored 525 points as a senior at Florrisant's McClure High School last season. He averaged 24 points and 13 rebounds a game and hit a high of 37 points against University City.

single Mickey Vandehey's double in the fourth was the only other hit off Foxes' slants.

The Foxes uncorked a 5-run rally in the sixth to wrap up the verdict. Harmon walked and Rouse survived on a throwing error by second sacker Don Hurst. An intentional pass to Bob Connolly jammed the sacks. Wotkowski drove home his third run of the game with a line single to center. Ron Perez plated a pair with a double to left-center. Janne's 2-run single put the lid on the night's scoring.

The rest was up to Janne and he accommodated the shivering 352 onlookers by setting the C-Sox down in order in the last three innings.

Susie Maxwell's 69 Garners Women's Western Golf Title

CHICAGO (AP) — They're calling blonde Susie Maxwell, "Susie the Charger."

It's because of the way she took charge of the 36th annual Women's Western Golf Tournament Sunday.

Susie, 23, charged past Mrs Marlene Hagge the third round leader, with a final round of 69, for a 72-hole medal of 290, the best score ever turned in a W.W.G.A. event.

Mrs. Hagge, of Pensacola, Fla., who led Miss Maxwell, of Tulsa, Okla., by two strokes before the final round just shrugged her shoulders at the end of the day and asked.

"How in the heck do you better a 69? Anybody who shoots that well deserves to win."

Susie, who nailed down $1,500, blistered the front nine with a four under par 33. Mrs. Hagge encountered putting trouble and negotiated the front nine in 36, one over regulation.

Mrs. Hagge, who wound up with $1,200, finished with a 74 for a 293.

In third spot and winner of $1,000 in the $10,000 event, was Sandra Haynie, a 22-year-old Longview, Tex., native. Miss Haynie had a final round of 72 and a 297 total.

In fourth was Mary Mills of Ocean Springs, Miss., with 301. Next came defending champion Kathy Whitworth of Dallas with a 304.

Miss Maxwell whose 1965 earnings soared to $4,772, said "I guess I stopped being nervous and decided to take charge once and for all."

She birdied four of the first seven holes and as she passed Mrs. Hagge, who was behind her she said..

"This is my day."

Mrs. Hagge set the stage for Susie's new title when she said "That girl's a real tiger. She's a charger."

Your Money's Worth

Minority Distressed About Silver-Coin Issue

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Minutes after President Johnson asked Congress to eliminate silver from U. S. dimes and quarters and to slash the silver content of half-dollars, I informally polled friends with the question: "What do you think of it?"

A surprising percentage of the answers indicates indifference to the administration's long-awaited decision to make the first complete change in our coinage in 173 years. Typical remark of this group : "I'd rather have something 'behind' our coins, but as long as they'll buy things, I don't care."

But and important minority is distressed. Typical remark of this group: "Money should look and feel like money and should be worth something. I don't like the idea of cheap tokens for coins." Formally expressing the reaction of this minority is the American Mining Congress, which insists "intrinsic value" in our coins is "necessary to confidence in our monetary system at home and abroad."

Facts On Changeover

Here are vital facts about this historic changeover.

—The new "sandwich" coins of cupro-nickel with a copper filling will look and feel very much like today's coins. They will have a reddish edge and will be slightly less shiny. But they'll be the same sizes, carry the same designs and will wear as well.

—The new coins will buy as much in goods and services as the old ones and, starting next year, both the new and old coins will circulate side by side for many years. Behind our tens of billions in paper money and coins today is only a token fraction in precious metals, for the tie between our currency and precious metals was cut long ago. Our money is backed by the might of the U. S. economy, is a convenient medium of exchange designed to buy goods and services in the marketplace Compared to the value of these goods and services, a pinch of silver in a coin is nonsense.

Encourage Hoarding

The very fact that the "worth" of today's coins is geared to the price of silver has only encouraged hoarders. A vast majority of the 264 million Kennedy 50 cent pieces has disappeared from circulation—along with 480 million silver dollars and uncounted coins of other denominations.

—The nation's millions of vending machines will "accept" the new coins and there will be no need for remodeling the machines.

—The only nations left which use any appreciable totals of silver in coinage are Canada and Switzerland. Canada probably will soon substitute another metal for silver in all coins except the "prestige" silver dollar. Last December Mexico, the world's largest producer of silver, announced that the peso—its last silver coin—is being withdrawn from circulation

—The background for our decision to shift to silverless coins is easily dramatized Demands for coins have been skyrocketing Our mints are now producing coins at an annual rate of nine billion, double last year's rate. In fiscal 1965, just the Treasury's need for silver in coins amounted to more than the entire free world's production. The Treasury's silver reserves have dwindled to a mere two-year supply Meanwhile, industry's needs for silver have been rising relentlessly.

Violates Concept

"The use in coinage of a metal in short supply," states John B Stevens, senior vice president of the International Silver Co., "violates every concept of a proper medium of exchange."

"The necessity of intrinsic value in subsidiary coins is a myth," adds Sinclair Weeks, president of the Silver Users Association. "The silver content varies with the market price of silver. A 50 cent piece now contains silver worth 47 cents, but when the market price was 24 cents, silver in this same coin was worth 8 cents. This did not impair its value as a medium of exchange."

"We simply have no choice but to turn to other metals," sums up Robert A. Wallace, assistant secretary of the Treasury.

State Capitol To be Officially Dedicated July 17

MADISON (AP)—For 48 years "Miss Forward," the 15-foot statue atop the State Capitol's granite dome, has watched over a building that has never been dedicated.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles' office announced today that the Capitol constructed from 1906-17, would be dedicated officially July 17 as part of restoration projects that will not be completed until the fall.

A governor's aide theorized that the need to move into each wing of the Capitol immediately after its construction was the reason the building had never been dedicated. A fire had destroyed most of the Capitol in 1904.

The exterior of the 285.9 foot Capitol, just a few inches shorter than the Capitol dome in Washington, recently was cleaned, restoring the brilliant whiteness of the Bethel Vermont granite.

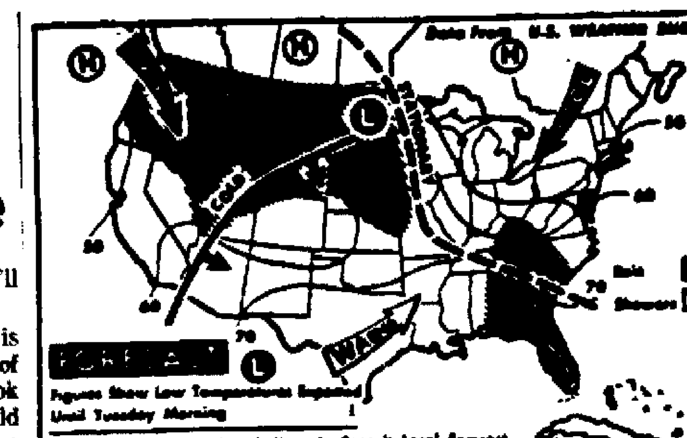

Other projects included in the restoration are a $22,000 landscaping project, rewiring of the electrical system and remodeling the assembly chambers and and legislative offices

Heavy Rain Soaks South, Middle West

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy rain continued soaking parts of the South and Midwest today while the Northeast experienced another form of discomfort — unseasonably low temperatures.

Meridian, Miss., reported 1.57 inches of rain in six hours ending at 1 a m. Rich Hill, in west-central Missouri, was doused with a 2.2-inch downpour in 45 minutes Sunday night

While rain was falling in areas from South Dakota to the East Coast, a severe hail storm struck Broadus in southeastern Montana inflicting damage estimated at $100,000

Windows Shattered

A Broadus insurance agent estimated 75 per cent of all windows in the community facing west were shattered. Hailstones as big as golf balls pelted the town for half an hour.

Crops in surrounding areas were beaten to the ground.

A funnel cloud was sighted 20 miles southeast of Limon, Colo., in the eastern part of the state.

Rain and cold temperatures were reported this morning in New England. Lows ranged down to the 40s as far south as West Virginia.

Cool temperatures also prevailed in the Northwest, with rain falling from northern California to Washington State

Quiet Year in Washington

Congress Amiable With Presidential Requests

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is a strange year in Washington.

The customary bickering, bellowing and conflict have been absent because Congress, with its heavy Democratic majorities, has gone along amiably with President Johnson's requests and pressures.

This alone would make 1965 unusual but the comparative stillness spreads further than that.

There has been very little sense of American action, or leadership, except in the Dominican Republic and Viet Nam where the United States has directly intervened.

Those two situations, in which the Johnson administration has been roundly criticized by many at home and abroad, might seem enough to occupy the President's time.

Many Activities

But he has found time for speechmaking and other White House activities.

Actually, this is not the first Johnson year in which American foreign participation has been pushed into the background. It was the same in 1964 when Johnson concentrated on domestic affairs and getting elected.

Yet, in the two foreign problems where the United States has put most of its effort — the Dominican and the Vietnamese — the picture isn't clear and the solution is not in sight.

The Dominican revolution is far from settled. Where the United States is going in Viet Nam isn't clear at all, and Johnson isn't doing much to explain it.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is going to start an inquiry into the American role in the Dominican Republic but not Viet Nam.

Unstable Government

In Viet Nam over the weekend the United States, once again, was confronted with the most continuing embarrassment of its long involvement there: the instability of the South Vietnamese government.

The United States has made a great point of insisting it is helping the South Vietnamese at the request of its government. But the question is being asked: What government?

South Viet Nam has had eight different governments in 20 months. The last one gave up several days ago when the president and premier resigned after four months in office.

Now the problem is to get another one which may last a while, and this time will it probably be all military, which means the South Vietnamese have had no voice in choosing it. So it will not be an elected government.

Unpleasant Question

Out of this repeated demonstration of lack of governmental stability comes the unpleasant question:

If the Americans do crush the Communist guerrillas, will the South Vietnamese government be any more stable than all those that proceded it, or will it collapse in chaos and civil war, undoing all the American effort?

But this is not the only uncertainty about events there.

It is generally assumed American involvement will be greater. No other conclusion is reasonable in view of the continuing American military buildup.

In the end the United States may be doing most, if not all, of the fighting for a people who seem ill-equipped to govern themselves, and if that happens the next question is inevitable:

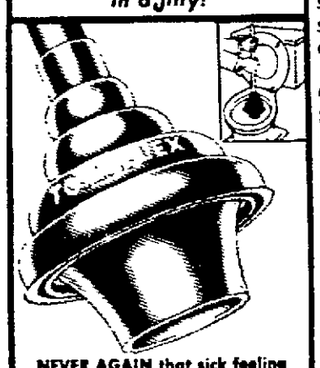

Will the North Vietnamese then send in their army, and the Red Chinese their "volunteers," as they did in Korea, to help the guerrillas. If they do, the United States will be in full-scale land war in Asia again.

ONLY A FEW MORE DAYS LEFT! LIMITED ENROLLMENT PERIOD ENDS JUNE 21, 1965

Now...for people over 40 only—

A group of doctors has created a remarkable new health plan just for you!

This valuable protection for the "danger years" ahead pays extra cash direct to you when you are hospitalized and—for the very first time—here is a Plan that actually pays money to help keep you well!

If you are over 40, you can qualify for the new 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN, if you mail your Application no later than Midnight, June 21, 1965—and you can enroll for only $1.00!

This, surely, is among the greatest values, as well as the most unusual health insurance program, ever offered to men and women over 40! Think of it. Regardless of your age—and no matter what the state of your health, you can now get the valuable "extra" health protection you've wanted at the very time when you are most apt to need it...all at a cost substantially less than you might expect!

How the 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN Differs from Ordinary Health Insurance

The 40-PLUS Benefit Plan has been created by an insurance company run by doctors, the Physicians Mutual Insurance Company, which has specialized in health and accident protection for physicians, surgeons and dentists exclusively for more than 60 years. Now this fine old "doctors company" offers a wonderful new health plan to men and women over 40! And you may enroll during this Limited Enrollment Period—without having to see a company representative or answer any health questions!

In short, 40-PLUS will give you coverage regardless of your age, occupation or the condition of your health. But you surely realize that regular check-ups unquestionably help you avoid serious diseases and, frequently, prolong life. That is why 40-PLUS, unlike other health insurance plans, pays your doctor up to $10 annually to encourage you to take advantage of this invaluable service—if you care to do so.

The doctors at Physicians Mutual also realize that you could be struck down by an accident or a sudden illness no matter how often you see your doctor or how careful you are. During the dangerous "after 40" years, particularly, you may require hospitalization at any time. That's why the program also includes valuable cash benefits.

How the Plan "Pays Off" in Time of Need

Here's how this valuable protection "pays off" in your time of need: $100 a week ($14.28 a day) will be paid directly to you from the very first day of hospital confinement, for as long as 52 weeks, each time you are hospitalized for a new sickness or accident! You get paid for every day you are hospitalized, even if you are in the hospital for only a single day—up to as much as $5200 for a full year! And even if you are hospitalized for a full year and have received your full $5200 in benefits, if you should be so unfortunate as to be hospitalized again—you are still entitled to all benefits all over again, as long as you have been out of the hospital for at least six months between hospital confinements.

Of course, like most people over 40, you probably have some hospital insurance. But, as everyone knows, even the most complete hospital insurance simply doesn't cover everything. The fact is, you need more protection.

But now that you're over 40, now that you've entered the "dangerous years," it may be difficult to obtain the extra protection you need at a price you can afford—or, because of the condition of your health, you may not be able to obtain it at any price!

That's why the new 40-PLUS Benefit Plan is so important to you—it brings you the hard-to-obtain "over 40" protection you need, at remarkably low rates, regardless of the condition of your health! For only pennies a day, 40-PLUS will give you cash to help fill the "financial gap" probably not covered by your present health insurance.

And remember this—even if your basic hospital expenses are covered by your present insurance, you'll still need help—with all your regular household expenses!

Think for a moment—if you're a husband, father and breadwinner, and you're suddenly hospitalized, what happens? Your income stops. Your expenses go up. Even if you have some kind of "salary insurance," it probably won't come close to replacing your full-time pay. It's quite likely that you and your family will never fully recover the tremendous financial loss!

If you're a wife, mother and homemaker, and are suddenly hospitalized, what happens? Who will look after your family, see that the children get hot meals, are properly clothed? Who will do the laundry, the marketing, the cleaning? Your husband may lose time from his job ...friends and relatives may have to help out temporarily ...you may even have to hire full-time domestic help! Everything will be upset. Debts may be incurred, savings may be lost—worse still, peace of mind may be shattered, and even recovery can be seriously delayed!

But with the exclusive two-way protection 40-PLUS offers, you can now stop worrying.

Actually, important as all of these benefits are, they are far from the only advantages you can now enjoy...if you act before the enrollment deadline.

For example:

Benefits Tax-Free—Can't Be Reduced

For as long as you live and continue to pay your premiums, we will never cancel or refuse to renew your policy for health reasons—and we guarantee that we will never cancel, modify or terminate your policy unless we decline renewal on all policies of this type in your entire state. Furthermore, your benefits will never be reduced—and all your benefits are tax-free!

Carry Any Other Insurance You Want

Yes, the 40-PLUS Benefit Plan pays you in addition to any other health insurance you carry, whether individual or group!

Few Limitations

You will be protected against every kind of covered accident, sickness or operation that may hospitalize you while your policy is in force—with the usual exceptions: war, military service, mental disorder, confinement in a nursing home or in any state or federal government hospital, or if something happens "on-the-job" and is covered by Workmen's Compensation or Employers Liability Laws. Important: if you have had in the past the kind of chronic ailment not usually covered by health insurance policies, you will even be covered for these conditions under the 40-PLUS Benefit Plan, after your policy has been continuously in force for two years.

Surprisingly Low Cost

With these wonderful "keep well" and "get better" benefits, you might expect 40-PLUS to cost much more than other health plans—but, in fact, it costs considerably less than you might expect! Only $5.95 a month from age 40 through age 64—only $6.95 a month when you are 65 or over—no additional premiums can ever be assessed—and, regardless of your age, you can enroll for only $1.00!

A Respected Company

Equally important as the exceptional value, the low cost, the ease of enrollment and the high benefits offered by the 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN...is this vital fact: Your policy is backed by the resources, integrity and reputation of the Physicians Mutual Insurance Company, "the doctors company," specializing in health and accident protection for physicians, surgeons and dentists all across America, for more than 60 years. Doctors right in your own community know about us and may actually be insured by Physicians Mutual. (If this is the first you have heard of Physicians Mutual, it's probably because this is one of the very few times Physicians Mutual has made its health insurance protection available to the general public.) Serving policy holders throughout the United States direct by mail, Physicians Mutual has its headquarters in Omaha, Nebraska, and is licensed and incorporated in that state. Its Board of Directors is composed entirely of respected members of the medical, dental and insurance professions.

How Can We Do It?

At this point, you may be asking yourself, "How can they offer so much for so little?"

The question is a sensible one; but the answer makes good sense, too. By encouraging our members to see their doctors for routine check-ups each year...we hope to prevent the need for hospitalization in the case of a number of policy holders. This, naturally, should effect substantial savings—savings we share with you in the form of lower premiums.

In addition, we have lower sales costs. 40-PLUS is a mass enrollment plan. And all business is conducted directly between you and the company by mail. No salesmen are used. There are no costly investigations or any extra fees for you to pay. It all adds up to real savings we share with you by giving you top protection at lower cost.

Easy to Enroll—No Health Questions Asked—No Salesman Will Call!

Simply fill out the short Application below and mail it with $1.00 for your first month's coverage! We will issue your 40-PLUS Benefit Policy (Form P302 series) immediately—the same day your Application is received. This automatically puts the policy in force insofar as accidents are concerned. After your policy is in force for 30 days you are covered for sicknesses which begin thereafter. Along with your policy, you will receive a simple, easy-to-use Claim Form—should you at any time need your benefits, you can be sure that your claim will be given "top priority" treatment. In addition, we'll see to it that you receive special forms at the end of each year to take to your doctor for your examination, so that he can give you your check-up within 60 days.

When you receive your policy, you'll see that it is direct, honest, easy-to-understand. But—and please note this carefully—if for any reason you decide you don't want your policy, you may return it in 10 days and we will promptly refund your dollar!

Don't Wait Until the Deadline to Enroll!

Remember the sooner we receive your Application, the sooner 40-PLUS will cover you! So it's best you fill out and return your Application now, before the deadline date arrives. (Two Applications are provided below so that husbands and wives may both enroll. In that case, be sure to enclose $1.00 for each Application.)

So, won't you take the necessary minute or two—today—and return your Application together with the dollar required to put it into effect? Your Application must be postmarked before midnight of June 21, 1965, or it cannot be accepted. Better mail your Application today.

17 Important Questions Answered

ABOUT THE NEW 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN

The New Plan That Pays You Cash When You Are Hospitalized—Plus "Extra" Benefits To Help Keep You Well

1. What is the 40 PLUS BENEFIT PLAN, and how can it help me?
The 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN pays you $100 a week—as much as $5200 in a year—when you are hospitalized. In addition, 40-PLUS pays your own doctor up to $10 every year towards your routine physical check-up, to help keep you well.

2. Why are the premiums in the 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN so low—are there fewer benefits?
With the 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN, you actually get more benefits—at lower cost. Because this is a mass enrollment plan—and no salesmen are used—our volume is higher and our sales cost is lower.

3. Why do I need the 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN in addition to my regular health insurance?
Probably your present hospital insurance won't cover all your hospital expenses. But even if it does, you will still need help to pay all your regular household expenses while you are hospitalized.

4. Must I see a salesman or answer health questions to qualify?
No. The only qualification is that you must be over 40—even senior citizens over 65 are welcome.

5. What if I have had a health problem that may occur again?
Pre-existing conditions are covered after your policy has been continuously in force for two years.

6. Can I drop out at any time? Can you drop me?
No matter how many claims you make or how much you collect, we will never cancel or refuse to renew your policy for health reasons—for as long as you live. We guarantee that we will never cancel, modify or terminate your policy unless we decline renewal on all policies of this type in your entire state. You, of course can drop your policy on any renewal date.

7. Will my claims be handled promptly?
Yes. With your policy, you will receive a simple, easy-to-use Claim Form. Your claims will be processed quickly and your checks will be sent directly to you.

8. If I become hospitalized, when do my benefits begin?
$100 a week ($14.28 a day) will be paid directly to you from the very first day of hospital confinement.

9. How long will I be paid?
For as long as 52 weeks (as much as $5200.00) while you are hospitalized for each new sickness or accident. If the full 52 weeks has been used, and the same condition recurs, a new 52-week period will be provided if there has been an interval of 6 months between hospital confinements.

10. Does 40-PLUS pay in any hospital?
You will be covered in any public or private hospital anywhere in the world—except nursing homes and state or federal government hospitals.

11. Can I collect even though I carry other health insurance?
Yes. 40-PLUS pays you in addition to any health insurance you carry, whether group or individual.

12. What isn't covered?
Only a few exceptions: war, military service, mental disorder, and confinement in any government hospital or if covered by Workmen's Compensation or Employers Liability Laws.

13. How do I get my "physical" each year?
40-PLUS actually pays your own doctor up to $10 annually towards your routine physical examination (but only if you want it). You receive special forms at the end of each year to take to your doctor, so that he can give you your check-up within 60 days.

14. When does my policy go into force?
It becomes effective on the date your Application is received. Accidents are covered on that date. After your policy has been in force for 30 days, you are covered for sicknesses which begin thereafter.

15. Why is there a "deadline" date?
In order to offer the Plan without health qualifications and still maintain our low rate, we can only make the Plan available during a limited enrollment period. The deadline date is firm—we cannot accept your Application unless postmarked on or before that date.

16. How much does it cost to join?
Only $1.00, regardless of age. After your first month, you pay only $5.95 a month until age 65; only $6.95 a month from age 65 and over.

17. Why should I enroll right now?
Because an unexpected sickness or accident could strike without warning—and you will not be covered until your policy is in force. Remember, if for any reason you change your mind, you may return your policy within 10 days and your $1.00 will be refunded immediately.

Fill out and mail Application, with $1.00, to Physicians Mutual Insurance Company, 115 South 42nd Street, Omaha, Nebraska 68131.

Biggest Crowd Anticipated at Chicago Airport

Racial Protests May Mar Visit Of Astronauts

CHICAGO (AP) — Officials planned for the biggest crowd ever assembled in Chicago to greet the Gemini 4 astronauts today, while a question mark remained over efforts of racial demonstrators to disrupt the celebration.

As James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II flew to the city from Houston with their wives, and Vice President Hubert Humphrey came from Washington to greet them, a major civil rights group withdrew its support of any counter-march plan by school segregation protestors.

Not Marching

Albert Brooks, president of the Chicago branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said Sunday night, "we are not marching tomorrow."

Other leaders of the protests, which have resulted in nearly 450 arrests in Friday and Saturday sit-down demonstrations, had talked of a sit-down to jam the parade for McDivitt and White. Albert Raby, a protest leader, said demonstrators planned an assembly in Grant Park

Humphrey, Gov. Otto Kener of Illinois and Mayor Richrd J. Daley of Chicago led the airport welcoming committee.

Mrs. Sharon Sites, 34-year-old divorcee, bids farewell to crowds that came down to see her off as she gets ready to cast off on a 2,300 mile trip to Hawaii — all by herself. Mrs. Sites will not carry a radio on her 25-foot sloop, but food enough for 65 days. She expects to reach Hawaii in 30 or 40 days. (AP Wirephoto)

Strike by Seamen Is Still Possible

Many Liners Are Rescheduling Their Times for Sailing

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal mediators continue efforts today to avert a possible maritime strike Tuesday midnight.

Some shipping lines have been taking precautions against the threatened tieup.

The liner United States, flagship of the United States Lines, has been rescheduled to sail at 11 o'clock tonight instead of noon Tuesday.

Talks between the AFL-CIO Marine Engineers Beneficial Association and the American Merchant Marine Institute, which represents 12 shipping lines, ended Sunday night without agreement on a new contract.

No Schedule

Federal mediator Robert H. Moore said the talks had "not gone well" and that no further talks were scheduled.

He said "we're always hopeful" when a newsmen asked about the possibility of a strike.

MEBA President Jese Calhoon said, "We're not optimistic, but we're ready to negotiate up to the deadline."

Calhoon's union, composed of licensed engineer officers, has threatened to strike at midnight Tuesday when its contract with the institute expires.

A strike would affect immediately 187 ships operated by the 12 institute lines. It could spread to ships operated by companies that are not represented by the institute but which traditionally follow the pattern set by its agreements.

MEBA and another AFL-CIO union of officers — the International Organization of Masters, Mates andPilots — have held out against 60-day contract extensions agreed to by four other maritime unions. Each of the officers unions represents about 10,000 men.

Negotiations between the masters' union and the American Maritime Association, which represents a number of shipping lines, resume today. No announcement was made on Sunday's negotiations.

Viet Nam's Generals Go on War Footing

100 Bodies Are Found By Rangers

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vietnamese rangers combing a rubber plantation just north of the shattered town of Dong Xoai found the bodies of about 100 government troops today, the remains of the 7th Airborne Battalion, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

Dong Xoai was reported quiet but braced for more trouble from the Viet Cong.

As the rangers moved through the French-owned Michelin rubber plantation a few miles north of Dong Xoai they found an assortment of grim relics left behind by the Viet Cong, among them the wreckage of a U.S. Army helicopter and a U.S. Army man's identification tag.

U. S. Troops

U.S. authorities announced "at the request of the Vietnamese government elements of the 173rd U.S. Airborne Brigade have moved to Phuoc Vinh to protect the airfield and aircraft there."

Phuoc Vinh is the main airfield for the Dong Xoai area. The U.S. paratroopers had been expected to move from there into the Dong Xoai conflict but

Tougher Policies Pledged Toward Hostile Nations

BY EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's generals formed a 10-member committee today to give the country a "war government."

Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, defense minister in the government of Premier Phan Huy

Thieu

Quat, who resigned Friday, was named chairman of the ruling military committee.

Thieu in effect becomes chief of state, although civilian Phan Khac Suu remains for the time being as caretaker chief of state along with Quat.

The military leaders announced their move over Viet Nam radio and said Thieu and his committee would set up a new government and organizations "along with a war cabinet."

Next Regime

Thieu had said earlier in a radio broadcast that the country's next regime must be a "war government."

He declared.

"This situation cannot drag on indefinitely, otherwise the sacrifices of the military on the front lines would be in vain

Thieu said eight months of civilian rule had hampered prosecution of the war against the Communists. He called for a sweeping austerity policy to help the war effort.

South Viet Nam will toughen its policies toward hostile nations. Thieu said, and will seek to improve relations with its allies.

New Committee

The new military committee will be responsible for establishing entirely new institutions of

Cuban Exiles Go on Hunger Strike in Jail

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Four Cuban exiles charged with trying to export munitions for use against Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro went on a hunger strike Sunday night, according to a Florida Cuban group.

There was no official confirmation.

Among the prisoners was Dr. Orlando Bosch, head of the Miami-based anti-Castro Revolutinnary Recovery Insurrectional Movement.

The four Cubans and two Americans were arrested Thursday night near Orlando. Federal agents said they had 18 bombs.

Sailing to Hawaii

Petite Blonde and Tiny Sloop Out on Big Ocean

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A tiny sloop with a petite blonde as its only crew is somehwere off the Southern California coast, its destination Hawaii — at least 30 days sailing and 2,300 miles away.

Sharon Sites' 25-footer, the Sea Sharp, has no radio. She set sail from a small craft harbor here Saturday and hasn't been reported since small craft escortign her turned back off Catalina Island.

Mrs. Sites, 34, vows she will be the first woman to sail alone to the islands. She'll have to make it by sail alone. Her sloop has an auxiliary engine, but she took no fuel.

The sea was choppy and the sky was overcast when she departed.

"Perfect weather for sailing," Mrs. Sites declared as she stowed her only companion — a 4-inch Thailand turtle — below decks.

Mrs. Sites has a year's yachting experience. Her sailing instructor tried in van to talk her out of the trip, which the Coast Guard warned her was "extremely hazardous."

But Mrs. Sites, a divorcee who quit her job as a dental secretary and invested her $9,000 savings in the boat and the trip, would not be dissuaded.

She had aboard enough food for 65 days and water for 90. She expected to reach Hawaii in 30 to 40 days.

Trip to Moon Only Start, Von Braun Tells Graduates

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dr. Wernher von Braun said today that manned flight to the moon, planned for this decade, will be only a step in deeper probes into space.

"It will only be the beginning, the first hesitant step away from the near-earth environment," said Von Braun, director of the George C Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala.

After the lunar trip will come travel to the nearest planets, then voyages throughout the solar system, he told the graduating class of Emory University.

"Within the next 50 years we shall have earth-orbiting space stations with agriculturists aboard, along with meteorologists, oceanographers, geologists and perhaps even sociologists and philosophers," said Von Braun.

Partial Lunar Eclipse Lasts 102 Minutes

NEW YORK (AP) — A partial lunar eclipse took place Sunday night.

The earth's shadow across the moon was at its maximum at 9:49 p.m. (EST). The eclipse was a minor one, with only 18 per cent of the moon's disk, covered by the umbra, the densest portion of the shadow.

Discrimination Series Starts In Today's P-C

The federal government's most ambitious effort to end job discrimination goes into effect July 2.

Just what the complex and far-reaching "equal employment opportunity section of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 means will be explained in a four-part series starting today in The Post-Crescent.

The series by Associated Press writers Neil Gilbride and Raymond Crowley will explain the prohibition against discrimination by workers, employers, employment agencies and labor unions on the basis of "race, color, religion, sex or national origin."

The first story appears today on page A-11.

Neenah Man Dies Of Crash Injuries

Dennis Pitsch Hurt in Calumet Mishap; 13 Dead on State Roads

The death Sunday of a Neenah man of injuries suffered in a Calumet County crash May 23 and a rash of multiple fatal accidents brought the state's weekend highway toll to 13 and the toll for the year to 374 compared with 426 a year ago.

Dennis Pitsch, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Pitsch, died at 1:25 p.m. at St. Elizabeth Hospital where he had been a patient and in critical condition since the accident in which he suffered severe brain injuries.

Pitsch was thrown from the car he was driving when it sideswiped with one driven by Bruce Schoen, route 1, Menasha, at the intersection of State 114 and 55 a mile west of Sherwood.

After the impact, the Pitsch car shot off the road, struck a utility pole while the vehicle was standing on end, flipped over into a ditch, knocked down a fence and landed in a field, state police said.

Brain Injury

Death was caused by complications to the brain injury, Calumet County Coroner Leroy Hughes said. An autopsy was performed and the investigation is continuing, Hughes said.

An employe of the John Strange Carton Co., Pitsch is survived by the widow, a son, his parents, two brothers, six sisters.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church with burial in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Kessler Funeral Home after 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Fiery Crash

Elsewhere in the state a fiery crash in Pierce County took four lives and accidents in Kewaunee and Chippewa counties resulted in two deaths each.

A head-on collision of two cars on Highway 29 three miles west of Kewaunee Sunday night resulted in the death of Nancy Johnson, 16, of Green Bay and John LaCrosse, 18, of rural Casco. They were tossed out of a car driven by Kenneth Kline of rural Manitowoc in a collision with an auto driven by Glen Gasche of rural Luxemburg.

President Is Back at Desk

Much Activity While Johnson At Texas Ranch

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson was back at his desk today after a weekend of relaxation at his Texas ranch.

There were no appointments on his calendar but during the day he was expected to look in on the White House Festival of Arts.

During the weekend, the President:

— Nominated Texas banker-attorney Edward A. Clark, a longtime personal and political friend, as ambassador to Australia. The post has been vacant since Willim C. Battle of Charlottesville, Va., resigned in late 1964.

Active in Politics

Clark, 58, once was Texas secretary of state and has been active in politics since 1928.

He helped in the 1948 court battle stemming from Johnson's 87-vote senate victory over former Gov. Coke Stevenson. He also went to court in 1960 to guarantee Johnson's right to run for the Senate and the vice presidency at the same time.

— Signed a bill authorizing military appropriations of $15.4 billion.

The measure includes $5.8 billion for aircraft, $1.4 billion for missiles, $1.7 for naval vessels and $6.4 billion for research, development, tests and evaluation.

— Appointed 12 public members to the Consumer Advisory Council and picked Dr. Richard H. Holton, former assistant secretary of commerce and now a University of California professor, as chairman.

Uprisings Anticipated

Dominicans Under Communist Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Latin-American expert Jack Hood Vaughn says a substantial Communist threat still hangs over the Dominican Republic and could erupt in a new uprising in many areas of the nation at future date.

Vaughn, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, said arms have been hidden in the countryside and Red leaders have gone into hiding there.

In addition Vaughn said:

"I am sure also that many of them are in command of the rebel military groups in the strong points."

And he estimated the potential Communist strength as closer to 5,000 than to a figure of 1,200 given by former Dominican Republic President Juan Bosch.

Vaughn expressed his views on the ABC radio and television program "Issues and Answers" Sunday and made these other points:

$20 Million

—The United States has poured $20 million in food and relief funds into the Dominican Republic to prevent social chaos and "I see no end to this. It could go on for many months."

—Formation of a caretaker, coalition government is no nearer now than it was six weeks ago. Elections for a new democratic government are probably a year to a year and a half away.

—The Communist threat fits precisely into a pattern laid down in a meeting in Havana last November in which other nations including Venezuela, Guatemala, Colombia, were named as prime targets

Vaughn outlined the Communist danger in the Dominican Republic this way:

"It is there and has been there from the beginning. About 45 Communist leaders exiled in May of 1964 have returned. People have been trained in Cuba, or in China or in Eastern Europe. They are well organized.

"We know very large quantities of arms were distributed. Certain quantities of these arms have been taken up country and hidden. The threat is always there that they will be used in an uprising in one place or in a number of places in a coordinated way."

Party Control Struggle Underneath

Democrats United on Surface

BY DICK LYNEIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

GREEN BAY — On the surface it was all unity here over the weekend during the Wisconsin Democratic Party's annual convention.

Beneath the surface factions were lining up behind national committeeman David Carley and Lt. Gov. Patrick Lucey in preparation for a long-awaited showdown next year for control of the state party machinery.

Carley, in a rousing speech Saturday morning, erased any doubts that convention-goers may have had about whether there would be a primary election showdown for the party's nominee for the governor's office in the fall, 1966 election.

State Tradition

"Ive heard," Carley said, "that it's not legitimate or honorable to have Democratic primaries, that it wastes funds. Primaries are a time honored tradition on the Wisconsin scene and the Democratic Party will be stronger next year, after a primary instead of weaker.

"We will elect a Democratic governor," he stated, "not in spite of a primary, but because of one."

Then Carley nearly spelled out his intentions when he said, "There will be at least five or six others, apart from your speaker, who could be running for governor."

Lucey didn't positively spell out his intentions either, but in a stinging attack on the administration of Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles in which he said state voters are "sick and tired of divided government," he urged the party faithful to help turn Knowles out of office next year.

His said Knowles is fit only for "cutting ribbons and appointing study committees."

There were several gauges at the convention which could be used as a basis to judge popular

Mariner 4 Seeks Better Fix on Mars

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The United States' Mars-bound Mariner 4 spacecraft, its electronic eyes primed for the closest look yet at the red planet, prepared today to seek a better fix on its guiding star, Canopus.

At 8:50 a.m. (PDT) today an electronic memory box aboard the 575-pound spacecraft was to issue commands meant to give an improved fix on the star which is guiding Mariner 4 on its 325-million mile journey.

The vehicle was launched last Nov. 28 from Cape Kennedy, Fla., on a mission designed to supply the best pictures yet of Mars.

"All major systems are working fine so far," a spokesman for the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said. "If all goes well, there may be no more scheduled events until the television camera is turned on July 14."

Plans call for Mariner 4 to take up to 21 pictures of Mars from a distance of 6,000 miles. The spacecraft will then sweep by the planet into an orbit around the sun.

Democrats Struggling For Control of Party

The most obvious indicator, of course, is delegate reaction to the appearance of either man on the platform before the convention's general session.

Both men appeared twice—Lucey during his Friday night speech and Saturday afternoon when he nominated Francis Rondeau of Mosinee as a member of the state party's executive committee. Carley appeared for his Saturday address, then again Saturday Mrs. Shirley Cherkasky of Appleton for re-election to the post of organization vice chairman of the party.

Delegate Response

Lucey and Carley ended up in a draw on the basis of delegate response. Both men drew standing ovations after their talks. A smattering of people remained seated and offered only polite applause after Carley's talk, however.

Full-time party workers indicated in private that both U. S senators—William Proxmire and Gaylord Nelson have been struggling to retain a "neutral" posture and to appear not to be taking sides in the contest

However, some observers read some significance into the fact that in Proxmire's absence Friday night, his wife, Ellen, introduced Lucey instead.

Carley had been scheduled to be introduced by Nelson's wife, Carrie Lee, but in her absence was introduced instead by Assembly Speaker Robert Huber of West Allis.

Generally, sides are lined up with Nelson, State Party Chairman J Louis Hanson of Mellen, Mrs Cherkasky, and national committeewoman Jeanette Swed of Milwaukee behind Carley; while former Gov. John Reynolds is the most influential known supporter of Lucey. However, many party insiders feel that Proxmire is drifting away from his neutral position and into the group that is supporting Lucey.

From the standpoint of numbers, however, and because of his more prestigious office of lieutenant governor, Lucey is regarded as the favorite at this stage.

Carley Supporters

Carley has the most influential party leaders behind him and their convention appearances in nomination of party officers Saturday afternoon left some Lucey supporters grumbling

One Lucey backer said he "doesn't mind a fight, as long as it's a fair fight, but the way this election and convention was run tells me that it is and will be anything but a fair fight."

The man said that he and several other Lucey supporters were irked by how the "Nelson-Carley group had control of the convention machinery and stacked the delegates in their favor even though they make up a minority of the membership of the party."

At least three people elected to administrative commitee posts are said to be Carley supporters — Carl Anderson of Eau Claire, Mrs. Janet (Nelson) Lee of Madison and John Malloy of Kenosha, while only one, Rondeau, is a known Lucey-backer.

Political Breach

The breach between Carley and Lucey is traced back to the 1960 state Democratic presidential primary when Lucey, then state chairman, was an early backer of the final winner, John F. Kennedy, Carley, then the director of the State Department of Resource Development for then-Gov. Nelson, joined the governor in a neutral posture which many Democrats said meant support for Minnesota Sen. Hubert Humphrey who was opposing Kennedy.

Since President Kennedy's assassination and the emergence of the strong organization supporting the team of President Lyndon Johnson and Vice President Humphrey, the Kennedy supporters, including Reynolds, have been thrust into the background of party leadership. It is rumored, also, that religion remains an underlying issue — the Catholicism of the late President and his former supporters today — the Lucey-Reynolds wing.

Minor Role

Reynolds, incidentally, played a very minor role in the convention.

He was seated on the floor during most of the convention as just another delegate from Dane County. He made no appearances before the convention. However, during the Saturday noon luncheon for county chairmen at the Northland Hotel, he introduced Postmaster General John Gronouski, the main speaker.

Reynolds told a Minneapolis reporter that party leaders decided his convention role on the basis of last fall's election when he lost the governor's job to Knowles. "Who wants a loser?" he reportedly said.

Another Story

Hanson told a Post-Crescent reporter a different version however.

"There's no significance in the fact that Reynolds didn't appear before the general convention," he said, "because that's the way he (Reynolds) wanted it."

Other knowledgeable sources felt Reynolds was held down so his chances of being appointed to an expected early vacancy on a U. S. district judge's bench in Eastern Wisconsin by President Johnson won't be jeopardized.

Soviets Appear to Agitate Red China

Chinese Claim New Regime More Cunning, Covert Than Khrushchev

BY HENRY S. BRADSHER

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party appears to be making a new drive for a showdown meeting on the split with Peking. The Chinese Reds have unleashed a new attack on the Kremlin's leadership.

Pravda, the Soviet party paper, published Sunday a resolution adopted last month by the pro-Soviet Portuguese Communist party calling for a world Communist party conference to discuss the dispute.

Peking, which has opposed such a meeting, charged in a broadcast that the new Soviet leaders were being more covert and cunning than Nikita Khrushchev in trying to pervert communism.

The Russians also were accused of being "busy in Washington, London and Paris" trying to initiate peace negotiations on Viet Nam in a painstaking effort to find a way out for the U.S. aggressors."

International Meeting

Recent statements from the Soviet Union and members of the Soviet bloc have raised speculation that the Kremlin might place Viet Nam high on the agenda of an international Communist meeting.

In this event, it was believed, the Chinese would attend a meeting even if it was dominated by pro-Soviet delegations because to boycott it would lay them open to Soviet charges of bad faith and obstructionism in the Vietnamese war.

Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin has referred to Viet Nam as a rally point of the two feuding camps. He said in Pyongyang, North Korea, on Feb. 12 that "imperialist provocations" in Viet Nam had brought the Soviet Union closer to Red China and its allies.

Another Battleground

Peking, as Sunday's broadcast emphasized, considers Viet Nam another battleground in its feud with Moscow.

The Portuguese party resolution said that it "sees no special reason why any party whatsoever should reject in principle the idea of holding a preliminary consultative meeting of the representatives of the 81 Communist and workers parties for the study of these problems."

The Portuguese party said the lack of unity in the Communist world had encouraged the United States to pursue a tough policy in Viet Nam.

Red China boycotted a meeting in Moscow in March at which 18 pro-Soviet parties and the Russians agreed that the 81 parties which attended a world conference in 1960 should meet "at a suitable date" to prepare for another full-dress assembly.

government In effect, it will be starting from scratch, with no government in power, no constitution, no precedents and no traditions.

All the various experiments in government here since the Nov 1, 1963 overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem have failed in a succession of coups, riots and upheavals

Thieu's leadership of the military committee is seen as provisional, and he presumably will be only "first among equals" on the committee

Thieu, 42, is a central Vietnamese and a Roman Catholic. He was avoided being deeply involved in any of the major political controversies that have wracked South Viet Nam in the past few years. He is generally respected by most of the various factions in the general staff, and is seen as a compromise choice unlikely to alienate anyone.

Close Supervision

Top officials made it clear Saturday that from now on the government will have close military supervision "until the war has been won." National elections and other devices for establishing a democracy have been discarded for the time being

Quat resigned as the upshot of Cabinet crisis and in the face of mounting pressure from the Roman Catholics. They accused Quat, a Buddhist, of discriminating against Catholics in his choices of persons to government posts

The Catholic, however, have shown no inclination to cooperate either with the new military government

A top Catholic leader, the Rev. Hoang Quynh, called for a civilian, revolutionary government that would respond to the aspirations of the people. Observers saw this as a warning that Catholics would oppose any government unless civilians were given a role.

Heavy air strikes also continued inside South Viet Nam against suspected Viet Cong targets U.S Navy and Marine Corps planes were said to have flown 118 sorties Sunday and pilots claimed heavy damage to targets and suspected troop concentrations.

Six Americans were killed over the weekend, but none appeared to have died as the result of enemy action

Four U S Army helicopter crewmen were killed Saturday night when their craft crashed 30 miles east of Saigon during a storm.

An explosion aboard a truck at Chu Lai beachhead Sunday killed two U.S. Marines and injured 19 others. The men had been swimming, and a spokesman said a grenade fell from one man's belt, exploded in the bottom of the truck and set off a five-gallon can of gasoline.

Three Honorary Degrees were conferred during Lawrence University's 116th commencement exercises Sunday afternoon in the Memorial Chapel. W. Irving Osborne Jr., president of Pullman, Inc., left, received a Doctor of Laws degree; S Bradley Burson, physicist with the Argonne National Laboratory, a Doctor of Science degree, and the Rev. J. Ellsworth Kalas of the First Methodist Church, Madison, a Doctor of Divinity degree.

Knowles Says Education Key To 'Social-Economic Growth'

Points to Value of Public, Private Schools in Educational Picture

Gov. Warren P. Knowles, speaking Sunday at Lawrence University's 116th commencement exercises, expressed "great concern" over the "lag by government in interpreting the will of the people" of the state. He cited higher education — public and private — as an area where citizens have clearly expressed their will, and he called for legislators to heed such sentiment in "an opportunity to move our state forward in a significant direction."

Baccalaureate Sermon

The governor's address was presented in the afternoon to an audience of 1250 in Memorial Chapel, and to 500 closed-circuit television viewers in Harper Hall and Stansbury Theatre.

The Rev. J. Ellsworth Kalas, minister of the First Methodist Church, Madison, gave a morning baccalaureate sermon before a similar audience.

Knowles pointed to the value of both public and private colleges in the state's total education picture. He called education "the cornerstone of our social-economic growth," and said "it must never become the subject of partisan political concern."

Although citizens have spoken clearly in the interests of such things as higher education, government frequently has failed to respond. "This lag by government in interpreting the will of the people is of great concern to me," Knowles said.

"The current dispute over budget and taxes in the legislature is symptomatic of our problem. The legislators who while away their time in fruitless debate over meaningless items are misinterpreting the will of the people. This will and mood has been plainly evidenced by the people on a bipartisan basis. The hair-splitting arguments about kinds of taxes and degrees of effect are no longer of interest or concern.

"The people understand — far better than some legislators — that there is a price tag on every single item, whether it be governmental or private. They know, without hearing it week in and week out, that they will bear the burden of that price. And they have indicated, at every opportunity, a willingness to bear those costs when the result is in the interest of good government and sound progress."

'Great Private College'

In the case of education, Knowles observed the willingness of parents and firends of Lawrentians not only to support public education, but to also take advantage of "the great opportunities afforded by this great private college." This willingness has been for many years a dominant characteristic of Wisconsin people, he added.

Knowles charged the graduates that today, as they stand on the verge of another opportunity to move forward, they resolve to demonstrate to the world the worth of an educated body such as theirs.

Kalas, a former Green Bay minister, quoted the ancient warning of Deuteronomy 17:16: "The King shall not multiply horses for himself."

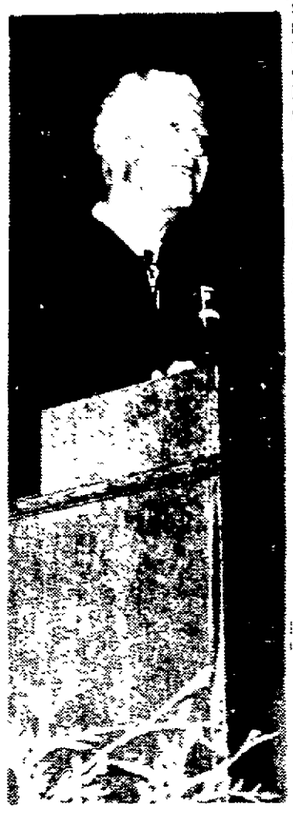

'Generation Of Kings'

He saw our times as "a generation of kings" in which it is man's task to live with the tremendous horsepower he has unleashed. In likening modern man tod the ancient king, he asked: "What shall we do with so may horses as exist in this mighty land?"

The answer is to learn, and in learning, to obtain humility. The very act of enrollment in such an institution of liberal arts study is "a great act of humility."

There is also the answer which tells where power ultimately resides, that by careful contemplation of the length of the pendulum of time, man may learn to keep his skills and powers in proper perspective.

Kalas urged that the graduates have "more than transitory goals within their reach, but not yet within their grasp." He suggested that those with power become obliged to use it for others, for "I tell you that even God would not be worth much if he had not given His Son and showered upon man other acts of love and mercy."

The Honorable Warren P. Knowles, governor of Wisconsin, delivered the commencement address at Lawrence University's 116th ceremony on Sunday. It was the first commencement in more than sixty years, however, in which the institution was known as a university, a name it resumed last July upon merging with Milwaukee-Downer College.

Man Drowns Saving Son

Donald J. Murray, Appleton, Victim At Boulder Lake

An Appleton father of five, Donald J. Murray, 36, 2013 N. Ullman St., drowned Sunday afternoon in Boulder Lake after saving his son from the same fate.

A member of the family said the group, including the youngest children ages 10 through 6, were in a boat when Donald Jr., 11, started to founder while swimming near the craft.

Murray dove into the water, the relatives said, and got the boy back to the boat but slipped while climbing back into the craft and went under. The boy was wearing a life preserver but the father was not, according to the associated press.

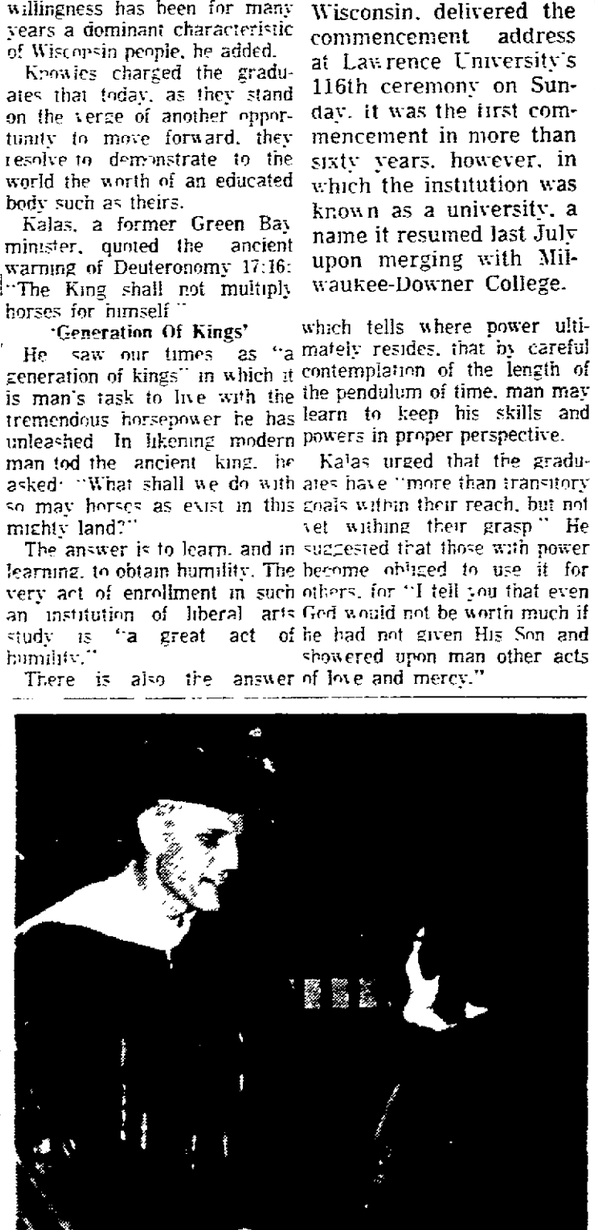

The body was taken to Wisconsin Rapids, the former residence of Mrs. Murray, for funeral services late this week. Murray, originally from Marshfield, brought his family to Appleton four years ago. He was employed at Gibson Chevrolet Co. garage.

Milwaukee Women Arrested Today in Bus Demonstration

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Two Milwaukee women were arrested today when they sat down in front of a school bus at the Twenty-First Street School.

The two were among 39 pickets who marched at the school as part of a continuing protest by the Milwaukee United School Integration Committee. The group opposes the Milwaukee school board's policy of keeping children from Negro area schools in separate classes when they are temporarily transported to schools in white neighborhoods.

The two, who had to be lifted into a police van, were Miss Ann Baas, 21 and Mrs. Dorothy Huley, 26.

Two Hundred Seventy Five bachelor's degrees were awarded at the Lawrence University commencement exercises on Sunday, and 22 advanced degrees were given from the Institute of Paper Chemistry. Among the graduates was Mrs. Gertrude Brown, 609 N. Lawe St., who received her B. A. with honors. She is shown receiving her diploma from the hand of President Curtis W. Tarr.

Honorary Degrees Given at Lawrence

Honorary Doctorates in Science, Laws, Divinity Presented Sunday

Academic hoods lined in Lawrence University's official colors, blue and white, were slipped over the heads of three distinguished guests in the traditional honorary degree ceremonies at commencement Sunday.

Honored were S. Bradley Burson, a nuclear physicist from the Argonne National Laboratory, Lamont, Ill., who received the doctor of science degree; J. Ellsworth Kalas, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Madison, the doctor of divinity; and W. Irving Osborne, president of Pullman, Inc., Chicago, Ill., the doctor of laws.

Burson was introduced by Dr. W. Paul Gilbert, who holds the Philetus Sawyer chair in physics at Lawrence. President Curtis W. Tarr's citation read:

'Eminent Contributor'

"As a physicist on the staff of Argonne National Laboratory, you have been an eminent contributor to the field of nuclear spectroscopy. Today, we also wish to recognize your unique contribution to the students of Lawrence and her sister colleges in the conduct of the ACM Argonne Program. Under this program, some of our best students of the sciences have been privileged to work under your direction, taking part in the research program of one of our leading scientific institutions. Throughout the history of science, many of the most successful scientists have started their careers by serving an apprenticeship under inspiring master scientists. Similarly, you have inspired the Lawrence students who have worked with you. For your eminence as a physicist, for your willingness to cooperate in the Argonne Program, for your effectiveness in guiding the students who have worked with you, we honor you on this occasion."

Rev. Kalas was presented for the honorary doctor of divinity degree by Bishop Ralph T. Alton, Madison, a trustee of Lawrence University. President Tarr's citation was:

President's Citation

"As pastor and teacher, you represent a calling which our time finds it hard to apprehend in its wholeness. You are called to be a scholar and a man of action: able to move multitudes and to comfort a sorrowing individual; sensitive to the breath of the Spirit and a good administrator. Indeed, you must be 'all things to all men,' and still be a leader of integrity.

"You have already demonstrated many signs of being able to fulfill in yourself these manifold expectations. By refusing to separate the appeal to the 'head' and the appeal to the 'heart,' you have sought to bring to bear the discipline of intellect upon the motive force of conscience aroused and made sensitive. You have ever worked for a religious faith which expresses itself in concrete personal and social concern; yet you have proved a thoughtful advocate of a faith which transcends any simple pragmatic test. You have shown through genuine curiosity, diligent inquiry and disciplined proclamation the union of spiritual, intellectual, moral and aesthetic dimensions demanded in one who follows the high calling of proclaimer of the divine Word."

Osborne was presented by Lawrence Trustee Ernst Mahler for the following presidential citation:

'Age Of Specialization'

"In this age of specialization and tremendous enterprise, we are inclined to measure our efforts through statistical devices, applied to rather arbitrary classifications. We often refer, for example, to the 'worlds' of education and science and industry as if they were separate activities with a certain amount of interdependence but with quite different goals and motivations.

"These several activities continuously are searching for a better expression of individual capacities and understanding. In this light, modern industry is the meeting ground for the separate worlds of education and science, and, above all, it is a very genuine venture in self-renewal and sensitive response to a changing society.

"You have developed a remarkable understanding of this broad perspective. For many years you were a leader within the pulp and paper industry, and for several years you were a trustee and Chairman of the Board of our sister institution, The Institute of Paper Chemistry. Now, you are the head of a corporation with international commitments."

Man-Made Lake to be Ready Soon

Progress on the Outagamie County Conservation Club's man-made lake has been termed excellent.

Floats and line to mark water depths, wading and swimming areas have been purchased. The water has cleared up and swimming will start as soon as the weather permits. Swimming will be permitted only under club supervision.

A grass mower and plow have been purchased for use on the club grounds and pheasant pens.

Serious consideration is being given to publish a bulletin carrying information on hunting and fishing in the county.

Another proposed project is lighting the trap shooting range as well as the swimming area. Trap shooting teams are being organized.

Largest Graduating Class Get Diplomas Marked 'University'

By MARGUERITE SCHUMANN
Of Lawrence University

Lawrence University's 116th commencement — a number without any anniversary distinction — marked up a significant number of firsts.

It was the largest class in the history of the institution thus far, with 275 baccalaureate degrees, and 22 advanced degrees from the Institute of Paper Chemistry.

It was the first graduation in more than 60 years in which the diplomas were marked university instead of college.

It was the first senior class to take comprehensive examinations in their major fields as a requirement for graduation.

Organ Re-dedicated

It was the first commencement in the new air-conditioned surroundings of remodeled Memorial Chapel, and the building's new equipment was put to high festival use. The carillon was played before and after the baccalaureate and commencement services, and in the morning the new organ was re-dedicated to the memory of Dr. Samuel Plantz, president of Lawrence College from 1894 to 1924. More than 40 years after his death, Dr. Plantz's benign shadow fell once more across the campus, as the flowers from the service were carried to his grave in Riverside Cemetery, and his favorite passage of Scripture was read by his presidential successor.

Technology appeared at commencement in dramatic form. With the large graduating class, Memorial Chapel was unable to accommodate the full complement of relatives and friends, and so closed circuit television brought the ceremony to the Music-Drama Center across the road.

Saturday was alumni day, and they came from all quarters of the United States — one even from Valhalla (New York state, not nether world) — to thump each other's backs joyfully under the campus trees. There were more than 650 at the alumni luncheon, and 125 at the first reunion of the Milwaukee-Downer Alumnae Association held on the Lawrence campus.

Class of 1940

The class of 1940, more than a hundred strong if you count wives and descendants, made a triumphal entrance at the luncheon behind a be-sashed band led by Lt. Col. Richard Fink, Fort Monroe, Va., who chose an old Lawrence band cape as his mufti for the day. They marched with a banner proclaiming "back alive in '65."

Among the reuners were two from the 50 year class who have received honorary degrees from their alma mater, and two who have received decorations from foreign governments.

Everett Bauman, '38, who traveled 10,000 miles from Manila to receive an Alumni Distinguished Service Award, has been given the Order of Francisco de Miranda by the Venezuelan government; while Caroline Peckham Iglehart, '15, who became an honorary citizen of Nagasaki and received the Fourth Order of the Sacred Crown, highest award given by the Emperor of Japan to a woman.

Her husband, the Rev. Charles Iglehart, long-time missionary to Japan, was full of tales of keeping fit "in a world where nobody walks anymore." Several years ago, at age 78, he was invited to accompany some college youths on a 350-mile hike from Kyoto to Tokyo, along the histroic Tokkaido road. To get in shape, he essayed a 24-hour walk, stopping only to drink a little milk or eat a raw egg, and covered 70 miles in the allotted day. It took them eleven days to cover the Koyoto-Tokyo course. "Of course, anyone can walk 30 miles in a day, but to keep that up day after day takes some doing," the lively minister remarked.

Fame of '65 Class

The class of 1965 has several claims to fame beyond that of sheer numbers.

First, it is the most cosmopolitan class ever to graduate from Lawrence. It comes from 25 states, including Hawaii, and eight foreign countries — Australia, Canada, Colombia, England, France, Japan, Nigeria and Southern Rhodesia. Proud parents flew in from Hawaii, Canada, Colombia, England and Japan for the graduation.

Foreign students on American campuses are no longer a rarity, but the program to educate leaders for developing African nations are still new. James Ajene of Kano, Nigeria, received his degree under the African Scholarship Program of American Universities, while Naboth Mbawa, Umtali, Southern Rhodesia, was supported by the Methodist Board of Missions and the local Methodist church. When a dental school to which Mbawa has been accepted for next year required him to demonstrate his manual dexterity, an Appleton dentist opened his laboratory so the youth could carve a few sample wax teeth.

Foreign Study

Fifteen of the class, with less exotic home addresses, have enriched their undergraduate careers with foreign study, either the classic junior year abroad, or special summer courses. Two went to India and learned to speak Hindi and Telegu, seven went to France, two to England, and one each traveled to Peru, Germany, Austria and Norway. The allure of foreign study, in fact, prevented three of the class from getting their diplomas in absentia, for their grades didn't arrive from Spain and Costa Rica in time to be considered.

While the role of the wandering scholar has been a pleasant one for most participants, there were others in the class whose lives in Europe were quite different, caught up in the chaos of World War II. A mature woman in the class, who earlier graduated from the University of Vienna, spent years in a concentration camp; a younger classmate as a baby became a displaced person.

Second, the class of 1965 is distinguished both for its propensity for protest and for its idealism. It is the class that popularized the beard, the poncho and the guitar at Lawrence. Its members included a summer worker in a Mississippi Freedom School, many collectors of protest signatures on civil rights petitions, as well as doughty critics of official university policies, both major and minor. Eleven of the class will train for the Peace Corps; three will go to Turkey, others to Colombia, Sierra Leone, India, Tunisia, Thailand, Ecuador, the Dominican Republic and the Ivory Coast.

Unusual Experiences

Third, the swift pace of the twentieth century generally and a Lawrence University in transition specifically have occasioned some unusual experiences in living during this period of alleged isolation in academe. Four of the class—the famous College Bowl team—logged about 8,000 travel miles during their senior year to appear on television before seven million viewers each week. The student president took a fall weekend away from the campus to meet the President of the United States at a White House party. Others of the class have learned to fly airplanes, to run computers, and to speak Russian. One came to college after a career as a child actor in Hollywood;

The 18-year-old princess plays in an orchestra and plans to attend Wisconsin State University-Eau Claire in fall, where she will major in primary education.

The three honored girls were crowned after speaking briefly. William Mathwig was master of ceremonies and Miss Judy Johnson of Milwaukee was hostess.

The girls led the Venetian Night Parade Sunday in a Boston Whaler Boat furnished by the Wolf River Oil Co.

The court of 16 contestants was given a cruise on the Wolf River Saturday afternoon by the Fremont Boat Club. Boats were furnished by Dr. Walter Neuschafer, Glen Sampson, William Mathwig, Jack Abraham, Allan Schafer, Pershing Cox, Edwin Rupno and Marvin Shierhorn.

A picnic planned by a committee with Mr. Mathwig as chairman was given at the Wolf River Crossing Park after the cruise.

Marion Has New Parking Ordinance

Council Okays Parallel Plan for 3 Streets; Hold Public Hearing

MARION — New parking regulations have been established by the city council in the group's effort to attain uniformity and enhance driving safety.

Parallel parking was established for the entire length of Main and Ramsdell streets and Garfield Avenue.

The council decided to retain angle parking on the south side of Perry Street from the post office past the bowling alley and on the west side of NE First Street to a point past the Chet Krueger residence.

Two-hour parking will be strictly enforced in the future, the council ordered, in its drive to provide a maximum of parking for customers and workers.

Seek Service

A petition for water and sanitary sewer service by S. Main Street residents south of the Chicago and North Western Railroad Co. tracks got preliminary council approval. Nine property owners spoke in behalf of the appeal and one protested the action.

Property owners not at the meeting can appeal within 20 days of the report's final publication.

No objections were voiced at a public hearing on curb and gutter installation and paving of Parkview Avenue from Ramsdell Street to Garfield Avenue. Two property owners, however, noted that they already had curb and gutter.

Property owners requested that the street be made as wide as possible. They will be assessed $1.13 a foot for the curb and gutter. Payments can be spread over a five-year period at 5½ per cent interest.

Water and sewer utilities will be extended to the Mielke Development. The move stemmed from a recommendation by Mayor Cecil Welch after Peter Kucksdorf asked the council if the services would be provided for an apartment house he plans to build in the Mielke Development near the new school.

The council at first indicated it needed more assurance from Earl Mielke on his plans for the area and said it would need a survey to establish grades for the mains.

Welch recommended that the city get an easement for utility lines running west from N. Main Street.

It also was suggested that Kucksdorf, the contractor building the new school, do the installation work.

Daniel Behnke, Clintonville, and Elizabeth Specth, Monticello, Iowa, share a chocolate bar outside a Bad Segeberg shop in North Germany. They are members of the Wartburg College Choir on a European tour.

On Wartburg Choir Tour

Gemutlichkeit Prevails, Clintonville Youth Finds

Wartburg College choir members, including one from Clintonville, are getting a first hand look at German farms while on tour in Europe.

Daniel Behnke is one of the singers who are on a 35-day jaunt across the Continent. Generally, after each concert they stay in the homes of Lutheran parishoners. This sometimes causes language problems, but more often it results in a lot of good humor and a closeup look at European living.

This has proved interesting to most of the choir members, particularly since the concerts are about evenly divided between rural and urban areas.

For example, in Sorup, most of the singers stayed with farmers.

Had Misgivings

This was their first such experiment and many of the youngsters had misgivings — until they reached their hosts' homes.

One girl, before meeting her host, said, "Did you know the barn is connected to the house and that there isn't any door between?"

Instead, they found palatial mansions, some with big clocks on roof towers, immaculately-kept, tucked away behind huge groves of trees.

One farmer had a lake at his back door with a huge garden and lawn. He had some 280 hogs in his swine barn, an efficient feeding system and an equal number of cows in another barn.

The house was 120 years old and filled with antiques, including a three-century old grandfather clock. Despite its age, the home appeared as comfortable as any modern home in the U. S. would be.

Choir members were amazed to find that even the gravel paths which run from building to building are raked each day. They were also overwhelmed at the huge flower beds found at each home.

Flowers Important

The latter seems to play a big role in North German life. Fresh flowers are even put in newly-purchased automobiles by the dealers and on uncompleted houses by carpenters.

Equally important to the North Germans, the groaning choir members discovered, is the joy of eating.

Heaping tubs of cream are found in all bakeries, which also serve as cafes, and choir members first walked the streets of Bad Segeberg with napkins full of pastry and cream on their collective noses. Unfortunately, they later found they were expected to eat this all the time, and this means all the time. In coffee, on pastries, in chocolate, morning, noon and night and "mit Schlage" in between.

The students are finding European traffic to be wild and city streets narrow. The rumor that the European will not hesitate to cut across sidewalks with his auto, pass on curves or cut another car off when passing is no longer a myth to the travelers.

The choir left Germany June 8 for Holland, France, Switzerland and Austria. The 60 singers then return to Germany to tour the South.

First Major Legal Victory For County as CAB Denies Petition to Suspend Flights

Outagamie County has won its first major victory in its long-drawn legal fight with the Civil Aeronautics Board and North Central Airlines over commercial air service for the Fox Cities.

The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB today denied a petition by North Central for permission to temporarily suspend service to Appleton.

The board told the airline that when Outagamie County closes its old airport in the Town of Grand Chute, the airline must provide service at the new county airport west of Appleton in the Town of Greenville.

County Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer of Kimberly said this morning that the CAB's decision means North Central planes will have to begin serving the new airport Thursday morning.

48 Hours to Move

"We told North Central," Fulcer said, "that we would give them 48 hours to make the transfer after we get a final decision. We got that decision today and since our original plans were to close the airport at 6 p.m. tonight, that means we will give North Central until 6 p.m. Wednesday to make the move."

Today's announcement by the CAB is the final chapter to this phase of a series of legal maneuvers dating back to January.

O. D. Ozment, the CAB's chief legal counsel, told The Post-Crescent the board decision means that "because of the ruling by the court (the 7th District U.S. Court of Appeals in Chicago) there's no point in arguing about it anymore. The board took its position and the court stayed us. After all, we're a law-abiding government agency so what else could we say."

North Central last week asked the CAB for permission to suspend service to Appleton until the federal court disposes of the appeal by Outagamie County and the State of Wisconsin on the order declaring the Winnebago County Airport in Oshkosh as the regional airport to serve the Fox Valley area.

North Central Reaction

The North Central request was its reaction to Outagamie's decision to close the old airport. The county decided to close the airport after the court denied a CAB request that service be allowed to Appleton only if the old airport remained open for North Central.

"In view of the court's issue of their stay order," Ozment said, "it would have been inappropriate and contrary to the public interest for the CAB to grant North Central's application for a stay order. The court has acted and it would be inappropriate for us to do anything else."

Fulcer praised the CAB this morning "for fulfilling the obligation that all public officials and public agencies have.

"Their (the CAB's) decision will facilitate the operation of business, industry and people and allow them to get the best forms of transporation that are available.

"In the future," Fulcer said, "I think that the area is going to give North Central so much business at our new airport that they won't be able to afford to move."

Confidence in Future

"In the future it's going to turn out that we're going to have one of the most important and busiest air terminals in the state."

The CAB's order assures the Fox Cities of North Central service at the new Outagamie County Airport at least until 30 days after the federal court rules on the regional airport consolidation appeal.

The court decision is expected sometime late this year.

Kimberly-Clark Earnings Down In Past Year

Outlook Brighter For Coming Fiscal Period, Official Says

NEENAH — Kimberly - Clark Corporation today reported consolidated sales for the fiscal year which ended April 30 of $577,392,000, and net earnings of $35,012,000, equal to $3.44 per share, as contrasted to $35,839,000 or $3.52 per share for the comparable period last year. Sales last year were $554,676,000.

John R. Kimberly, president, said that while the results "were disappointing," the company had anticipated that the two strikes it experienced, together with start-up costs at its new pulp and paper mill in northern California, would penalize earnings. He expects an improvement in earnings in the year now under way.

Bright Outlook

Many factors, he said, contribute to this outlook. Among them he cited improved operating efficiencies, continued impact of cost reduction programs, and modest price increases. In printing, publication and specialty papers, he said orders were running well ahead of last year.

He pointed out that the new printing paper mill dedicated earlier this month in Anderson, California, was strategically located to participate in the West's growing consumption of printing and publication paper. This printing market, he said, has doubled in the past ten years and he anticipates it will double again by 1975. The paper plant, part of a multi-million dollar pulp, paper and wood products complex, is the first printing paper mill in California.

The Kimberly-Clark executive said overseas markets continued to offer new marketing opportunities and his company's development and expansion of operations abroad to capitalize on these opportunities would continue. This activity, he said, is compatible with President Johnson's campaign to restrict outflow of dollars.

Nooks, Crannies Being Mined For Silver, Mercury, Platinum

BY RICHARD F. WHALEN

NEW YORK (AP) — Attic trunks, basement darkrooms and dentists' plumbing are being mined more intensively for precious metals.

High prices for silver, mercury and platinum are making it worthwhile for dentists and photographers, among others, to salvage metals that once literally went down the drain.

William Parry, refining operations manager for Handy & Harman, a leading silver refiner and dealer, notes "a substantial increase" in the amount of such scrap being saved.

Regular Scrap

"I can't say exactly how much," he said, "but we can tell that more is coming from individuals, as opposed to regular scrap from companies."

Dental equipment now comes with traps to catch excess filling material — a silver-mercury amalgam — that's rinsed from the mouths of patients. Even the bit of cloth the amalgam is mixed on is saved.

Big photography firms have saved developing solutions for years to reclaim silver, but more of the smaller shops, one-man photographic studios and very active amateurs can also save money through salvage.

Parry said one of his neighbors, a portrait photographer, salvaged nearly $300 worth of silver in two years from his basement darkroom operation.

X-Ray Negatives

He said that hospitals and physicians have long sold outdated X-ray negatives for their silver scrap. "Now we're trying to get more veterinarians to save theirs, too," he said.

Spiral Metal Co. of South Amboy, N.J., recently refined the silver out of 55 tons of coins from Ecuador. The increase in the market price for silver had made the silver content worth about twice the face value of the coins.

Spiral President Jack Kaplan said his firm refines gold from metal eyeglass frames and jewelry and silver from candlestick holders, torpedo batteries, desalination kits used to purify water and military insignias.

Army sharpshooter medals contain about 20 cents worth of silver and Army uniform buttons are gold-plated. Gold braid on Navy uniforms and caps contains real gold and turns up often in scrap shipments.

The market prices for the pure, refined metals are: silver $1.293 an ounce, platinum $97-$100 an ounce and mercury $700 and up for a 76-ounce flask. Gold transactions, regulated by the government, are at $35 an ounce.

Latest Trend: Wash And Use Furniture

Even wood furniture is increasingly wash-and-use, now that manufacturers are applying wood finishes which require no more care than washing. In fact, one noted manufacturer of such finishes cautions homemakers against heavy waxings which can actually make furniture look dim because they oxidize.

Professionals advise removing that wax build-up with warm suds and rough toweling, then rinsing and drying the furniture thoroughly. Several sudsings may be necessary to remove all of the wax.

Officials Thank Boys

Three-Youth Bike Patrol Assisting Appleton Police Spot Stolen Autos

Three pairs of eyes are helping Appleton police this summer in a crackdown on locally stolen automobiles which may be abandoned someplace in the city.

A three-youth bicycle patrol with no official title or authority has volunteered itself as spotters for the police department.

Last week, on one of the first patrols by the young group, they recovered a 1965 model car which had been reported stolen from a new car garage, and the description of a person seen near the car has aided police in the investigation.

Thanked By Police

Bruce Meiers, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Meiers, 331 W. Pershing St., and his friend, also Bruce Meiers, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Meiers, 2105 N. Alvin St., along with Joseph Theisen, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Theisen, 901 W. Parkway, were thanked by police officials for their help in recovering the new model car found abandoned in the east parking ramp Saturday afternoon.

The younger Bruce Meiers said he learned of the car's disappearance from his father, a sales manager at the car firm. He contacted his friends and the three began a "prowl" of parking lots where a car may be abandoned.

"At first my father didn't believe me," young Meiers said when he called his father to tell of the discovery. Later, however, the father went to the ramp and discovered the car was the one which had been reported stolen. He called police.

Interviewed Boys

Police interviewed the three boys who told of seeing a young man near the parked car when they peddled their bicycles onto the ramp. The man ran away, the boys said, when they went toward the car. Police are still seeking the man answering the description.

Detectives "staked out" the car for several hours, hoping the man would return. The youths said they watched as police fingerprinted the car and checked it for further clues.

All three youths said they were "interested in police work," but are not going to make police work their career.

Hobby Is Cars

"What we really like," the older Bruce Meiers said, "is cars. I guess our real hobby is just knowing about cars."

Between the three, they have over 200 models of various American and foreign cars. The older Bruce Meiers who will be eligible for a driver's license in two years, said he hopes to buy a real car one day "just to work on it."

The youths said they will be "spotters" for more stolen cars "if we learn about them in time to do some good." They said they plan to listen to the radio and read the newspapers for descriptions of cars reported stolen. The three claim they can recognize each and every American model car made from their work with models.

60 Cars Stolen

Police report they can use all the help they can get in curbing the rising number of auto thefts in Appleton this year. The total has climbed to almost 60 cars stolen in the first six months of 1965.

At one point last week, seven juveniles, all under age 17, were awaiting some kind of court or police disposition in connection with car thefts.

Police reported closing the book on eight car thefts with the arrest of a 17-year-old youth and his two companions two weeks ago.

Three Arrested

Three other youths were arrested in Marinette County after stealing one car in Appleton and two others in northern Wisconsin.

Police said car thieves may take a car from one site, drive it a few blocks and park it in a parking lot for several days, then return to the car after the police search has grown cold.

Kalcik was elected at the closing session of the organization's annual convention Saturday. He succeeds Carl Krouse of Madison.

Green Bay was awarded the 1966 convention. Cudahy proably will get the convention in 1967 and Chippewa Falls in 1968.

own interest first. "we must at all times make it clear to the peoples of Asia that we are sincere in trying to help them. We must avoid all semblance of political domination, all semblance of racial superiority. To accord a sense of dignity to these peoples is of greatest importance."

Baumann said there is no military solution to the basic problems in Asia, explaining that only economic and social development is going to bring peace.

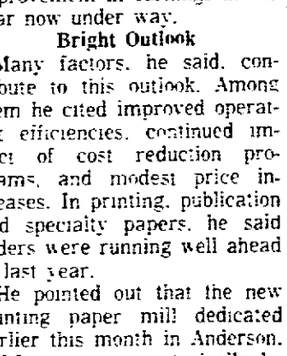

Anti-American Sentiments

Turning his attention to the Philippines, he noted strong anti-American sentiments are heard from many sides, with many Filipinos saying that Americans take the Philippines too much for granted.

"This has shocked many Americans who have assumed that the fraternity forged under Japanese fire would last indefinitely. Friendship between nations, as between people, takes constant care and must be adjusted constantly to changed conditions," he said.

"Freedom for the Asian is more than political democracy and more than economic development," he concluded. "He will never feel fully free until his national uniqueness and identity is recognized by other peoples, until he can possess a confidence in himself and his society because it is respected by the white men of the West."

Investments, Savings Under Federal Care

BY SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — What are the bulwarks the government is counting upon to safeguard your personal economy as well as the nation's general one from the flash floods of bad news?

The increasingly serious conflict in Viet Nam, or jittery days in the stock market, or labor-management conflicts in basic industries can and do darken the front pages. But today Americans have much better odds of surmounting crises with a minimum of personal tragedy than did the citizens of 30 or so years ago.

These safeguards have been built up by business, by labor unions, as well as by the government.

Some things Americans did wrong in the past they can't do today. Example: they can't plunge in the stock market with just 10 per cent or so of cash for the going price of the stocks they fancy. So they can't be wiped out so fast when stock prices tumble after bad news, or unfounded rumors. And they have access to, if they care to take advantage of it, much more information about the affairs of corporations and banks than in the 1920s.

Insured Against Loss

If you have built up savings in banks or savings and loan associations, you are insured against loss to a degree that covers most such accounts.

If you have taken on a mortgage when buying your home, in many cases you have a government insurance policy on that, too. And the mortgage terms today call for repayments that build up your equity over a long period. The out-size, short-term mortgage with the threat of quick foreclosure is mostly a thing of the past.

Many personal loans and monthly payment plans carry life insurance as guarantees for your survivors, so that home or cars or appliances aren't repossessed when personal tragedy strikes.

The total of installment credit has risen to a record high. But the lenders say that in the vast majority of cases such debts are well protected by the income prospects of the borrowers.

And even the upward trend of this personal income, while never a 100 per cent sure thing, is better protected now than a generation or two earlier.

There are unemployment benefits for you if laid off in a temporary industrial lull. There are pension plans sponsored by management or by unions and Social Security for the elderly. There is insurance for many when bad health strikes. Medicare for the aged is just over the horizon.

Keep Income Rising

The government also is pledged now to try by its fiscal policies to keep incomes rising and employment as high as possible. Today the middle income class is strikingly larger than before World War II.

Business itself has added many safeguards for the economy beyond those the government has fashioned.

One is the training that management has received since the shock of the Great Depression of the 1930s. Much of the caution that has kept today's 52-month old economic expansion from becoming a risk-fraught boom is traceable to better judgment and business methods.

The economy now is spread wide over many endeavors. When one industry slows down, another may be going strong. When factories take a breather, the service industries may be enjoying better demand than ever.

A steady stream of new products, new methods, new goals comes from the growing programs of research and development. If one region has a setback, somewhere else in the nation men are busy getting ready for a try at the moon. And the new enterprises may be anxious to get and train men to reach their goals.

For Services They Have Rendered to society and for the honor they have brought to Lawrence University, John G. Strange, left, and Everett A. Bauman were awarded the Lawrence Alumni Distinguished Service Award at commencement exercises Sunday. Strange, a member of the class of 1932, is president of The Institute of Paper Chemistry, and Bauman, a member of the class of 1938, is public relations regional adviser for Esso Standard Eastern, Inc., in Manila, Philippine Republic.

Weary San Franciscan Buys Town in Nevada

Currie, Population 50, Cost $85,000, Including Businesses, Offices, Real Estate

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP) — In the sagebrush and jackrabbit country of lonely northeastern Nevada, Kenneth Krueger, a train-weary San Francisco Bay area commuter, found the little town of Currie — population 50 — for sale.

It was just what he and his wife Jeannette had been looking for. So they bought it with their life savings of $85,000.

Tuesday, Krueger and his wife will pull up stakes at their apartment here and point their station wagon east for Currie.

The ex-suburbanites are assured of a cordial reception. Krueger, until last week motor vehicle inspector for Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. in San Francisco, automatically will become the town mayor, sheriff, fire chief, ranger, assessor and landlord.

Run Businesses

That's because he not only bought the town's 75 acres but its few houses and businesses as well. Krueger and his wife will run the general store, the service station, a bar and a trailer park.

Until 1900 Currie was a railhead for cattle and sheep growers. Now the livestock goes to market in trucks but Currie still caters to hunters and fishermen. It lies at the foot of the towering Goshute and Ruby mountains whose slopes abound in elk and deer and whose streams tumble with trout.

A blink of the eye and you're past it on U.S. 93, 76 miles north of Ely.

The Kruegers don't know exactly when they got the yen to flee suburbia.

But, Krueger says, "five years ago, on our vacations, we began probing all the desolate areas of California. We were hunting for a spot where, if you wanted to make it as such, you could practially live the year 1859 all over again."

For various reasons the land they saw in California didn't appeal.

'Hard to Come Back'

"Then we began going to Nevada," Krueger sighs contendedly, "far into the interior. And each time we found it harder to come back to all the hustle and bustle."

Last year the Kruegers stopped in Currie. There they met F. A. Majors who wanted to sell the town — lock, stock and barrel.

"We had the money, says Krueger. "But, believe me, it wasn't through inheritance or anything like that. It was our savings, close-to-the vest living."

"Yes, even beans and hot dogs, at times."

The couple will live in a two-bedroom house. "It's not like here on the Peninusla or in San Francisco," Krueger admits. "But I've seen worse. It's livable."

Mrs. Krueger, who gave up her job as assistant librarian for the Menlo Park School District, will work in the general store. She says she'll also spark Currie's social life to new heights, "organizing or disorganizing as the case may be."

Krueger says he expects his position as the town's only businessman to keep him on the job most of the time.

"But it's going to be a lot more than just punching a time clock. We're going to build up Currie, but still keep it on a real, live old frontier basis. We've never been happier in our lives."

Sophomores to Freshmen

'Yale Course Critique' Reports From Inside

BY DON MEIKLE

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — If a Yale professor wants to know what his students really think of him as a teacher he can find out by buying a student publication called the "Yale Course Critique."

This 200-page volume is an inside-dope report from this year's sophomores to next year's freshmen and sophomores. But it also is read by faculty members.

A senior professor with a wide reputation as a scholar might find out from the critique that his undergraduate students think he is "stale."

A young woman instructor might discover that her all-male classes think she's "unbelievably sweet."

One example from the 1965 edition says a course "is invariably described as dull — 'boring with a capital B;' as one student put it homework counts little, is graded liberally."

Occasionally the editors are more critical of students than faculty.

Criticize Students

For instance:

"Mr. Cook — Asst. Prof. Robert M. Cook — attempts through his Sociology 20 course to fight the obsessive, grade-grubbing, antieducational mentality of many Yale students. Unfortunately, many enrollees do no more than a fraction of the reading."

The ability to make a course interesting and challenging, a personal interest in students, and a sense of humor seem to be the most appreciated qualities in Yale teachers.

Humor, or the lack of it, almost invariably draws comment. But a professor who gets carried away by his own anecdotes is likely to have his lectures called "irrelevant" or even "meaningless."

The student editors don't hesitate to turn up their noses at teachers who they think talk down to them, can be drawn off the subject, or are fooled by the parroting of pet phrases.

Yale's course critique is a money-making project of the Yale Daily News, the student newspaper. The 1965 edition, the most ambitious yet, sells for $1.95 a copy.

According to a Daily News editor, the critique has always been "pretty much a sophomore project" primarily designed to inform students who are new on campus.

A similar publication, "Confidential Guide to Courses," is published by the Harvard Crimson.

Reactions to these publications seem to fall into two categories.

One side says students aren't qualified to criticize the learned, experienced men on the faculty. The other side maintains that no one knows better than students whether they're learning anything.

The editors of Yale's course critique cautioned in their introduction that "it must be emphasized that the critique is by no means designed to be an academic bible; it is to be weighed against the opinions of professors, college deans, classmates, etc."

Although the Yale critique is entirely a student operation, it has an unofficial "adviser," Andrew Patterson Jr., associate professor of chemistry.

Patterson has been critical, but not hostile. He has charged that previous critiques have perhaps had plenty of "sharp and incisive writing," but were often ill informed and onesided. This year the student editors adopted some of his suggestions and circulated detailed questionnaires among students in each class so that a consensus, rather than one person's opinion, could be obtained.

"This is the first time they've actively tried to get a rounded opinion in each course," Patterson said.

He does not agree with those faculty members who completely ignore the critique nor those who, he said, "slavishly follow its lead."

"One of the troubles at Yale," Patterson said, "is that the faculty and students don't talk to each other enough.

"I would rather see them fight with each other than not communicate at all."

Patterson said he doesn't think Yale should be "a university in which the professors just lecture and the students just listen."

North Central Ordered to Service Port court stayed us. After all, we're a law-abiding government agency so what else could we say."

North Central last week asked the CAB for permission to suspend service to Appleton until the federal court disposes of the appeal by Outagamie County and the State of Wisconsin on the order declaring the Winnebago County Airport in Oshkosh as the regional airport to serve the Fox Valley area.

North Central Reaction

The North Central request was its reaction to Outagamie's decision to close the old airport. The county decided to close the airport after the court denied a CAB request that service be allowed to Appleton only if the old airport remained open for North Central.

"In view of the court's issue of their stay order," Ozment said, "it would have been inappropriate and contrary to the public interest for the CAB to grant North Central's application for a stay order. The court has acted and it would be inappropriate for us to do anything else."

Fulcer praised the CAB this morning "for fulfilling the obligation that all public officials and public agencies have . . .

"Their (the CAB's) decision will facilitate the operation of business, industry and people and allow them to get the best forms of transporation that are available.

"In the future," Fulcer said, "I think that the area is going to give North Central so much business at our new airport that they won't be able to afford to move.

Confidence in Future

"In the future it's going to turn out that we're going to have one of the most important and busiest air terminals in the state."

The CAB's order assures the Fox Cities of North Central service at the new Outagamie County Airport at least until 30 days after the federal court rules on the regional airport consolidation appeal.

The court decision is expected sometime late this year.

— Accepted the resignation of Malcolm Kilduff, assistant White House press secretary, who is forming a Washington public relations firm with John E. Horton, son-in-law of former Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder.

Kilduff has worked for the federal government for 20 years. He became a White House press aide in mid-1962, and was acting press secretary at Dallas on the day President John F. Kennedy was assassinated.

The Johnson weekend also included what press secretary George E. Reedy described as the customary intelligence briefings by phone from Washington and private prayer services at the ranch. Reedy declined to disclose who said the Sunday prayers. He said it was a private matter.

Soviets Appear to Agitate Red China

BY HENRY S. BRADSHER

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party appears to be making a new drive for a showdown meeting on the split with Peking. The Chinese Reds have unleashed a new attack on the Kremlin's leadership.

Pravda, the Soviet party paper, published Sunday a resolution adopted last month by the pro-Soviet Portuguese Communist party calling for a world Communist party conference to discuss the dispute.

Peking, which has opposed such a meeting, charged in a broadcast that the new Soviet leaders were being more covert and cunning than Nikita Khrushchev in trying to pervert communism.

The Russians also were accused of being "busy in Washington, London and Paris" trying to initiate peace negotiations on Viet Nam in a painstaking effort to find a way out for the U.S. aggressors."

International Meeting

Recent statements from the Soviet Union and members of the Soviet bloc have raised speculation that the Kremlin might place Viet Nam high on the agenda of an international Communist meeting.

Peking, as Sunday's broadcast emphasized, considers Viet Nam another battleground in its feud with Moscow.

ed to his cab and drove the shovel away from the flames. He was burned about the head and arms, witnesses said, and walked to the fire department rescue unit which took him to the hospital.

Telephone service in an estimated eight block area was immediately cut by the flames, which destroyed the telephone lines over the intersection. An undetermined number of gas customers in the area will also be without service while emergency crews work to replace the pipes.

Appleton Fire Chief Roland Kuehnl said the pipe was apparently broken by the shovel hitting the pipe, but he said there has not been any determination as to what sparked the escaping gas.

Several open flame pot flares used to designate the construction area were standing nearby, but they were not flaming.

Six employes still working at the Washington School were evacuated when the flames broke out "as a precautionary measure," a spokesman said.

Police blocked off the area for about one block while emergency crews worked in the area.

Man Injured In Calumet Crash Dies

Neither driver was injured seriously.

In a Chippewa County mishap Sunday night, John W. Denning and Lesley Linhard, both 25 and from Chippewa Falls, were killed when two cars collided on Highway 178 one mile south of Cornell.

The Price County accident occurred late Saturday night on Highway 13, six miles south of Phillips. Authorities said the car driven by Lynn Rundquist, 26, of Phillips, had slowed to make a left turn when it was struck from behind by a second auto, and a third car crashed into the pileup.

The Rundquist vehicle went into a ditch and caught fire, trapping its four occupants. Rundquist's wife, Beatrice, 21, and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Rademacher, 26 and 23, of Minneapolis, died in the flames. Rundquist, who suffered burns over most of his body, died Sunday in a Park Falls hospital.

Authorities said eight young people in the other two cars, one of which also caught fire, were not injured critically. They were taken to the Park Falls hospital where four were discharged Sunday.

David J. Bottmer, 22, of Milwaukee was killed Sunday night when his motorcycle went out of control and skidded more than 100 feet along Highway 83 in Waukesha County.

Dean Young, 37, of rural Burlington died early Sunday when his car crashed into a tree and a house after leaving Highway 83 about 20 miles north of Kenosha.

Ray Crandall Jr., 4, of Jefferson, was killed Saturday when struck by a car near his home.

Melinda McNamara, 10, of rural Kansasville died Saturday when hit by a car as she crossed Highway 75 in front of her home.

Party Control Struggle Underneath

Democrats United on Surface

BY DICK LYNEIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

GREEN BAY — On the surface it was all unity here over the weekend during the Wisconsin Democratic Party's annual convention.

Beneath the surface factions were lining up behind national committeeman David Carley and Lt. Gov. Patrick Lucey in preparation for a long-awaited showdown next year for control of the state party machinery.

Carley, in a rousing speech Saturday morning, erased any doubts that convention-goers may have had about whether there would be a primary election showdown for the party's nominee for the governor's office in the fall, 1966 election.

State Tradition

"Ive heard," Carley said, "that it's not legitimate or honorable to have Democratic primaries, that it wastes funds. Primaries are a time honored tradition on the Wisconsin scene and the Democratic Party will be stronger next year, after a primary instead of weaker.

"We will elect a Democratic governor," he stated, "not in spite of a primary, but because of one."

Then Carley nearly spelled out his intentions when he said, "There will be at least five or six others, apart from your speaker, who could be running for governor."

Lucey didn't positively spell out his intentions either, but in a stinging attack on the administration of Republican Gov Warren P. Knowles in which he said state voters are "sick and tired of divided government," he urged the party faithful to help turn Knowles out of office next year.

His said Knowles is fit only for "cutting ribbons and appointing study committees."

There were several gauges at the convention which could be used as a basis to judge popular following for the two party leaders.

The most obvious indicator, of course, is delegate reaction to the appearance of either man on the platform before the convention's general session.

Both men appeared twice—Lucey during his Friday night speech and Saturday afternoon when he nominated Francis Rondeau of Mosinee as a member of the state party's executive committee. Carley appeared for his Saturday address, then again Saturday Mrs. Shirley Cherkasky of Appleton for re-election to the post of organization vice chairman of the party.

Delegate Response

Lucey and Carley ended up in a draw on the basis of delegate response. Both men drew standing ovations after their talks. A smattering of people remained seated and offered only polite applause after Carley's talk, however.

Full-time party workers indicated in private that both U. S. senators—William Proxmire and Gaylord Nelson have been struggling to retain a "neutral" posture and to appear not to be taking sides in the contest.

However, some observers read some significance into the fact that in Proxmire's absence Friday night, his wife, Ellen, introduced Lucey instead.

Carley had been scheduled to be introduced by Nelson's wife, Carrie Lee, but in her absence was introduced instead by Assembly Speaker Robert Huber of West Allis.

Generally, sides are lined up with Nelson, State Party Chairman J. Louis Hanson of Mellen, Mrs. Cherkasky, and national committeewoman Jeanette Swed of Milwaukee behind Carley; while former Gov. John Reynolds is the most influential known supporter of Lucey. However, many party insiders feel that Proxmire is drifting away from his neutral position and into the group that is supporting Lucey.

Carley Supporters

From the standpoint of numbers, however, and because of his more prestigious office of lieutenant governor, Lucey is regarded as the favorite at this stage.

Carley has the most influential party leaders behind him and their convention appearances in nomination of party officers Saturday afteroon left some Lucey supporters grumbling.

One Lucey backer said he "doesn't mind a fight, as long as it's a fair fight, but the way this election and convention was run tells me that it is and will be anything but a fair fight."

The man said that he and several other Lucey supporters were irked by how the "Nelson-Carley group had control of the convention machinery and stacked the delegates in their favor even though they make up a minority of the membership of the party."

At least three people elected to administrative commitee posts are said to be Carley supporters — Carl Anderson of Eau Claire, Mrs. Janet (Nelson) Lee of Madison and John Malloy of Kenosha, while only one, Rondeau, is a known Lucey-backer.

Political Breach

The breach between Carley and Lucey is traced back to the 1960 state Democratic presidential primary when Lucey, then state chairman, was an early backer of the final winner, John F Kennedy. Carley, then the director of the State Department of Resource Development for then-Gov. Nelson, joined the governor in a neutral posture which many Democrats said meant support for Minnesota Sen. Hubert Humphrey who was opposing Kennedy.

Since President Kennedy's assassination and the emergence of the strong organization supporting the team of President Lyndon Johnson and Vice President Humphrey, the Kennedy supporters, including Reynolds, have been thrust into the background of party leadership. It is rumored, also, that religion remains an underlying issue — the Catholicism of the late President and his former supporters today — the Lucey-Reynolds wing.

Minor Role

Reynolds, incidentally, played a very minor role in the convention.

He was seated on the floor during most of the convention as just another delegate from Dane County. He made no appearances before the convention. However, during the Saturday noon luncheon for county chairmen at the Northland Hotel, he introduced Postmaster General John Gronouski, the main speaker.

Reynolds told a Minneapolis reporter that party leaders decided his convention role on the basis of last fall's election when he lost the governor's job to Knowles. "Who wants a loser?" he reportedly said.

Another Story

Hanson told a Post-Crescent reporter a different version, however.

"There's no significance in the fact that Reynolds didn't appear before the general convention," he said, "because that's the way he (Reynolds) wanted it."

Other knowledgeable sources felt Reynolds was held down so his chances of being appointed to an expected early vacancy on a U. S. district judge's bench in Eastern Wisconsin by President Johnson won't be jeopardized.

government. In effect, it will be starting from scratch, with no government in power, no constitution, no precedents and no traditions.

All the various experiments in government here since the Nov. 1, 1963 overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem have failed in a succession of coups, riots and upheavals.

Thieu's leadership of the military committee is seen as provisional, and he presumably will be only "first among equals" on the committee.

Thieu, 42, is a central Vietnamese and a Roman Catholic. He was avoided being deeply involved in any of the major political controversies that have wracked South Viet Nam in the past few years. He is generally respected by most of the various factions in the general staff, and is seen as a compromise choice unlikely to alienate anyone.

Close Supervision

Top officials made it clear Saturday that from now on the government will have close military supervision "until the war has been won." National elections and other devices for establishing a democracy have been discarded for the time being.

Quat resigned as the upshot of Cabinet crisis and in the face of mounting pressure from the Roman Catholics. They accused Quat, a Buddhist, of discriminating against Catholics in his choices of persons to government posts.

The Catholic, however, have shown no inclination to cooperate either with the new military government.

A top Catholic leader, the Rev. Hoang Quynh, called for a civilian, revolutionary government that would respond to the aspirations of the people. Observers saw this as a warning that Catholics would oppose any government unless civilians were given a role.

the Vietnamese commanders were reluctant to ask for them.

The Viet Cong mounted a number of attacks and ambushes in various parts of Viet Nam today, all the way from the 17th Parallel to the southern tip of the nation.

Ninety American and Vietnamese planes hammered targets in North Viet Nam in a series of separate raids.

Twenty U.S. Air Force jet bombers escorted by 30 other jets attacked the Ban Xom Lom barracks 70 miles southwest of Hanoi. Five buildings were reported destroyed and 10 heavily damaged.

Forty-two planes hit three areas of the Ba Bon army barracks 60 miles north of the demilitarized zone, U. S spokesmen said.

Vietnamese pilots claimed 70 per cent destruction of 38 buildings in one target area. American pilots reported at least one building destroyed and one damaged severely.

Pilots of four U.S. Air Force Thunderchiefs reported cratering the approach to a bridge about 30 miles south of Vinh and leaving another bridge sagging about 10 miles south of Vinh.

U.S Navy planes from the carrier Midway attacked a three-span steel bridge about 150 miles south of Hanoi. Pilots reported they destroyed the center support structure and the bridge collapsed. The same bridge had been hit last Saturday.

Heavy air strikes also continued inside South Viet Nam against suspected Viet Cong targets. U.S. Navy and Marine Corps planes were said to have flown 118 sorties Sunday and pilots claimed heavy damage to targets and suspected troop concentrations.

Six Americans were killed over the weekend, but none appeared to have died as the result of nemy action.

Four U.S. Army helicopter crewmen were killed Saturday night when their craft crashed 30 miles east of Saigon during a storm.

An explosion aboard a truck at Chu Lai beachhead Sunday killed two U.S Marines and injured 19 others. The men had been swimming, and a spokesman said a grenade fell from one man's belt, exploded in the bottom of the truck and set off a five-gallon can of gasoline.

What Foul Air Can Do

To those of us in the industrial midwest, the Arizona desert may seem to be the country of clean, pure air, unhampered by clouds of factory dust and soot or the endless smoke of chimneys. But the Arizona legislature has already passed air pollution control regulations. It is currently studying proposals of much stiffer enforcement provisions.

The Arizona Republic of Phoenix has been carrying a series of articles dealing with the dangers of air pollution that a lot of us would rather overlook. While occasional and temporary contact with polluted air seldom if ever leaves a lasting effect, the continued breathing of polluted air is most serious. Although the emphasis in the last few years has been upon cigarettes as a cause of lung cancer, polluted air, or the combination of polluted air and heavy smoking, may be the major cause.

In the United States, the death rate from lung cancer is twice as high in metropolitan areas as is the national average. The incidence of lung cancer itself is much higher in cities than in rural areas. There is no evidence that people in cities necessarily smoke more than their country cousins so the industrially polluted air would seem to bear the major onus of responsibility.

But entirely aside from lung cancer, there are other serious diseases and impairments that can be traced to the breathing of polluted air over a long period of time. The Republic articles cite the narrowing of irritated bronchial tubes which cuts down on the air supply to the lungs. Enough of this resistance can "cause whole sections of the lungs to cease functioning. Permanent destruction of lung tissue is a frequent finding in persons whose bronchial tubes have been irritated to the point of closing completely."

The action of irritants upon the lungs themselves appears to cause an increased leakage rate of fluid. This edema cuts the lung space available for air. It also cuts the amount of tissue available to get the oxygen supply to the blood. This in turn makes the heart work harder. Over a number of years the overworked heart may weaken or even fail.

The increase in respiratory ailments in the cold seasons of the year also can be at least partly contributed to air pollution, according to the Republic research. The increase in heating and the burning of more fuel with the resultant smoke, soot and dust poured into the air, may make the tissues of the respiratory faculties more susceptible to bacteria. "The role of air pollution in the cold season is further borne out by the fact that an outbreak of respiratory disease tends to stay within a region containing similar conditions of contaminated air. . .Conversely, widely separated areas that are undergoing similar spells of air pollutions offer similar outbreaks of disease."

Some communities in Wisconsin have made progress toward cutting air pollution by local ordinances. But if a state with such wide open spaces as Arizona is seriously concerned with state-wide protection, maybe Wisconsin legislators should investigate the dangers of such pollution instead of continuing to shift the responsibility to the municipalities.

Nursing Home Ordinance

The proposed ordinance to allow construction of nursing homes in residential areas, providing stringent building and side yard requirements are met, is a good piece of legislation and should be treated accordingly by the Appleton Common Council.

It is not our intent to question the sincerity of the Board of Appeals, but it does seem peculiar it should be opposed to carrying out the terms of the ordinance recommended for approval by the Plan Commission and Welfare-Ordinance Committee.

There can be no valid argument against providing senior citizens with the best facilities and community environment possible in their golden years. And it must be remembered too, that modern nursing homes underwritten by private capital help alleviate the heavy load of public, tax-supported facilities.

For many years the zoning ordinance has been general and has permitted erection of hospitals, churches and homes for the aged in residential areas. The amended ordinance now specifically lists nursing homes as permissible and provides the Board of Appeals with the authority to insure proper construction and location of nursing homes.

In effect, the Board will be granted stronger powers for regulating nursing home construction than the Plan Commission could ever hope to attain because state law imposes limitations on its jurisdiction. For example, the ordinance says the Appeals Board can reject any request for a building permit if the proposed nursing home will increase traffic hazards or congestion, adversely affect the general welfare, overtax public utilities or be in conflict with the city's comprehensive plan.

First-class nursing homes — both in construction and operation—are a valuable asset to any community and their location in areas zoned residential gives senior citizens a chance to "keep in touch" and have the feeling that they are not being overlooked or forsaken in today's world of accelerated living.

Negroes Take Up Arms

Opponents to Negro equality quite often point out two characteristics supposed to be representative of the Negro. On the one hand the Negro is alleged to have a tendency to violence, and the high incidence of violent crimes, usually against other Negroes, is cited as proof. But on the other hand many whites, particularly in the south, insist that the Negro is really very docile and will not fight for his rights or against brutality.

While the major Negro organizations struggling for civil rights stress their non-violent methods to repel the first impression, a new one has been organized to emphasize that the Negro indeed will fight for his rights and to defend himself. The Deacons for Defense and Justice was formed last summer in Louisiana and this year is spreading into both Mississippi and Alabama.

Its leaders claim that it was organized when a police escort was given to a Ku Klux Klan parade distributing Klan anti-integration and hate leaflets. The failure of some law enforcement agencies and officials to make any real attempt to guarantee Negro rights or protect Negroes from the attacks of white segregationists is cited as the major reason for the Deacons. They also point out that in some places there has even been actual participation of law officials in segregationist groups employing violence and terror.

Members of the Deacons have their own pistols and rifles but their leaders stress that they are used purely for defense. They have fired on whites on at least two occasions. When carloads of white toughs drive into Negro sections of a town, obviously bent on trouble, members of the Deacons follow them in cars. Usually they say the whites keep going. Bullies usually prefer to pick on only the weak and defenseless and avoid any real fights.

There are obvious dangers in this organization. If its leadership should be taken over by black racists, it would be no better than the Ku Klux Klan and equally as dangerous for law-abiding citizens of other colors. There is always the chance that pro-segregationist whites, of the sort that murdered the civil rights workers in Mississippi and Alabama, would shoot it out with the Deacons and innocent bystanders could be injured.

The breakdown of law and order is most serious when it comes from a failure of law officials to protect those who seek only justice. In our society based upon law, this is the most serious indictment of the south and the north too concerning the rights of Negro citizens.

Looking Backward

'The President and the Democracy'

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for June 10, 1865.

The manly and patriotic support given to President Johnson during these trying times of reconstruction demand the hearty approval of the Democratic masses everywhere.

The President has given indication that neither the direct assault of the Sumners, the Chases and other fanatical leaders of destructiveness nor the open warfare of the bigoted negro-equality press, will swerve him a hair from the teachings of liberal Democracy.

It is no idle task to bring back a deluded people to duty, to enable them to reassume their authority as citizens and reorganize their state and local governments, and at the same time preserve their state sovereignty under the Constitution of the United States. It is no small task when a condition of things bordering on anarchy, or military despotism prevails in whole states, to beat back these inter-meddlers who would change the whole base of government, make it a vast considerate power in the hands of the National Executive and the National Congress and render the citizen but a trifle more than a subject.

Andrew Johnson does not shrink from nor avoid this task. His official actions demonstrate he possesses Jacksonian jealousy for the rights of the people, and Jacksonian firmness and integrity to uphold, protect and defend them against all the machinations of fanaticism, all the schemes of injustice or oppression concocted by a Chase, a Stanton, a Sumner or a Butler.

Let them plot and counter-mine. The patriotic Democracy of the Union, and the practical and unselfish in the ranks of Republicanism will set at naught all their nefarious schemes.

So long as President Johnson is governed by Democratic Principles in their broadest scope, his work in restoring to the Union the States which went astray, and reuniting the whole people under a common paternal government which shall promote the well being of all, will grow lighter and right speedily be brought to a happy consummation.

25 YEARS AGO

Mussolini that day plunged Italy into war on the side of Germany and against England and France. Italian forces marched into French territoryl through the Riviera that morning Mussolini made the declaration of war in a bombastic speech from the balcony of the Palazzo Venezia before a wildly cheering crowd of Fascists.

Two Appleton students, Mary White and Fredric Swamer, were graduated from Lawrence College summa cum laude. Dorothy Young Appleton, was graduated magna cum laude, next highest scholastically.

Other Appleton students receiving cum laude recognition were Edwin Bayley, Evelyn Kregel, James Oison, Leta Perry and Barbara Rounds.

Gilbert Whitney was elected commander of the Eric Arndt American Legion Post at Weyauwega. He succeeded Walter Bockin.

10 YEARS AGO

Dick Johnson and John Cormican of the Waupaca Country Club proved too hard to beat on their home course when they took the best-ball title in the two-day Northeastern Wisconsin Associaion tournament.

Dick Abraham of Fremont was the only area boat racer to take a first place in the Wolf River program sponsored over the weekend by Wolf River American Legion Post. Abraham won the B stock Hydro race from the second biggest field of the two-day event.

Dale Martin, twice winner of the Neenah Teen-Age Driving Rodeo, placed third in the annual state competition with a total of 511 points out of a possible 616.

Taylor Says

President Paints Himself Into a Corner With 'Cheap Money' Policy

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

A sudden spark behind the scenes ignited parts of Federal Reserve Board Chairman William McChesney Martin's courageous warning about our boom.

President Johnson, who finds himself in the position of having practically guaranteed the boom forever, made a noncommittal mmm-mm noise. His White House economic advisors likewise outsilence the Sphinx. But Mr. Martin probed an area that is astonishing, and concerning, many bankers.

Taylor

Commercial and industrial credit is running up a vertical slope like fire along a fuse. And this touch of a torch has happened much more lately and with far greater force than the President seems willing to recognize.

Bank credit was in strong demand and fairly balanced among commercial-industrial loans, institutional, brokers', real estate and other loans when the year began. But, starting in January, timed nearly to the tick of the New Year's clock, businesses turned to banks for even more money on an unexpected scale that baffled not only many banks themselves but the Federal Reserve Board.

Second Surprise

The mystery was softened by the thought that the added surge was temporary. This conviction held awhile, both in the banks and the Federal Reserve, for on the vast scale that credit and spending circulates it's not easy to catch up with, and discover, the total purposes.

Then came the second surprise. The heat-up, the pressure, the bulge was not temporary. But the day Mr. Martin spoke the total lendings by many large New York banks hit a new high at about 22 per cent above June, 1964.

Moreover, this increase is so concentrated that it compounds the concern about it. Their commercial-industrial loans not only increased more than all other kinds of loans but actually increased twice as much as all other kinds of loans put together.

Run Out of Money

Meanwhile, and as one result, such major institutions have largely run out of money from ordinary depositors. Their demand deposits from you or me or from companies have remained practically stationary. Their savings deposits are up somewhat, and the interest being paid on these is proving very costly. But the money needed to support the expanded loans has acquired something of a new flavor.

The banks are buying very large chunks of money from corporations and others who, at the moment, have surplus amounts. For the loan picture has become extraordinarily mixed. While the pressure mounts for loans to many firms, other firms have seldom in history had so much money on hand in excess of what they think they need.

The banks are beating the bushes to gather this in through what's technically called time certificates of deposit, rewarding the supplier by a good interest rate in exchange for its extended use.

Large corporations today shop around among the great banks for the best rates, and the shifting in the deposits behind the scenes is enormous. Thus, in effect, the banks are performing as a clearing house between corporations with extra money and those who need it. They're buying the money at one price and selling it at only a slightly higher price in the form of a loan.

Recourse Not New

This recourse is not new. What is new is the size and scope of our banks' search for funds and their dependence on such negotiated chunks of deposits.

In many cases the greatly increased commercial-industrial loans are practically identical with the increased deposits obtained through time certificates.

Higher interest rates would discourage loans, but President Johnson's stand against allowing rates to seek their own level is famous in every banking house and far more emphatic than the public knows.

On the other hand, should business slacken, the Federal Reserve Board could encourage lower interest rates to help lift business activity. That action, however, would hit hard at our balance-of-payments problem, because capital would be drawn toward countries offering higher rates.

Hands Are Tied

To this extent, the international situation ties the President's hands in the fiscal field when he talks about averting a downturn. By his insistence on so-called "cheap money," the President has painted himself (and the country) into a corner.

Mr. Martin, in contrast, warns that the best way to avoid bust is to dampen booms and not let the lighted fuse blow the boom out of hand. Honor the brave! If President Johnson fails to heed Chairman Martins slow-down plea it will not be because a good man lacked the courage to warn him.

Wisconsin Report

Young Democrats May Go After Treasurer, Secretary of State Jobs

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The suggestion that several of the younger Democrats in the Legislature are interested in trying their wings as candidates for one or the other of the lesser state constitutional offices next year recalls that their party has virtually forfeited those places during its recent rise to competitive status.

Wyngaard

There are reliable reports that young David Obey, a Marathon County assemblyman who is making his mark in legislative politics, is toying with the idea of running for state treasurer.

Several other leading men of the Democratic caucus, including Speaker Robert Huber, are evidently thinking about state ticket places also. Huber is generally thought of in terms of a nomination for lieutenant governor.

Their particular ambitions and qualities aside, such speculation may indicate that the new men of the party, planning their careers, see in the minor state ticket offices opportunities for establishing themselves on a statewide basis that are typically exploited in other states, but have not been generally appreciated here.

TREASURER

Illustrative is the office of state treasurer. In several nearby states, and notably Illinois and Minnesota, the state treasurer's place on the ticket has been a stepping stone to top rank including the nominations for governor of the political parties.

In Wisconsin it has been generally ignored as a training ground. Democratic nominations have gone by default for years. The Republicans have held the place in the Wisconsin capitol for most of the last quarter of a century, but never has a Republican treasurer been regarded as a potential future ticket leader. Mrs. Dena Smith, the incumbent, inherited the office in a manner of speaking from her late husband. He in turn, had inherited it in effect from another Treasurer Smith who won the place in a fortuitous accident when he was casually chosen by a coalition committee in the distant past as the LaFollette Progressive Party was beginning to crumble.

SECRETARY OF STATE

The office of secretary of state is virtually identical, with respect to the party nomination process and the stature of the men who have competed for it for many years. As it happens, incumbent Robert C. Zimmerman, a Republican who maintains a consciously nonpartisan posture, has accumulated a vote getting record that makes prospective opponents flinch when they contemplate it. There is now a tacit assumption, in both parties, that he can have the place as long as he wants it. Yet the contrast with other state political practices is illustrated there also. Normally a man of Zimmerman's position would aspire higher. He clearly does not.

It may be that competition for the lesser state constitutional offices has been lacking because of their comparatively innocuous duties and their extremely limited powers. For the energetic and creative politician, there is far more satisfaction in legislative service, as an example. Over the years the legislature has cut away so many of the traditional duties and functions of the offices as to cause some curiosity about why they are permitted to continue.

But for the young politician planning ahead, that is an attractive advantage. It is one of the worst kept secrets in statehouse politics that a man or woman holding the office of state treasurer could spend most working days on the political trail, without real hurt to the operations of the office, nominal as they are. At the same time, identification as state treasurer or secretary of state can provide a useful forum for the ambitious young man with something to say.

Harris Finds Proof for Column About Bathing

BY SYDNEY J HARRIS

More than a dozen years ago, I wrote a couple of columns dealing with our national mania for clean bodies—even though our sidewalks, roads and public places are filthy with refuse and debris.

I suggested that our incessant washing and bathing was a symbolic act of some sort, and had little to do with the physical fact of cleanliness. Nobody needs to be that clean.

Harris

I was booted down in hundreds of letters, most of them asserting that daily washing and bathing was the best germicide in the world; many of them pointed to the scrupulous way in which doctors "scrub up" before operating on a patient.

Now comes a report out of Great Britain demolishing the myth of the surgical scrubbing-up. Studies at the Department of Bacteriology of St. Bartholomew's Hospital in London and the Royal Victoria Infirmary at Newcastle show that those "who took showers before entering sterile areas dispersed far greater quantities of bacteria than persons who came in without washing.

One subject, indeed, gave off 49 times as many staphlococci after taking a shower. And all, whether in street clothes, surgical gowns, or naked, contaminatied the environment more after taking a shower.

Scatter Germs

According to the journal, MD, "a surgeon who scrubs with soap and hot water before operating may scatter many times more germs over the sterile area than he would without washing."

The theory is that washing "removes the outermost layer of epidermal cells and releases many bacteria which would otherwise remain trapped below the skin surface," the journal explains.

Now, please don't send me any silly letters accusing me of being "against washing." I am merely opposed to our national fetish for excessive bathing and showering, which have little to do with real cleanliness. This compulsion, as I see it, is a displacement: instead of taking action against our filthy environment, we rub and scrub our own bodies—just as we keep taking more vitamins than we really need, rather than eating a balanced diet.

Doctors have long known that the so-called "sterile" atmosphere in the hospital is more septic than the average home. There is, for instance, a lower infant mortality rate among babies delivered at home, an old newspapers, than there is among those delivered in "sterile" hospitals. A hospital is almost the easiest place in which to pick up a bacterial or viral infection.

The old adage tells us that cleanliness is next to Godliness. We have been trying to make it a substitute for Godliness, and it won't wash.

Eight Doctors' Degrees Are Awarded to Students at IPC

33rd Commencement Exercises of Institute Conducted at Lawrence

Eight doctor of philosophy degrees were awarded to students Sunday in the 33rd Commencement exercises of the Institute of Paper Chemistry held jointly with Lawrence University exercises.

The degrees, awarded through Lawrence University, are the only doctoral degrees awarded in northern Wisconsin. The Institute of Paper Chemistry is one of only three schools in the state where study for the doctoral degree can be undertaken The other schools are the University of Wisconsin at Madison, the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee, and Marquette University

Degrees from the institute are in science, but are not designated in a particular science or study discipline as most degrees The Institute's graduate curriculum is interdisciplinary, of study linking selected areas ing, physics, mathematics, and biology

The graduates are described as "scientific generalists" Graduate interdisciplinary curof study in chemistry engineerricula and resulting scientific generalists are not common on the educational scene

The eight graduates this year were recipients of degrees from eight colleges and universities before beginning graduate study at The Institute of Paper Chemistry.

The schools are Clemson College, Western Michigan University, Drexel Institute of Technology, Carleton College, University of Maine, Ripon College, Ursinus College, and Pennsylvania State University.

Though chartered to grant its own degrees, the institute has awarded them through Lawrence University since the institute's founding in 1929, by recommendation of the institute's faculty and board of trustees to the Lawrence University board of trustees. Though the two are entirely separate institutions, structural and nonstructural relationships between the two schools support the practice of awarding degrees to institute students through Lawrence University.

Two hundred thirty-four doctorate degrees have been awarded to institute students since the first was conferred in 1933 Receiving doctoral degrees this year were William Roy Blakeney, Thomas Carlton Blakeney, Thomas Carlton Elias, Philip Horce Emery, Jr., David Henry Juers, William Sapin Linnel, James Francis Matters, Jon Fritz Myers, and Leland Roy Schroeder

Acquiring the doctoral degree at the institute requires approximately four years of graduate study The master degree is awarded after the first two years and the remainder of the time required being partially determined by the nature of research conducted for the doctoral degree

All institute students receive full time scholarships upon entrance This develops scholarship costs at the institute of about $215,000 a year The money comes largely from industry, foundations, and individuals interested in the institute's educational purposes and who assist the scholarship fund by means of endowment, grants or annual gifts.

Fourteen Receive Masters' Degrees

Students to Conduct Original Research for Doctorates at IPC

Fourteen students of The Institute of Paper Chemistry were awarded Master of Science degrees Sunday through Lawrence University at the 3rd Commencement exercises of the Institute which are held jointly with Lawrence University each year

The degree marks two years of study in the graduate curriculum at the institute and approximately the half-way point in study toward the institute's Ph D

The students have studied primarily in advanced classroom work for the first two years and now will undertake the conduct of original, fundamental research as part of the remaining requirements for the Ph D

The men receiving M S degrees from The Institute of Paper Chemistry this year held degrees from 12 universities and colleges before beginning study at the institute The schools are North Carolina State College, Stanford University, Georgia Institute of Technology, Lawrence University, Washington State University, California Institute of Technology, Linfield College, University of Wisconsin, Pennsylvania State University, Miami University, and Bihar University (India).

Recipients

Students receiving the M S. degree were Arne Tore Ahlen, BS in chemical engineering, Elwood Vance Best, BS in pulp and paper technology, Hanuman Prasad Didwania (Bhagalpur, India), BS; Charles Everett Dunning, B S. in pulp and paper technology; Paul Raymond Glor, BS in pulp and paper technology; Donald Roll Grafton, BS in chemical engineering, John Estes Hanby Jr., bachelor of chemical engineering, David Edward McIntyre, BA, John Foex Perry, BS in chemical engineering, Charles Richard Pottenger, BS in wood utilization; Neale Page Povey Jr., BA; James Hamilton Robbins, BS in pulp and paper technology, Truman Leo Seely, BS in chemical engineering, and Lewis Volgenau, bachelor in chemical engineering

T H Gilleland, present chairman of the board has been nominated for re-election Harve Wolfe has been nominated for the position of vice chairman

The Institute of Paper Chemistry marked a first when it awarded Thomas Elias Downers Grove, Ill., a doctorate yesterday during its graduation ceremony Elias is the first son of an Institute graduate with a masters degree to receive a doctor's degree His father, Robert T Elias, class of 1935, is a department manager of the Continental Can Co., Inc., Chicago Dr. Curtis W Tarr, Lawrence University president, left, watches as John Strange, president of the Institute, puts the doctorate hood on Elias (Post Crescent Photo)

IPC Doctors Reveal New Language

Language typical of modern science is revealed in the titles of theses representing original research, which in each case is a contribution to existing knowledge, completed by this year's doctoral degree graduates of The Institute of Paper Chemistry as part of the requirements for the Ph D degree

The theses titles, preceded by the graduate who conducted the research, are as follows

William R Blakeney, "The Viscosity of Fiber Suspensions", Thomas C Elias, "An Investigation of the Compression Response of Ideal Unbonded Fibrous Structures by Direct Observation", Philip H Emery Jr., Polymer Adsorption and Fractionation in the Polystyrene - Dichloroethane - Carbon Black System", David H Juers, "The Configuration and Hydrodynamic Properties of Fully Acetylated Salep Glucomannan", William S Linnell, "Determination of the Structure of the Black Spruce Glucommannan from the Molecular and Hydrodynamic Properties of Its Triacetate Derivative", James F Matters, "Counterdiffusion of Carbon Dioxide and Nitrogen through Dry and Partially Saturated Fiber Beds", Jon F Myers, "Polarographic Reduction of Benzil Derivatives", Leland R Schroeder, "The Alcoholysis of 2, 3, 4, 6 Tetra - O - Acetyl - o - D - Glucopyranosyl Bromide"
